MESSAGE IS LIKE TWICE TOLD TALE

Demand for Tariff Reform Is Only New Move of Importance Urged by President on Congress.

RECEIVERSHIPS ARE HIT.

Urging of Law to Prevent Exploitation of Railroads by Dishonest Men Meets Approval.

BY RAYMOND.

Washington, D. C., March 25.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt's long expected and much forecasted special message to congress was sent in today. On the whole it was received with a mild sort of interest, because its contents had been clearly indicated for a long time in advance.

There was general satisfaction among a certain timorous element because the message was so essentially temperate in its tone. Without abandoning any principle for which he had been contending, the president merely has indicated to congress the principal things he thinks it necessary to have done at the present session.

To this extent, therefore, the message was entirely in harmony with the recommendations made by the western business men to the president last week, and reports telegraphed back from Wall street indicate that the effect was good upon that financial center.

The president's views upon the anti-trust, the employers' liability, and the child labor laws were so well understood that the message in those particulars was accepted as a matter of course.

Tariff Plans Cause Stir.

The one thing which did attract attention was the unequivocal declaration that " the time has come when we should prepare for a revision of the tariff."

Hitherto the president has been generally understood as a tariff reformer, but he has not made any specific recommendations in that regard. As the head of the party and the chief figure in the republican administration, his declaration in the message today, coupled with the platforms adopted in Ohio and Iowa, is now taken to be a distinct pledge of tariff revision to be begun immediately after the next election.

The president was urged to recommend a tariff commission along the lines suggested by Senator Beveridge. He has avoided that pitfall and has suggested that congress itself, and the house of representatives in particular, should take the necessary steps of its own motion to prepare the way for tariff revision next summer.

The result of this section of the message will be, it was said today at the capitol, to produce complete harmony between the White house and the ways and means committee in regard to the general theory of tariff revision.

It will take nothing more than a simple house resolution, which will not even need the concurrence of the senate, nor the approval of the president, to set the ball rolling.

House Has Power to Act.

The house of representatives has the right of its own motion and for its own purposes to direct any government department to furnish any necessary information on any subject.

A simple house resolution authorizing the ways and means committee to sit during the recess and to secure the necessary data from the government departments will be the natural response to the president's suggestion.

It may be said without disrespect to the chief executive that the same course would have been taken if there had been no tariff paragraph in the message at all.

The one thing which did cause the house to sit up and take notice when the message was read was the paragraph in regard to wood pulp and print paper.

The president specially excepted this subject, and thereby put the responsibility upon the house of giving relief to the newspapers of the country.

He expressed the opinion that this particular change in the tariff schedules could with advantage be made " forthwith."

"Paper Trust" Up to House.

The wood pulp paragraph is so significant, and it throws the responsibility so clearly upon the speaker and the house of representatives, that it is worth quoting separately as follows:

" I am of opinion, however, that one change in the tariff could, with advantage, be made forthwith. Our forests need every protection and one method of protecting them would be to put upon the free list wood pulp, with a corresponding reduction upon paper made from wood pulp, when they come from any country that does not put an export duty upon them."

In this abundant fashion President Roosevelt has redeemed the pledge he made to the newspaper publishers to relieve them of an unfair exaction built up by the foolish tariff law.

From this time on the entire responsibility for any continued injustice to the newspaper publishers and readers must rest simply and solely upon the house of representatives.

The members talked with today recognized this fact, and declared freely that the speaker and the ways and means committee would now have no excuse for failing to respond to the suggestion made by President Roosevelt that the tariff on wood pulp and paper should be repealed " forthwith."

Members Cannot Dodge.

Many members feel deeply on this subject, because they have received personal letters and petitions from every newspaper and magazine in their districts, and they are afraid that the inaction of the speaker and the ways and means committee will hurt them politically.

They have no way of dodging political responsibility, because every one knows that the democrats on the committee and in the house are willing to vote for such repeal at a moment's notice.

Judging by the comments one hears about the capitol the message today has neither helped nor hindered legislation by congress to any appreciable degree.

For instance, there has been a sentiment all along in favor of the passage of a new employers' liability law in conformance with the recent decision of the Supreme court.

Both houses of congress are in favor of this legislation. The only difference of opinion among the members and senators con-

A. Lincoln Shute, Who Called Judge Walker's Decision 'Treason' and 'Anarchy,' Cited for Contempt.

DELAYS THE BALLOT CASE

More Argument to Be Heard on Sunday Saloon Petition After Pastor Is Disposed Of.

The Rev. A. Lincoln Shute, pastor of the Wesley Methodist Episcopal church and one of the leaders in the Chicago Law and Order league, suddenly took the center of the stage yesterday in the hearing of the case to compel the election commissioners to put the Sunday closing question on the ballot. He not only effected a delay in the decision which was expected but he got himself into what may be serious trouble.

Mr. Shute expressed himself freely yesterday morning on the decision rendered Tuesday by Judge Charles M. Walker of the Circuit court. Judge Walker decided the Sunday closing question should be placed on the "little ballot," thus reversing the decision of the election commissioners. That action of the judge moved Mr. Shute to say that the court's order " is treason; it is anarchy," etc.

The little ballot case is still in Judge Walker's jurisdiction and yesterday afternoon when his attention was called to the preacher's comments he summoned Mr. Shute to appear before him at 11 o'clock this morning and show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of court. It is believed that if the minister does not withdraw his remark and apologize he will be sent to jail.

Shute's Opinion of the Court.

The whole of the comment of Mr. Shute, which has led him into possibly serious collision with the law, was as follows:

" Judge Walker's decision is neither in conformity with law nor good sense; it is treason and it is anarchy. Such decisions as this merely serve to make a mockery of justice, for in such court rulings is sown the real seed of anarchy. The man, the mayor, or the judge who will authorize the placing upon an election ballot the proposition, 'Shall the law be upheld?' is a far worse lawbreaker than are those men tried in our police courts each day for larceny and burglary. I do not believe the decision will stand the test of an appeal."

Mr. Shute was found last evening at his residence, 1000 North Halsted street. For publication he only would say that in the foregoing he had been correctly quoted. He talked for fifteen minutes with a reporter for THE TRIBUNE, saying things that would by no means mollify Judge Walker. Then he asked to be excused for a moment, talked to some one over a telephone, and then said to the reporter:

" Remember, young man, I have said nothing." Hence THE TRIBUNE does not quote him.

It is likely that, unless he submits meanwhile to legal advice, there will be fireworks in the Circuit court when the Rev. Mr. Shute arrives there this morning.

BOOKS TO LIFT YOUNG MINDS

Mrs. Heffernan Tells Mothers What Children Should Read.

MOTHER GOOSE COMES FIRST.

Urges Tales of Fairies and Chivalry; Is Kind to Newspapers.

" Mother Goose " was praised as literature and " Jack the Giant Killer," " Bluebeard," and all the other gory thrillers of the fairy tale books were indorsed by Mrs. William Heffernan, former state president of the Illinois Congress of Mothers, in an address to the West End Mothers' council at the home of Mrs. William J. Benson, 152 Central Park avenue, yesterday afternoon.

At the same time newspaper reading was commended, magazine reading was condemned, and the present product of writers for children was scornfully dismissed as trash. Special attention was devoted to stories that point out morals, such stories or books being criticised as either worthless or bad.

Urges Higher Home Atmosphere.

Mrs. Heffernan first urged the necessity of educating and elevating the taste of a child by surrounding it with only the best in literature and by keeping it in an atmosphere of conversation, ideas, ideals, and books beyond its present comprehension.

" It is a deplorable thing," she said, " to bring the atmosphere of a home down to the level of a child's intelligence, especially in the mistaken idea that it will benefit the child. The child who listens to intelligent, cultured conversations, who reads or hears read good books, may not understand all that is heard or read, but will profit wonderfully by it. Keep the atmosphere of the home high and let the child grow up to it.

" Gorgeous Christmas and birthday books, if not harmful, give the child at most a mere momentary joy, while stories of love and chivalry, of heroism and beauty, which have lived through ages, have a good and powerful formative influence.

" Up to 6 years of age the child should have much of Mother Goose. Nothing in our language can take the place of these old jingles. They are not the highest kind of literature, but they decidedly are literature. They lay a good foundation of wit and humor in the child and expand it, and that is most important at that stage.

Upholds Tales of Horror.

" Give the children the kind of fairy tales they like, the good old ones dripping with blood and creepy with horrors and cruelty. Let them have the slaughter and the killing, the fiery dragons and the witches, the poisons and the treachery. They are much better than the goody goody, slushy slushy, milk and water stuff that is put on the market today. You will find that children do not like Andersen because he moralizes and love Grimm because he does not.

" If the boy has had cultivated in him a proper taste, little difficulty will be experienced later in leading him from vicious Dare Devil Dick books and other trash to literature such as the 'Arabian Nights,' 'Robin Hood,' 'Robinson Crusoe,' 'Leather Stocking Tales,' 'Treasure Island,' and 'Oliver Twist.' These books have all the adventure and thrills and blood and thunder that the rankest dime novel can show, and more, but they are literature.

" Then we must consider the adolescent girl. I remember that at about the age of 14 I had a craving which I freely gratified for the slushy, sickening, teary love story. This is a natural craving. Give your girls love stories, but give them virile love stories that are literature. Give them 'The Heart of Midlothian,' or 'The Mill on the Floss.' "

VEILED CHARGES HIT 2 SCHOOL MEN

Board of Education Stirred by Attacks on Supervisor Smith and Principal Sabin.

DEMAND A SECRET VOTE.

Trustees White and Post Add to Mystery by Urging Executive Action on Promotions.

Mysterious suggestions of charges to be preferred against two prominent members of the Chicago school system, two separate debates in which the speakers became white with anger, only to be overcome with laughter at the parliamentary tangles which followed, and, finally, a discussion which completely destroyed party lines among the school trustees, gave the board of education's meeting last evening a strong resemblance to the all night sessions of the Dunne régime.

Robert M. Smith, city supervisor of manual training, and Albert R. Sabin, principal of the Irving Park school and a former district superintendent, were the objects of the mystifying statements made on the floor of the board. A measure providing for the advancement of Mr. Smith's salary from $3,000 to $3,500 was opposed by Trustee Louis F. Post.

" Word has been circulating about the board rooms," said Mr. Post, " which, if it develops into formal charges against this official, will make every one of us sorry that we voted for this measure."

White Demands Secret Session.

Principal Sabin was slated for transfer from the Irving Park school to the principalship of the Medill High and Elementary schools. Trustee R. A. White asked that this action be deferred or that the matter be discussed in executive session. Several of the board members, led by Trustee Dawes, opposed the secret session plan, but Mr. White refused to " specify."

" Dr. White has confided to me his reasons for objecting to this appointment," said Trustee O'Ryan, " and I can tell you that he dare not make them public. You should not ask him to."

Mr. Post was equally reticent with regard to his veiled statement about Mr. Smith. From another source, however, it developed that the supervisor has been said to be deriving personal profit from the purchase of supplies for the manual training departments in the various schools, and that charges to this effect have been discussed informally in a recent secret session of the school management committee.

Sabin Charges "Hark Back."

Dr. White's reference to Principal Sabin is understood to hark back to certain actions which were reported in connection with his holding of the office of district superintendent.

Action on both measures was deferred and the measures sent back to the school management and finance committees. In the case of Mr. Smith the vote was 16 to 1, and in that of Mr. Sabin 12 to 5.

The increasing tendency of certain members of the board to demand star chamber

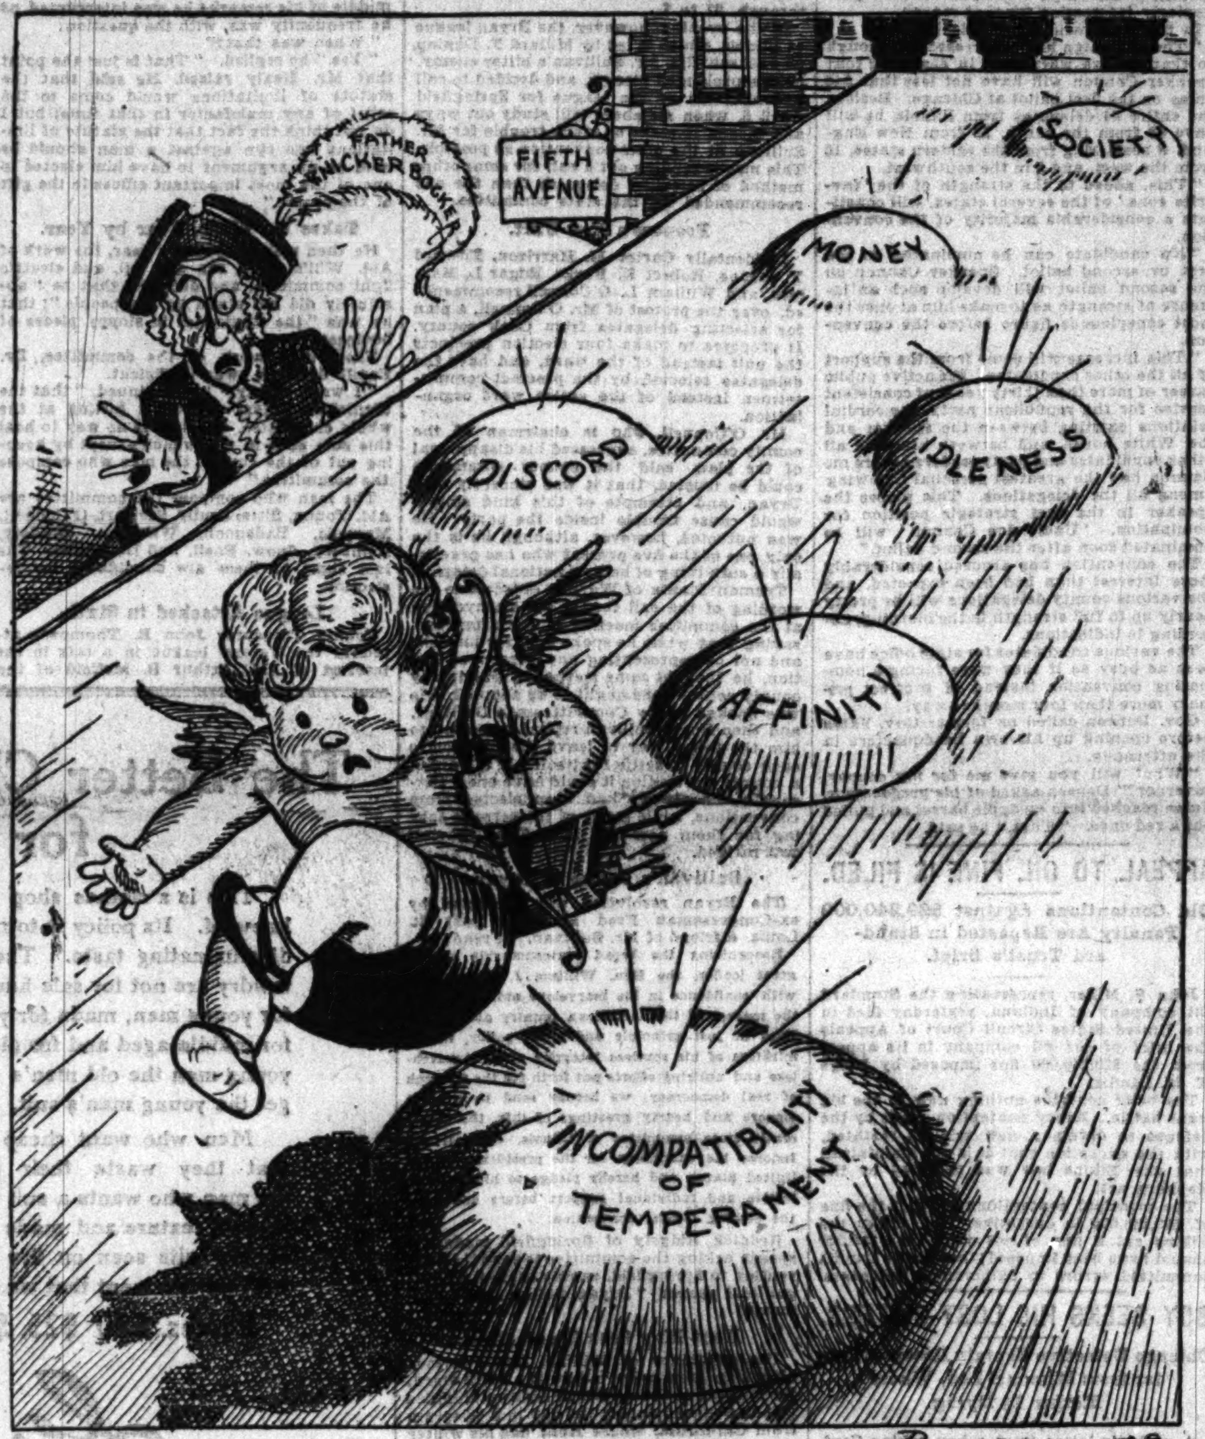
BUMPING THE BUMPS.



SAGAN 'FESSES UP IDENTITY

International Paper Chase of Prince Ends in Gotham.

ADMITS HE'S ON LOVE QUEST.

"Can't You Put Facts Together and Guess?" Helie's Naive Query.

New York, March 25.—[Special.]—The great international paper chase of Prince Helie de Sagan, which began at Montreal four days ago and has called forth the best efforts of gum shoe reporters in New York and Philadelphia ever since, came to an end today, when Mr. Thomson, otherwise passing as Mr. Defresne, was cornered and forced to own up after all he just was plain Helie prince de Sagan.

The acknowledgment came at noon on the North river ferry boat, which was taking him on the last stage of his journey from Philadelphia to New York; and while he confessed to his identity before a platoon of newspaper men, for whom he held an involuntary levee, the royal visitor would confess to little else.

Early this morning it was flashed on ahead that Helie was tired of the monotony of his self-imprisonment in Philadelphia and was coming back to New York, and as he set foot in New Jersey the evening newspaper men surged up about him tumultuously.

The prince went through the ordeal with good grace. He admitted he was the same man who as Thomson and Defresne had put up at the Hotel St. George in this city, and at the Bellevue Stratford in Philadelphia.

Story of Marriage Denied.

When asked for a statement of his plans regarding Mme. Gould the prince said:

" I am willing to discuss anything but Mme. Gould. In France when these questions arise the lady invariably makes the announcements.

" I do not deny that Mme. Gould's presence in this country explains my visit. I will say, however, that Mme. Gould and I are not married."

" Are you and Mme. Gould engaged?" he was asked.

" That is a question for the lady to answer. I cannot say yes. It would be improper for me to answer that question."

" But you can admit that you have come over to press your suit and arrange the marriage if possible?" was the next query.

" You can weigh the facts in the case and then form your own opinion," the prince said. " I rarely leave France. I hate to travel about. Mme. Gould is in America. She is no enemy of mine. Now, what do you suppose? Can't you guess?"

Her Friend During Divorce Suit.

" I was the only one of Boni's relatives to stand by Mme. Gould before and during the divorce suit. The entire family opposed her, but I have been her friend and shall, I hope, always be able to claim that privilege.

" I have not seen Mme. Gould today. Tomorrow at 2 o'clock I shall meet her at luncheon with Mr. and Mrs. Tyler Morse. I have spoken to Mme. Gould by telephone. Tonight I am dining with Mr. Morse and his brother in the Wyoming. Tonight Mme. Gould is dining with Mr. and Mrs. Elbridge T. Gerry, so you see we cannot meet until tomorrow. This afternoon I left the hotel for two hours. I was called away, but I cannot say where I went because it is business of a personal nature."

" Will you call on George Gould or Miss Gould within the next few days?" the prince was asked.

Doesn't Take Boni Seriously.

" I will not," was the reply. " I shall not make any effort to meet Mr. Gould. Why should I? I hear he is opposed to me. I have met Mr. Gould twice, but not in an intimate way. I do not think that sufficient reason to let him know I am in New York. In Paris Mme. Gould and I are great friends, and people do not get so inquisitive. I call upon her and we go to the same dinner parties.

" I do not mind De Castellane. He is a little chap who is always enraged. He is nervous and restless and none takes him seriously. Both the Castellanes attacked me not long ago, but I can defend myself."

SQUALL VICTIMS SWIM ASHORE.

Evanston Mariners Whistle for Wind and Yacht Overturns Quarter of a Mile Out.

While their yacht, the Alma, lay becalmed a quarter of a mile out in the lake off Greenleaf street, four young members of the Evanston Yacht club, yesterday morning whistled for a wind and a moment later the boat was overturned by a squall and the occupants perforce swam a quarter of a mile to shore. The swimmers were:

JOHNSTON, ALBERT, 5430 North Clark street.
WOODS, JOHN W., 521 Lee street, Evanston.
BUSHAMS, ROBERT, 941 Chicago avenue, Evanston.
CRARY, RALPH, 735 Warren street, Evanston.

When the boat capsized, the boys held to the sides for fifteen minutes, and then decided to warm up by swimming to land. They remained within reaching distance of each other on the way.

After drying their clothing they rowed out to the yacht and towed it ashore.

San Francisco, Cal., March 25.—[Special.]—Durham W. Stevens, who was shot Monday by a Corean, died at midnight. One of the bullets passed through the intestines, although until today the doctors were not sure of the fact. Up to this morning Mr. Stevens' temperature was normal and the physicians believed he would speedily recover. SHOULD BE IN PRIME AT 80.

Bishop Fallows Says Men Ought to Live Nowadays to 120 or at Least 100.

Three score and ten years of earthly existence is an old fashioned allotment of a man's life, according to Bishop Samuel Fallows. People ought to be ashamed that they do not live to be 100 or 120 years in this age, he holds.

At 80 a man should be in the prime of life, whereas now 40 or 45 is declared to be the climax.

Bishop Fallows was speaking on " The Mission of Pain " at the St. Paul's Reformed Episcopal church.

GRAFT LUXURIANT IN WATER OFFICE.

Meter Tampering and Theft Discovered Amounting to Hundreds of Thousands of Dollars.

ONE ITEM FOUND, $50,000.

Two Men Ousted, Including a Department Head, and Thirty-eight Slated for Action Today.

An amazing system of robbery and graft involving city employés and big business firms, and extending back through several years, was uncovered yesterday in the water department. As a result of the revelations two employés, including a division head, were removed and thirty-eight subordinate employés are slated for discharge today. Some of them may be indicted for complicity in the thefts. This same water department has been the city's boasted example of municipal ownership.

Through the use of tampered meters and the connivance of city employés several large corporations have defrauded the city of hundreds of thousands of dollars in water taxes. At the same time the employés of the meter division, to which the scandal is confined, have plundered the stock of supplies, selling meters to junk dealers, and bartering materials for drinks in saloons.

Supplies never used by the city were purchased ostensibly for the water department and then used by city plumbers in private outside business.

Idlers and Pensioners on Pay Roll.

The pay rolls of the division were found padded with idlers and incompetents. The force which originally numbered 200 men was reduced by Supt. W. J. McCourt of the water bureau to fifty.

The largest water steal discovered so far was at the power house of the old Union Traction company, 45 Western avenue. Through a fraudulent register the street car concern, which now is the Chicago railways company, was enabled to obtain one-third of its water supply at these premises free during the last ten years. The amount of which the city has been defrauded in this way totals more than $50,000 in this case alone.

Allowing a liberal margin for fluctuations, Deputy Commissioner Redieske of the department of public works sent the company a bill for $27,892.54 for extra taxes for the last five years, to which period the claim is confined by the statute of limitations.

Two Dismissed; Many Summoned.

The officials removed by Supt. McCourt during the day were:

HARRINGTON, D. S., superintendent of the meter mechanical division; charged with gross negligence and inefficiency, and resigned on demand.

LAMBIN, JOHN, chief clerk; dropped from the division on account of failing to report for duty. The position also was abolished.

Immediately after announcing this action Supt. McCourt summoned nine meter setters, four rate takers, twenty laborers, and five expressmen employed in the division to appear before him this morning on charges of misconduct of a serious nature in connection with the steals. The meter setters and rate takers will be requested to resign at once, and if they refuse they will be suspended and tried by the civil service commission. The expressmen and laborers will be discharged summarily, no trials being necessary in those classifications of the service.

" I withhold the names of these men for the present," said Supt. McCourt. " But all of them are involved in the steals we have discovered. I have the specific evidence on which they will be tried if they oppose removal, and the attorney of the civil service commission informs me that it is sufficient to send some of them to the penitentiary."

Discovery of New Superintendent.

The unearthing of the crookedness is due to the efforts of Supt. McCourt, who was appointed head of the bureau six weeks ago after winning first place in the merit test for the place. He discovered at once that there was work for a new broom in the meter mechanical division, the headquarters of which are at 1330 Indiana avenue.

" The first time I went down there," said Mr. McCourt, " I found Supt. Harrington holding a kind of pink tea. The clerks and meter setters and other employés were gathered around him engaged in pleasant repartee when they ought to have been at work. Some of the laborers I noticed wore silk hats, patent leather shoes, and gloves. I asked Harrington how he expected a man in kid gloves to handle a pick and shovel. He couldn't explain.

" I found four or five old pensioners who did nothing but draw their pay and look pleasant. Harrington, who had been there seven years, had the force filled up with his friends and pets. They pilfered under his nose, insulted him to his face, and ran over him right and left. I found that water steals had been reported to him repeatedly, but that he paid no attention to them."

While Supt. McCourt and Deputy Commissioner Redieske were investigating the steals some inkling of the conditions leaked out. Jake Maroney, one of the conspirators in the recently exposed blackmail plot, said he told the Rev. Mr. Hartzell that there was a lot of crookedness in the water department. In the department also it was known that Redieske and McCourt were running down the water tax frauds. Two weeks ago Lambin, the chief clerk of the meter division, failed to report for duty and then it was learned that he had disappeared from his residence.

Graft for Ten Years.

It was learned that water department employés have been grafting in corporation water steals for ten years. Most of it was done under the régime of H. O. Nourse, who was discharged last summer for pernicious political activity in Mayor Dunne's campaign for reëlection. Mr. McCourt received information that there were several large frauds being worked, the most conspicuous being the one at the Union Traction power house. He dispatched M. W. Coghlan, chief ratetaker, to inspect the meter of these premises.

Coghlan found a six inch pipe delivering water from the city mains to the power house. Attached to the pipe was a meter carrying a register for a four inch pipe. Superficial examination indicated that the company was being supplied by a four inch pipe. In addition to that the meter was found registering slowly. The register had been installed in 1897 and the meter had been inspected and sealed once every month since that time by city ratetakers.

Conditions at Traction Plant.

Coghlan made this report on the case:

"W. J. McCourt, Superintendent of the Water Bureau—Dear Sir: Herewith I hand you a bill against the Union Traction company for the premises 45-55 Western avenue, for water used from their six inch Gem meter during the last five years, amounting to $27,592.54.

"The meter was brought to the shop for repair and I have had it tested and found it to be equipped with a four inch counter instead of a six inch counter, and on the test with the four inch counter it showed 184 per cent slow. This morning I tested it with a six inch counter and find it 10 per cent slow. To avoid argument I have deducted the 10 per cent from the 184 per cent slow and billed them with 174 per cent, which is the difference between the four inch and the six inch counter.

"Were we to go back the length of time this counter has been on this meter the bill would be about $50,000. The amount paid for water during the last five years is $15,875.78, which should be $43,450.32, or 174 per cent more. Yours, M. W. COGHLAN."

Redieske Expects to Collect.

Officials of the Chicago Railways company said they knew nothing of the water thefts, but would investigate as soon as the statement from the city is received. Mr. Redieske is confident of collecting the amount, as he has been successful in three similar cases.

"This is not the only big theft," he said. "There are a number of others we are investigating. We have evidence that water department employés have done a thriving business in 'fixing' meters for corporations for ten years or more. In most cases they open a meter after an inspection and set back the register, then reseal it. This they have to do once a month in order to carry out the fraud. It looks as if some one has duplicates of all the seals used in the department.

"In the Union Traction case the monthly tampering was unnecessary. The four inch clock was put on the six inch pipe ten years ago and would not necessarily have been discovered by the rate takers, who may have thought it was attached to a four inch pipe."

Plumbing Supplies Stolen.

In taking an inventory of the stock used at the meter division headquarters Mr. McCourt found 300 solid brass lever handled shower cocks and 400 nickel plated sill cocks, the former valued at 60 cents and the latter at $1 each. These appliances are of no use to the water department. Mr. McCourt was puzzled to know why the city had invested in them.

On questioning the employés the superintendent learned, however, that some plumbers in the city service had been in the habit of pilfering these and other sanitary appliances from the meter division shops. These plumbers were engaged in private outside business, in which they used the supplies for which the city paid. The superfluous supplies were requisitioned by Harrington and allowed by previous heads of the water office.

These were not the only supplies stolen by employés. Mr. McCourt found that more than 100 meters, valued from $50 to $800 each, were missing and not accounted for. Investigation revealed that the meters had been sold by the water department employés to a number of west side junk dealers for $7 to $10 each. Two of the meters disposed of in this way were from the works of the Pullman company and were valued at $750 each.

Theft at Wholesale.

"I discovered that the theft of supplies was of wholesale proportions," said Mr. McCourt. "Whenever the employés backed a wagon up to the shop to load a meter for some location they would throw on an extra meter, which they would sell to a junk dealer. At other times they would cart out half a wagon load of brass fixtures and tools. Some of the employés scarcely ever went home at night without putting a brass faucet or some other material into their pockets. The junk dealers pay good prices for brass and iron. Other employés, when sent to install a meter, would exchange some of their tools for drinks at the nearest saloon and return drunk and empty handed. I have evidence that the steals were reported to Harrington repeatedly, but he did nothing to stop them."

Mr. Redieske estimated that the employés had made away with supplies valued at $35,000. The water steals by corporations with the connivance of city employés, he said, could not be guessed at, though he thought they probably would total several hundred thousand dollars in the last ten years.

Calls Harrington to Office.

Supt. McCourt called Harrington to his office in the morning and demanded his resignation. Harrington demurred until he was told of the evidence of crookedness in his division. He made no defense to the charges of negligence and inefficiency, but wrote out his resignation and departed. Mr. McCourt immediately promoted Coghlan to the position, which pays $2,000 a year, and henceforth will be termed "general foreman of the meter mechanical division." Coghlan will have two assistants, who will inspect all work and material. William Sitts was placed in charge of the Indiana avenue shops. The positions of chief rate taker and chief clerk were abolished and the clerks placed under John C. Schubert, chief of the assessed rates collection division.

On account of the widespread frauds worked through tampering with meters an entirely new set of seals is to be issued.

Tester Files a Suit.

Peter C. McArdle, chief tester of public works supplies, who was suspended by Commissioner Hanberg on charges of collusion with bidders, has filed suit in the Superior court to enjoin the city from paying the salary of chief tester to any one but himself.

POLICE PREPARE NEW SYSTEM TO TAB ALL DEADLY WEAPONS.

Chief Shippy Himself Will Supervise Registration and Mayor Will Sign Permits Under New Act.

Chief of Police Shippy drew up the plans yesterday for enforcing the deadly weapon ordinance which Mayor Busse will sign this week. The registration system is to be managed immediately under the chief's supervision.

A lieutenant will be detailed to inaugurate the system. All reports of the sale of weapons will go to this official, who also will receive all applications for permits to own deadly weapons. The permits will be signed by the mayor.

The chief conferred with Corporation Counsel Brundage and City Clerk McCabe on the form of licenses. Mr. Brundage will have blanks ready as soon as the ordinance is promulgated. This, it is expected, will be next week.

A reasonable period to be fixed by the chief will be allowed to citizens now owning weapons to take out permits. Mayor Busse received the first application for a license for a revolver from Lorren M. Beauprie, 540 West Eighteenth street.

"This ordinance will be strictly enforced," said the chief. "Some day I shall issue an order for policemen to search all citizens found on the streets at unseasonable hours and those having weapons will be required to show permits."

POLICE STOP "RED" CIRCULARS.

Arrest Boys Distributing Announcements of Meeting Under Edelstadt Group Auspices.

Three boys who were distributing circulars announcing an anarchists' meeting for tomorrow evening were arrested by the Maxwell street police in the Ghetto last night. The bills that they were scattering advertised that William Nathanson would speak. They also said that Knute Hanson would speak on "Hunger." The meeting will be held, according to Mr. Nathanson, at Mathews' hall, Miller and Taylor streets, under the direction of the Edelstadt group.

CANNON 'CAPTURES' STATE DELEGATES.

Whether Warlike or Peaceful, Springfield Convention Will Indorse the Speaker.

YATES BALKS AT "PILL."

Candidate for the Governorship Kicks Over Traces When He Hears Deneen Praised.

BY C. S. R.

Springfield, Ill., March 25.—[Special.]—Speaker Joseph G. Cannon gets the indorsement of the Illinois republicans tomorrow in a series of resolutions as laudatory as his friends care to draw them and in a state convention which may be noisily belligerent or pleasingly harmonious, according to the tact of its guiding spirits.

Hard work has been done to domesticate this gathering for the sake of Mr. Cannon. There has been no trouble so far as he is concerned, but the various candidates who expect to submit their names for nomination for state offices in the August primaries have been watching each other with suspicious eyes, and it has not been an easy task to steer the convention clear of difficulties.

There was an agreement between the Deneen and Yates forces early in the night, covering the former's indorsement to be given the republican officeholders, but about midnight Len Small, the Yates campaign manager, discovered that he had not been informed as to all the declarations regarding the state administration.

When he discovered that even the state institutions were upheld and declared to be under a "progressive administration," he balked and demanded to see the platform before the Yates forces were asked to accept it. It is probable, but not certain, that it will be accepted, even the Cannon people holding that the resolutions cannot say much less and continue to be republican resolutions.

Deneen Claims Control.

The governor probably could control the convention without much trouble, although there would be an uproar if the Yates men started a protest.

A big majority of the counties were represented at a caucus held in the executive office at night, it being announced that 72 of the 102 counties were represented by the county chairman or other organization officials. The gathering seemed to indicate that Mr. Deneen could control if it came to a fight.

Congressman William B. McKinley, Cannon's campaign manager, is desirous above all things that the convention avoid all semblance of a disturbance of any kind.

He and the republicans principally concerned in Mr. Cannon's candidacy do not want the Cannon movement overshadowed by partisan fighting.

They assert that this particular convention is Mr. Cannon's convention, and that he should receive the full benefit of it. They have told the candidates for state offices that this particular time is no time for them to air their grievances or attract attention by disturbances of the peace.

Mr. McKinley sincerely believes that Mr. Cannon will be the republican presidential nominee. He gave out a statement in which he claimed 146 votes for the speaker on the first ballot in the national convention, and in which he predicted his nomination "soon after the second ballot."

Mr. McKinley is a true convert to his own predictions, and he desires that the state convention in electing the four Illinois delegates at large and in indorsing Mr. Cannon for the nomination do so in such a manner that the remainder of the country will understand that the support which the speaker receives in his own state is not perfunctory but hearty and enthusiastic.

Work Nearly All Cut Out.

Roy O. West, in his gentle, suave fashion, admits that he is perfectly satisfied with the course of human events. Thanks to the appointment of preliminary committees on program and resolutions the convention has nearly all of its work cut out for it in advance.

The selection of the four delegates at large goes by the precedent which gives the places to the two senators, the governor, and the next most distinguished republican.

Speaker Cannon being a candidate for the presidential nomination, the latter honor falls on Mayor Busse of Chicago, and the four delegates will be: Senator Shelby M. Cullom, Senator A. J. Hopkins, Gov. Charles S. Deneen, and Mayor Fred A. Busse.

The alternates will be Charles G. Eckhart of Tuscola, William P. Hodson of Jo Daviess county, a man from the Twenty-fifth ward of Chicago, to be picked by James Pease, and a colored republican, to be selected by the negro voters.

The last named man probably will be Edward Wright of Chicago, a former member of the legislature and a well known colored lawyer.

The colored men interested in the selection will meet in the morning to reach a decision, and the convention will elect the man whom they select.

Danville Man in Chair.

Col. George Buckingham of Danville, Mr. Cannon's home town, will be the temporary and permanent chairman of the convention, and Dr. Willis O. Nance will be its secretary.

If the Yates men think that the governor has been getting entirely too much the best of it from a body which has nothing to do with state candidates they may turn loose some enthusiasm for the former governor in the shape of a demonstration from the floor of the convention.

Mr. Yates' friends are perfect stage managers for such events, but the Cannon people, hearing that such a thing was possible, asked that it be not done.

The platform which is to be given publicity as representing the views of Speaker Cannon on national issues will be largely a duplicate of that adopted Saturday in the Danville convention in the speaker's congressional district.

It may be modified with regard to its utterances on the tariff, but probably not greatly. Mr. Cannon overhauled the Danville resolutions before they were submitted to the congressional convention, and they represent his ideas.

Boutell Delayed with "Idea."

There would have been no uncertainty at all regarding the matter if Congressman Henry Sherman Boutell on his way from Washington to Springfield to help in the festivities, had not wired from Cincinnati that he had been delayed by a train wreck, and that he wished to offer some suggestions before the tariff plank was adopted.

Late tonight the resolutions committee, headed by United States Marshal Charles P. Hitch, gave up all hope of getting any aid from the delayed Mr. Boutell on the tariff issue, and made public the tentative draft of the tariff plank as it will go to the regularly constituted resolutions committee of the convention.

It follows the platform of the Ohio republican convention in asking for a special session of congress to consider the tariff and says:

"The tariff is not sacred.

"While believing in the principles of protection, we do not hold the tariff schedules as unalterable. They should be adjusted from time to time to meet changed conditions, but the changes in the future, as in the past, should be in harmony with the fundamental demand for the protection of American labor, American capital, and American business.

"The republicans of this state will accept the judgment of the national convention and we respectfully suggest that to secure reciprocal tariff concessions from other nations there should be a minimum and maximum tariff.

"The minimum tariff should be sufficient to protect American labor and capital against labor and capital abroad, and the maximum tariff should be enforced against importations from any country that discriminates against American exports.

"And we further recommend that a special session of congress be called as soon as possible after the inauguration of the next president to readjust the tariff schedules."

Soon after Mr. Hitch gave out the resolution the delayed Congressman Boutell reached Springfield with the new Cannon tariff idea, declaring in favor of immediate preliminary work for revision, submitting it in the following form:

"To the end that the revision of the tariff may be accomplished with the greatest possible gain, and the least possible loss, we suggest to our senators and representatives in congress that they seek to secure at once the passage in their respective houses of resolutions directing the proper committees to proceed immediately to collect the preliminary information necessary for a readjustment of the tariff so that when the work is entered upon all parties and interests may be heard and the law framed, discussed, and passed without delay and without any disturbance of the financial and industrial interests of the country."

State Officers to Be Indorsed.

In commenting on the present state officers, most of whom are candidates for renomination, the resolutions do not mention names or refer to candidates, but the indorsement of the present administration is a strong one, nevertheless.

That portion of the document follows:

"We commend the able and excellent administrations of the various state officers, all of whom are republicans, and the executive department of the state government for its progressive management of the state institutions and for the proficiency and business like ability it has displayed in the conduct of all the various departments.

"We commend also the excellent manner in which the administration and the general assembly have redeemed the pledges of the republican state platform in passing laws on insurance, civil service, primary elections, railroads, interest on state funds, deep waterways, and in enacting legislation for a 2 cent fare, and for an internal improvement commission, a geological survey, and a highway commission."

A good many republicans, regardless of factions, are inclined to believe that the investigation of the asylums is being conducted too much to the general disadvantage of the party and to the advantage of the democrats.

For that reason they are not unwilling to give indorsement to a republican administration, regardless of the personality of the man who is governor and responsible for them.

Cannon Strength in Detail.

Mr. McKinley's announcement of Cannon strength is the first to be given out by the speaker's campaign managers and is particularly interesting for that reason.

In this statement Mr. McKinley says:

"The campaign has progressed far enough so that we are warranted in asserting that Speaker Cannon will have not less than 146 votes on the first ballot at Chicago. Besides the entire 54 delegates from Illinois, he will have 48 from the south, 12 from New England, 8 scattering from the eastern states, 16 from the west, and 8 in the southwest.

"This, added to the strength of the 'favorite sons' of the several states, will constitute a considerable majority of the convention.

"No candidate can be nominated on the first or second ballot. Speaker Cannon on the second ballot will develop such an increase of strength as to make him at once the most conspicuous figure before the convention.

"This increase will come from the support of all the other candidates. His active public career of more than thirty years of consistent service for the republican party, the cordial relations existing between the speaker and the White house, and between him and all other candidates and party leaders assure me Cannon has the greatest personal following among all the delegations. This places the speaker in the best strategic position for nomination. 'Uncle Joe Cannon' will be nominated soon after the second ballot."

The convention has aroused considerably more interest than had been expected, and the various county delegations will be pretty nearly up to full strength in the morning, according to indications.

The various candidates for state office have been as busy as if they were facing a nominating convention instead of a direct primary more than four months away.

Gov. Deneen called on former Gov. Yates before opening up his own headquarters in the afternoon.

"What will you give me for my county, governor?" Deneen asked of his predecessor. Yates reached into an apple barrel and pulled out a red one. "That," he said.

APPEAL TO OIL FINE IS FILED.

Old Contentions Against $29,240,000 Penalty Are Repeated in Standard Trust's Brief.

John S. Miller, representing the Standard Oil company of Indiana, yesterday filed in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals the brief of the oil company in its appeal from the $29,240,000 fine imposed by Judge K. M. Landis.

The brief contains nothing new in the big legal battle. Every contention made by the defense to obtain a new trial is restated, with the exception that it is not maintained that the Elkins law was repealed by the Hepburn act.

The principal contentions are that the fine of $29,240,000 is excessive; that under the Elkins act a fine of not more than $20,000 should have been imposed; that Judge Landis committed errors in summoning witnesses.

BOY SEEKS HIS LOST SISTERS.

Chicago Detective Captain Receives Letter from Missouri Lad, Whose Mother Is Dying.

A pathetic letter from a boy asking Capt. O'Brien to search for his two sisters and notify them that their mother is dying in Pacific, Mo., was received at the detective bureau yesterday. The sender is Clarence E. Paine, a school boy, who wrote in part as follows: "I want to ask you to kindly assist a 12 year old boy who is now sitting with his dying mother to search for his two sisters, who are both in Chicago. Minnie Opel Davis, 19 years old, one of them, was at St. Marines home until a few months ago, and Louise, 14 years old, is now in Chicago somewhere. Mother wishes to see them before she dies."

COURT FORBIDS COLORED 'OLEO'

Decision Expected to Result in Wholesale Prosecutions of Chicago Restaurant Keepers.

Wholesale prosecutions of Chicago restaurants serving imitation butter for the real thing are promised as the result of a decision the state food commission received yesterday from the Circuit court of Kane county.

The court held that imitation butter may be colored only for "household use," and that restaurant proprietors must notify guests when they serve oleomargarine.

The Paris restaurant, conducted by a company of Greeks, at Elgin, was made defendant in the test case. Authorities believe the ruling will be affirmed by the higher court.

SULLIVAN ET AL. BOUND TO BRYAN.

State Democratic Committee Pledges Itself to Stand by Nebraskan to Last.

BUT LEAGUE PICKS FLAW.

Leader Calls Meeting to Criticise the Method of Choosing the Delegates.

William Jennings Bryan could not have had any more laudatory indorsement for the presidential nomination if he had written the resolution himself than was given him by the democratic state committee of Illinois yesterday. It not only covered the "first, last, and all the time" point as regards the nomination, but went one better and pledged the members "individually and collectively" to do all they could for his selection.

This means most especially National Committeeman Roger Sullivan, who has been accused by the Bryan partisans of being disloyal to the Nebraska leader, and who promptly took occasion to place himself on record. He voted for the resolution in a loud voice, as did every other committeeman present except James K. Donahue of East St. Louis, who passed his name.

But League Leader Grumbles.

Then the committee selected Springfield as the place, and April 23 as the date, for the democratic state convention, and provided that delegates be chosen by the "county central committee of each county, or in such manner as the said county central committee of each county may direct."

This last provision was expected to prove a bone of contention between the Sullivan and Bryan partisans, but it was only provocative of a few mild speeches, and went through, 27 to 7.

In the evening, however, the Bryan league of Illinois, which is led by Millard F. Dunlap of Jacksonville, Mr. Sullivan's bitter enemy, held a prolonged session, and decided to call a convention of the league for Springfield April 8, when members will study out ways and means to make as much trouble for Mr. Sullivan at the state convention as possible. This means sending out a call for some other method of selecting delegates than the one recommended by the state committee.

Propose a New Unit.

Incidentally Carter H. Harrison, Edward F. Dunne, Robert E. Burke, Edgar L. Masters, and William L. O'Connell recommended, over the protest of Mr. O'Connell, a plan for selecting delegates from Cook county. It proposes to make four election precincts the unit instead of the ward, and have the delegates selected by the precinct committeemen instead of the entire ward organization.

Mr. O'Connell, who is chairman of the county committee, expressed his disapproval of the plan, said the county committee could be trusted, that it was sincerely with Bryan, and attempts of this kind simply would cause trouble inside the party. He was outvoted, however, although he is the only one of the five present who has practically a sure thing of being a national delegate.

Truman Plautz of Warsaw objected to the wording of the call for the state convention at the committee meeting in the afternoon, saying that while he spoke only for himself, and not as representing any person, or faction, he thought some method of electing by county conventions ought to be adopted. He was backed up by Committeeman De Wolf, and then Roger Sullivan replied it seemed to him the fairer way to leave the question to each county to settle for itself. If it wanted a county convention it could have one. Personally, he always had been elected from conventions, while many of the persons asking for them now had not. Then the call was ratified.

Sullivan's Praise of Bryan.

The Bryan resolution was presented by ex-Congressman Fred Kern of East St. Louis, a friend of Mr. Sullivan. It read:

> Recognizing the broad statesmanship of our great leader, the Hon. William J. Bryan, and with confidence in his marvelous ability to lead the masses of this American country along right lines of just principle and sound policy, in admiration of his spotless integrity and his matchless and untiring efforts put forth for the triumph of real democracy, we hereby send to him the sincere and hearty greetings of this, the democratic state committee of Illinois, emphatically indorse his candidacy for the presidency of the United States, and hereby pledge to him our collective and individual support before and after the coming Denver convention.

Reddick Ridgely of Springfield made the speech asking the committee to send the convention to Springfield, saying there it was all political peace: "Bryan, Sullivan, and harmony."

Kent May Seek Senate Seat.

The candidacy of William Kent, former alderman from what is now the Sixth ward, for the seat of United States Senator Hopkins was announced during the day in a telegram from California, where Kent has his winter home, which reads:

> William Kent of Kentfield, Marin county, the millionaire who has just given a valuable tract of land with a forest of redwood to the government for a national park, announced here last night that he has received many letters from Chicago friends asking him to become republican candidate for United States senator in Illinois. He was formerly an alderman of Chicago and still retains his residence and considerable business interests there.

Mr. Kent will leave for Chicago in a few days to confer with his friends over the matter.

Deneen's Home Folks Act.

The republican convention for the Third congressional district, Gov. Deneen's home, passed resolutions indorsing President Roosevelt and Gov. Deneen, recommended the nomination of Speaker Cannon for the presidency, and praised Congressman Willson, now representing the district and elected as delegates to the national convention Assessor William H. Weber and E. L. Roberts.

Gas Men Meet in Convention.

Technical papers relating to the manufacture, use, and general purposes of fuel and illuminating gas were read by members of the Illinois Gas association at the opening of the fourth annual convention in the Auditorium hotel yesterday morning. C. H. Sidenglanz of Rockford, Ill., W. E. Hartman of Aurora, and W. D. McJunkin of Chicago were on the program.

TALKS FOR VOTERS' LEAGUE

Dr. Favill, Its President, Tells Why Williston Is Opposed.

ONE OF LIGHT COMMITTEE.

That Whole Portion of Council Declared a "Sore Spot."

That the fight against Ald. Williston of the Twenty-fifth ward is merely a part of a fight to put out of the council the majority of the members of the committee on gas, oil, and electric light was the assertion of Dr. Henry B. Favill, president of the Municipal Voters' league, in a speech last night at a massmeeting in favor of Charles M. Thomson, the independent candidate for alderman against Williston.

The speech by Dr. Favill was called forth by two attacks on the Municipal Voters' league made within the last week by State's Attorney John J. Healy, at massmeetings held in the interest of Ald. Williston.

"This is the first time in the history of the Municipal Voters' league that the executive committee has deemed it advisable to send the president of the league out to a political meeting to justify its purposes and credibility," said Dr. Favill in opening his address. "The situation is extraordinary. An attack has been made, an acrimonious and savage attack; an attack, not by a cheap politician, not by an irresponsible, untrustworthy man, but by a strong, honorable man whom we have believed in and trusted, John J. Healy."

Takes Up Williston's Record.

Dr. Favill then gave in detail the history, organization, methods, and purposes of the Municipal Voters' league, and with this foundation proceeded to examine the record of Ald. Williston.

He first took up the question of the ordinance for the vacation of the stub end of Franklin street in 1901, which Ald. Williston put through the council, and which was afterward vetoed by Mayor Harrison because the compensation was insufficient. In the middle of his remarks he was interrupted, as he frequently was, with the question:

"When was that?"

"Yes," he replied. "That is just the point that Mr. Healy raised. He said that the statute of limitations would come to the relief of any malefactor in that time; but I do not think the fact that the statute of limitations has run against a man should be used as an argument to have him elected to one of the most important offices in the gift of the people."

Takes Up Work, Year by Year.

He then took up, year by year, the work of Ald. Williston in the gas, oil, and electric light committee, and declared that he "absolutely did not stand by the people"; that he was "the ringleader in sloppy pieces of business."

The whole work of the committee, Dr. Favill declared, was inefficient.

"I want to say," he continued, "that the Municipal Voters' league is hitting at the whole committee, and it sees no way to heal this sore spot in the council except by keeping out of the council the men who compose the committee."

The men who compose the committee are Ald. Young, Sitts, Scully, Stewart, O'Connell, Maypole, Badenoch, Williston, Bradley, Reinberg, Snow, Foell, and Dougherty. The last eight of these are candidates for reelection.

League Attacked in Sixth.

County Treasurer John R. Thompson attacked the Voters' league in a talk in the interest of Ald. Arthur B. McCoid of the Sixth ward, who was criticised by the league as "unfit." The meeting was held at Forty-seventh street and Cottage Grove avenue.

"Ald. McCoid, the candidate for the council from the Sixth ward, is the best possible candidate," said Mr. Thompson. "I believe the voters of the Sixth ward are men of high ideals. I am sure also that they are as intelligent as the members of the executive committee of the Municipal Voters' league.

"The people of this ward are competent to select their alderman without advice from the outside. It is absolutely certain that the voters in this ward are more competent to select their alderman than members of the league, who don't live in the ward."

John F. Holland was chairman of the meeting. Mr. Holland, by way of introduction, said the league had done some good work, but it had made a serious mistake in condemning Ald. McCoid.

Morton D. Hull, a member of the league, said the league's criticism of Ald. McCoid was passed over his head.

"This criticism of Ald. McCoid was unjust and a great mistake," said he. "It was passed over my head. I have watched McCoid's record, and I can recommend him for reelection. His work for this ward has been of the highest character."

Ald. McCoid was the last speaker.

"I don't care for the recommendation of any league or association outside of this ward," said he. "I want to be held to account by the voters of the Sixth ward."

COAL MINING MAY CONTINUE PENDING NEW WAGE MEETING

Operators Send Out Letters to Large Consumers Reassuring Them Against Any Danger of Scarcity of Fuel.

Letters reassuring to large consumers of coal were sent out yesterday by the Illinois Coal Operators' association. The letters state that in the event of a suspension of mining on April 1 "neither the operators nor the United Mineworkers of Illinois will be party to an arrangement for artificially creating a scarcity of coal."

A meeting of the scale committee of the joint state convention, which recently adjourned at Peoria, will be held tomorrow at Springfield for the purpose of setting a date for the reassembling of the joint state convention.

As the executive board of the operators' association has power to call emergency meetings upon one day's notice it will be possible to have a full meeting of the association on or before April 1. Under the provisions adopted at the recent Indianapolis convention the miners are forbidden to accept a reduction in wages, but they have authority to continue at work after April 1 at "not less than the present wage rates."

Nothing was said in the resolutions as to disputed administrative regulations. An effort will be made to settle these questions at tomorrow's meeting at Springfield.

DRIVERS TO VOTE ON STRIKE.

Milk Dealers Offer Compromise, Which Is Refused, and Negotiations Are Off.

A strike vote will be taken by the milk wagon drivers' union at a meeting at Brand's hall this evening as the result of failure to reach an agreement with the milk dealers over the demand for an increase of $5 a week.

A joint conference was held during the day at the Wellington hotel. The milk dealers offered as a compromise to guarantee the drivers $17 a week during the next year. This is on the basis of $1 a week increase for the second year drivers and $2 a week for first year drivers, with the present rate of commissions. The offer was refused.

Should a strike be voted at tonight's meeting the Teamsters' Joint council will be asked to ratify the action tomorrow night.

North Side Germans Choose Most Beautiful Women to Give Plastic Poses for Charity's Sake.

Chicago is to have another series of living pictures. the North side German circles having announced several groups of plastic art poses, to be given in North Side Turner Hall on Saturday evening next. Rehearsals are being held and the entertainment promises to be interesting and unique even in this season when to pose for charity has been the fad of the various sets in the city. Instead of choosing color pictures for reproduction, as most of the other living picture folk have done, the Germans have chosen from among their handsomest women to represent the old-time plastic art groups, each, of course, wearing the all white Grecian gown which lends itself so readily to artistic drapery. One of the most elaborate of the groups will represent "The Triumphal Procession," another equally elaborate and particularly timely group will tell of the arrival of "Spring," and a third will show the "Nine Muses." The beneficiary of the evening is the German Old People's Home.

AMERICAN ANGER ROUSED BY KAISER

Rejection of Dr. D. J. Hill as Envoy to Berlin Puzzle to Washington.

DENY TOWER INFLUENCE.

Friends of Retiring Diplomat Resent Idea That He Inspired German Action.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., March 25.—[Special.]—A most embarrassing diplomatic situation has been created by the action of Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany in declaring that David Jayne Hill of New York would be persona non grata as ambassador of the United States in his capital.

The ostensible reason for the rejection of Dr. Hill is based upon prejudice said to have been formed by his majesty against him on account of the part he played in the reception and treatment of Prince Henry of Prussia during the latter's visit to the United States in 1902.

President Roosevelt has not been content to permit the action of the German government to go unquestioned. There is reason to believe he has paved the way to a reconsideration of Dr. Hill's acceptability by the German emperor, and at the same time made it clear to that potentate that he has placed this government in an embarrassing position.

German Action Is Puzzling.

The embarrassment is greater because the German government formally announced last November that Dr. Hill would be welcomed as the successor of Charlemagne Tower.

The whole matter bears such an unusual aspect that it has puzzled greatly the president and Secretary of State Root. So far as concerns the connection of Dr. Hill with the visit of Prince Henry, it is declared that it must have been known in Berlin when Ambassador Tower, in November, asked the emperor if the doctor would be an acceptable representative.

Now suddenly to advance it as a reason for his rejection raises the question of good faith, which no government likes to discuss.

An examination of the archives of the state department shows that the German government expressed, upon the termination of Prince Henry's visit, the highest appreciation of the treatment that had been accorded to him during his stay in America.

Dr. Hill Welcomed Royal Guest.

At that time Dr. Hill held the office of assistant secretary of state. The president made him chairman of the commission formed to arrange for the entertainment of the high Prussian visitor.

The other members of the commission were Third Assistant Secretary of State Peirce, Col. Bingham, now commissioner of police of New York City, and Charles Ray Dean, chief of the appointment bureau of the state department.

This commission accompanied Prince Henry on the tour he made of the United States, which included Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, Albany, Buffalo, Chicago, Milwaukee, and St. Louis.

Just before Prince Henry left this country he gave Dr. Hill a photograph of himself inscribed with his autograph, the usual souvenir a dignitary offers to officials who have had charge of his entertainment.

His highness also gave to Mrs. Hill a little token in appreciation of her kindness to him.

Tower's Friends Resent Charges.

It is apparent, therefore, that there must be something behind the rejection of Dr. Hill other than the reasons which have been advanced. It has been suggested that Ambassador Tower would remain in Berlin in case Dr. Hill should fail to go to that post.

The friends of Mr. Tower resent the suggestion that he inspired the objection to Dr. Hill because of his desire to continue in his present position.

There is no doubt that the president's acceptance of Mr. Tower's resignation was something of a surprise to the ambassador. From what can be learned the latter mentioned incidentally in a personal letter to Mr. Roosevelt that he was thinking about sending in his resignation.

Some months before Mr. Tower had been in Washington. He then had said that his children were growing up without the advantage of American education as a result of the necessity of keeping them abroad with him and as he had served the United States in diplomatic capacity for the last twenty years the president believed he was doing Mr. Tower a favor in permitting him to retire.

Ambassador Close to Kaiser.

The ambassador has done well in Berlin and enjoys exceptionally close relations with the German emperor. On several occasions the emperor has done him the honor of dining with him at the American embassy, and the German empress similarly has honored Mrs. Tower.

The ambassador and his wife have made a peculiar niche for themselves in Berlin, and naturally their withdrawal has caused them a great deal of regret.

Some weeks ago Mr. Tower was asked

The fact that Dr. Hill is persona non grata will not mean the continuance of Mr. Tower in Berlin. Should the German emperor insist that he will not receive Dr. Hill this government must bow to his decision, for there is ample precedent for the refusal of a ruler or government either to receive or to permit to stay in the country a diplomatic representative who is not acceptable to it.

In this case the successor to Mr. Tower will be chosen from the diplomatic service, as Dr. Hill was selected.

DR. HILL IS SURPRISED.

PARIS, March 25.—Dr. David Jayne Hill, who arrived this evening from The Hague, and went to the Hotel Regina, expressed the greatest surprise when informed that the German government had declined to receive him in the capacity of American ambassador to succeed Charlemagne Tower.

The announcement of Germany's attitude toward Dr. Hill caused much surprise in French diplomatic circles, in which he is well known, especially from his writings on international law and his service in The Hague peace conference.

Premier of England Fails to Recognize Friends and Even the Optimistic Doubt His Recovery.

LONDON, March 25.—Premier Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman steadily became weaker during the day and at times failed to recognize persons gathered about his bedside. Even those heretofore optimistic now admit it doubtful if the premier has sufficient rallying power to overcome the effects of his prolonged heart trouble.

DENIES GIRLS ARE TOILERS FOR SAKE OF PIN MONEY.

Miss Anna Nichols Tells Hebrew Institute Audience Young Women Work to Win a Livelihood.

The charge often made by labor agitators and even well known educators that many girls of good and prosperous families enter the industrial field in competition with men because they desire to wear fine clothes was refuted indignantly by Miss Anna Nichols of the Neighborhood House settlement last night. Miss Nichols was lecturing on "Woman in Industry" at the Chicago Hebrew institute, 224 Blue Island avenue, and her auditors were Jewish boys and girls of the night school classes.

"It is a common thing to hear it said that a large percentage of our working girls compete with the men in the industries because they like to have extra pin money," said Miss Nichols. "The people who hold to this belief complain that woman is driving out the man who needs a living wage. But this is not true. Two years ago statistics were compiled and of 600 girls we questioned only one admitted she didn't have to work either to support herself or to help support her family.

"Woman should go into the industries as a skilled worker. A girl hopes to be married and so she should have both industrial and domestic training. Now she generally has neither.

"Women should have safe and sanitary places in which to work, but our Illinois laws do not grant industrial protection to workers."

JUNIOR PLAY CAUSE OF STORM.

Northwestern Students, Led by Seniors, Threaten to Boycott "Alabama" Because of Prices.

Unless the junior play committee of Northwestern university reduces the present scale of prices for seats Mr. Augustus Thomas will see the production of his "Alabama" played to an empty house April 4. Mr. Thomas is to be the guest of the junior class, having expressed a desire to see what amateurs could do with one of his pieces.

The junior play committee has advanced the price of the seats from 50 to 75 cents, thereby arousing the wrath of the student body. Finally the tempest burst upon the industrious head of Business Manager Tubbs. Delegations of senior called upon him, but he remained firm. The committee, fearing a general boycott and determined not to surrender, has begun to cater to the people of the north shore towns for patronage, it is said.

The coeds, in the meantime, are in a dilemma. If they sympathize with the members of the junior class their escorts will be offended and if they remain faithful they are running chances of missing the performance.

M'KEE LOVE CODE BARED IN COURT.

M. Labori Blushes as He Tells Paris Judges Hidden Meaning of Many Words.

WIFE'S STORY REFUTED.

Every One of Charges by Woman Is Denied; Pittsburger's Case Nearly All In.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, March 25.—The civil tribunal of the Seine renewed today the hearing of the McKee divorce-defamation suit. A. Hart McKee's demand for damages against his wife and her father, Col. Baxter, was again brought to the front by M. Labori, counsel for the Pittsburg man, who read extracts from recently published Paris and American newspapers to prove, as he said, that Mrs. McKee and her father "persisted in ignoring the court and proceeding with their campaign of calumny against Mr. McKee."

M. Labori then resumed his argument, which was interrupted by adjournment of the court last Wednesday. He began with the time when McKee left Mrs. McKee (who then was Mrs. Tevis) at Monte Carlo, and returned to America to prosecute his divorce suit from his first wife.

Labori read a private code which he said the couple had arranged for cable messages. In this code the word "boxer" meant Col. Baxter. Other words, simple enough in themselves, had other meanings—many of them so base the eloquent counsel blushed furiously as he read the code words and their significance.

The code, as it exists, M. Labori said, was partly in Mrs. McKee's handwriting. The most indecent portions were written by McKee.

Denies McKee Knew of Misconduct.

M. Labori denied that McKee knew anything of the alleged immoral relations between Lord Roslyn and Mrs. McKee before he married her. McKee knew, the advocate said, that Roslyn had persecuted her with his attentions, but he did not suspect anything further until certain papers were found in the house at Varennes.

M. Labori then read a long and most passionate letter from Mrs. McKee to McKee and several telegrams in which indecent words were used. These he supplemented by reading one of thirty letters which he said Mrs. Tevis wrote to McKee between Nov. 11 and the end of December.

It was dated "Our Boudoir" and interspersed with frequent "darlings." The first sentence told him "how mad she was to see him again." It contained code words that, according to M. Labori, meant things which it was impossible to hint at in print. The letter was signed "Your loving wife, Tom."

Labori also read one letter from McKee to prove that it was not he that needed the code.

Mrs. Tevis, in another letter, offered to go to New York "disguised as a chambermaid with a red wig and to remain concealed till his divorce was secured.

Another letter from her described how she had been in bed all day and gave her exact physical condition.

McKee's first divorce, which cost McKee $400,000, was pronounced Jan. 9. He obtained a license to marry Mrs. Tevis Jan. 11. They were married Jan. 12 and sailed for Europe Jan. 13.

"Poverty" Charge Denied.

Labori vigorously denied that the McKees had lived at a second rate hotel in Paris. Their bill for fifty days had averaged $10 a day.

The lawyer showed the judges two large albums, filled with post cards, menus, and bills, the result of several automobile trips, as proof of the good style in which the couple had lived.

When they took their apartments in Paris they were taken in Mrs. McKee's name, he paying the rent. Labori quoted from Paris and Pittsburg newspapers accounts of McKee's successes in society as proof that Mrs. McKee then was happy.

He also produced letters from her mother and one from her sister thanking "Brother Hart" for his post card.

The couple agreed later, said Labori, to rent a house for twelve years at a rental of $6,000 a year. They agreed to spend $24,000 in decorating it and $15,000 for furniture. The rupture came before they moved into the house, and McKee paid $6,000 to break the lease and $4,000 more to break the furniture agreement.

According to M. Labori, absolute happiness existed between the couple until the end of July. He read a letter from McKee begging his wife to return in August, which contained the words: "Return for love of the baby. Give me another chance. Come, come, come,"—words which M. Labori indignantly denied were a confession of any wrongdoing.

He read also a post card of the same period on which McKee asked Mrs. McKee to return and added: "I am sorry I am bad." Here, M. Labori said, McKee wrote like a little boy.

Calls Charges False.

Coming to the twenty-seven direct charges in the case, M. Labori heatedly repelled the accusation of suborning witnesses, declaring it was based on the talk of servants.

He bitterly denounced Maitre Barboux's description of his client and the press campaign, which he declared had driven his client and his family to become outcasts from their home and compelled them to live abroad.

Continuing, M. Labori said:

"I am defending an honest man and his innocent family against a vicious woman. Mrs. McKee is mistaken if she believes the privileges of beauty will excuse her attitude before a French tribunal."

M. Labori told of the Marquis Guglielmo meeting Mrs. McKee in Rome in 1903, when he was 23 years old. He fell desperately in love with her, and so became the direct cause of her quitting the house at Varennes.

Miss Lawler was visiting Varennes at the time and she assisted the marquis and Mrs. McKee in their intrigue, but later refused to help McKee towards a reconciliation, although the elder Mrs. McKee had believed Miss Lawler was extremely friendly with her family.

M. Labori was especially scornful regarding the charge referring to the McKees having thirty-two servants. He declared Mrs. McKee had only five during her married life.

He poured further scorn on the only three affidavits produced, saying the cook who complained of McKee's attentions was 57 years old.

Denies "Robbing" Stepson.

He stigmatized the charges of cruelty to Hugh Tevis, Mrs. McKee's son by her first husband, as utterly unfounded. As proof of this he quoted from many letters. One was from Mrs. Ellen Wicks, Mrs. McKee's aunt, in which she addressed McKee as her nephew and concluded with "Hugh joins with me in love."

In another McKee referred to "my sons, for I consider Hugh my own child." The lawyer also quoted many kind references to Hugh from Mrs. McKee's mother's letters. Another showed McKee's annoyance because a present he had ordered for Hugh had not been delivered.

M. Labori gave details of Hugh's fortune, which he said amounted to $2,500,000. He had received $1,500,000 from his maternal grandfather, which was entirely in the hands of two trustees, and $500,000 from his father, which Mrs. McKee managed, but McKee, so far from thinking of robbing his stepson, looked out closely for his interests.

It was Mrs. McKee who always was needing money, not McKee. She always was seeking more from her husband's estate.

After speaking for four hours Maitre Labori said he would probably talk for an hour or more on April 1.

ROAD'S OVERCHARGE CLERK IS ON PAY, UNDER INQUIRY.

Marcellus A. Pratt of the Chicago and Northwestern Reads Dickens While His Accounts Are Investigated.

Whether the overcharge department of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad in the Chicago headquarters is short about $7,000 or not will be learned at the close of an investigation into the accounts of Marcellus A. Pratt, 229 Oak street, an employé of the overcharge department. The cause of the investigation was the report of Auditor J. A. Williams that discrepancies existed in Pratt's accounts.

As he sat in the office of Special Agent Riley yesterday reading a volume of Dickens, Pratt said that he was not worrying. He has been suspended from his position for nearly two months, although drawing full pay, until the result of the investigation is announced. He is not bonded, and the surety company which bonded his immediate superior has "diplomatically hesitated" to make good the alleged shortage.

"I am not under surveillance in any real sense," he explained. "The company thinks it has something on me and has been trying to find out what it is."

"The investigation is under way," said Vice President M. M. Kirkman. "Meanwhile Pratt is spending his time with special agents of the road. It is not true that he has the 'goods' on the company in the matter of overcharges. No matter what turns up, the company will not lose a cent of money."

VANDERBILT ROW STILL MYSTERY.

Alfred Gwynne Refuses to Admit Separation from His Wife.

SHE JOINS HER BROTHER.

May Do as She Pleases, Says Husband, Who Sails for Europe on Saturday.

New York, March 25.—[Special.]—Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt would not admit when seen at the Knickerbocker club today that he and his wife, Elsie French Vanderbilt, had separated. Mrs. Vanderbilt, who moved her belongings from Oakland farm at Newport, has gone to the home of her brother, Amos Tuck French, president of the Manhattan Trust company, in Tuxedo Park.

"I don't care to talk about the matter," said Mr. Vanderbilt.

"Will you confirm or deny the story that a separation has been agreed upon?"

"I will not," said Mr. Vanderbilt, flatly.

"Have you been served with papers in a divorce proceeding?"

"If it was true," he said, "I wouldn't mind saying so, but it isn't true."

Don't Know Why She Left.

Mr. Vanderbilt said he did not know why his wife left Oakland farm. "If I knew I wouldn't have any hesitancy in giving the reason," he said. "Mrs. Vanderbilt is free to do as she pleases."

"Mr. Vanderbilt has never discussed any question of separation with me," said Chandler P. Anderson, counsel for Vanderbilt. "It is all news to me and I do not believe it is true."

Amos Tuck French said he did not care to make any statement concerning the reported disagreement between his sister and her husband.

"I see no reason why I should be drawn into Mr. Vanderbilt's affairs," said he. "My sister will spend the summer at my home. That is all I have to say."

Vanderbilt Going to England.

Mr. Vanderbilt will sail for England next Saturday for a long stay. He will run his coach Venture between London and Brighton. His famous matched grays were sent over some time ago to be prepared for the road.

Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt have one son, William, who was born in 1901. His mother and father have been much apart, Mrs. Vanderbilt being occupied with social affairs and Mr. Vanderbilt paying most of his attention to his stable of show and coach horses.

The old farm house at Oakland was closed today and the keys delivered over to the caretaker of the place. Not since Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt were married has the residence been shut.

Mrs. Vanderbilt always made the house her headquarters, returning to it frequently from the Adirondacks, New York City, or Europe.

In the separation Mrs. Vanderbilt evidently is to have the custody of her son, who drives with her wherever she goes. The boy is a sturdy youth, light complexioned, like his mother, and in general appearance resembles her family.

Among the articles which Mrs. Vanderbilt had shipped to Tuxedo on Tuesday were many of her wedding gifts. Many pictures, among them the Munsig painting of Mrs. Vanderbilt, were taken to her brother's home.

"In 1896, at the age of 50 years, I collapsed from excessive coffee drinking," writes a man in Missouri. "For four years I shambled about with the aid of crutches or cane, most of the time unable to dress myself without help.

"My feet were greatly swollen, my right arm was shrunken and twisted inward, the fingers of my right hand were clenched and could not be extended except with great effort and pain. Nothing seemed to give me more than temporary relief.

"Now, during all this time and for about thirty years previously, I drank daily an average of six cups of strong coffee—rarely missing a meal.

"My wife at last took my case into her own hands and bought some Postum. She made it according to directions and I liked it fully as well as the best high grade coffee.

"Improvement set in at once. In about six months I began to work a little, and in less than a year I was very much better, improving rapidly from day to day. I am now in far better health than most men of my years, and apparently growing stronger with advancing age.

"I am busy every day at some kind of work and am able to keep up with the procession without a cane. The arm and hand that were once almost useless now keep far ahead in rapidity of movement and beauty of penmanship."

RESCUE GIRL FROM CHINAMAN; SHE CLAIMS TO BE HIS WIFE.

Police Find 17 Year Old Runaway, Supposed to Be from Baltimore, a Prisoner in Custom House Place.

Living in a squalid room with a Chinaman at 94 Custom House place, a young white girl, apparently 16 or 17 years of age, was arrested last night by Inspector Wheeler of the Harrison street police station. According to information received by the police, she has been locked up there nine weeks.

It is believed that the girl ran away from her home in Baltimore. She was dressed in expensive clothing, a fur coat she wore being worth $300.

The only information she would give of herself was that she was the wife of the Chinaman. She declared that she was married to him two years ago at Norfolk, Va., when she was 19 years old. Inspector Wheeler and the matron at the Harrison street annex say she is not more than 17 years of age. She said the Chinaman's name was Charley Lee.

The name of Harry G. Glickman, 1819 McCullogh street, Baltimore, Md., was found in her room.

Philadelphia Man Succumbs as Result of Excitement Over Drama and Foul Air.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 25.—[Special.]—Overcome by excitement in witnessing an Indian fight in a 5 cent moving picture show, John Macatee of 1004 Dickinson street, dropped dead this evening after watching the spectacle. The moving picture show was at 1111 Market street. Physicians said excitement, combined with foul air, was the cause of death.

FLIGHT FOLLOWS BOMB EXPLOSION.

John Koppleman Leaves Lake Station, Ind., After Dynamite Outrage in Night.

BLAST IMPERILS LIVES.

Residence Jarred and Independent Reformer Blames Gamblers of Gary.

The residence of John Koppleman at Lake Station, Ind., on the Michigan Central railroad, was wrecked by a dynamite bomb Tuesday night, presumably by persons whose enmity he incurred by ridding that section of the country of slot machines.

Koppleman and his aged mother, Mrs. Emma Koppleman, were the sole occupants of the house. She was slightly injured by flying splinters and breaking glass, but the son escaped unhurt. The latter soon regained his composure and expressed the opinion that the gambling interests of Gary were responsible for the deed. Yesterday the balance of the 200 villagers were of the same belief.

Koppleman at first asserted he would remain there in the face of danger, but he finally listened to the pleadings of his frightened mother and together they drove off to spend the night in hiding.

Before departing Koppleman said he would dispose of his grain farm and stock at public sale next Tuesday and take up a residence elsewhere.

A strange man was seen to enter the village about 8 o'clock, the night of the outrage, and after remaining but a few minutes was observed making his way to Gary at a fast pace. Shortly after the dynamite bomb, which had a fuse attachment, exploded. It was placed under a bay window as close as possible to a table where Koppleman and his mother sat partaking of the evening meal.

Koppleman has been known as a sort of "local reformer" for many years. He belonged to no law and order regulating society, but it is said that two months ago Koppleman went on a still hunt for the contraband goods and through his efforts 100 machines were confiscated and destroyed in Gary, which is five miles west of Lake Station. He also put two machines out of commission at Miller.

SHONTS DUKE SUED FOR TAILOR'S BILL

De Chaulnes Attacks Legality of Service in Action to Recover $2,000.

NEW STUDY OF ESKIMO.

Ethnologist Plans Trip Where Arctic Natives Never Saw White Men.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE, New York, March 25.

Duc de Chaulnes Sued for Tailor's Bill.

Burt L. Rich, counsel for duc de Chaulnes, who was married recently to Miss Theodora Shonts, daughter of Theodore P. Shonts, appeared today before Justice Conlan in the City court and asked to have set aside as void the service of a summons in a suit begun by James F. Hannigan, as assignee for James Cavanaugh, a London tailor, to recover $2,000 from the duke on a tailor's bill contracted in 1901. The bill is for $1,345, and interest brings it up to $2,000.

Gates Hamburger, a lawyer at 21 Park row, is attorney for Hannigan. Mr. Hamburger said today he got a letter a week ago from London putting the claim in his hands. The tailor wrote he had heard of the duke's marriage and thought there ought to be no trouble in collecting the bill. Hamburger filed complaint in the City court on March 16. Papers filed with Justice Conlan show service of the summons was made on March 16 at the residence of Mr. Shonts. The process server, Mayer H. Touster, declared the person he served was pointed out to him as duc de Chaulnes by the chauffeur in charge of the automobile outside the Shonts house.

Mr. Rich set forth that the summons had not been served upon the duke but upon the duke's cousin, the Baron Louis de Condé. It is said in behalf of the duke that he could have paid the bill at any time since he contracted it if he had been so inclined.

Ethnologist Going to Arctic to Study Eskimos.

V. Stefansson, the ethnologist who spent the winter of 1906-'7 in the tents of the Eskimos in the region of the delta of the Mackenzie river, is preparing to start next month for the mouth of Coppermine river, about 460 miles east of the Mackenzie, to spend another year among the natives. Near the mouth of that river and in Prince Albert land, a large island north of it, there are Eskimo tribes that never have seen white men. They, therefore, are especially good subjects for study.

Inquest Fails to Solve Baker Mystery.

The inquest into the death of Walter Farnsworth Baker, which has been going on at Hackensack for several weeks, was brought to a close when the coroner's jury, after being out two hours, returned a verdict that Baker's death was due to arsenical poisoning, the poison being administered by some person or persons unknown to the jury. No surprise was created by the verdict, as it had been freely predicted that only such a verdict could be reached from the evidence brought out at the hearing.

A new witness was called today in the person of Mabel Wiggins, cousin of Mrs. Hurd and a school teacher in Hoboken. Miss Wiggins was present in the apartments of Mrs. Young at Nottingham the night Baker died, and heard Frank Hurd talk with Baker over the telephone concerning an automobile trip to Bogota. Miss Wiggins was unable to shed any new light on the mystery.

The only other witness called was Elvina Aholl, a maid. She also was expected to furnish some additional startling testimony, but the prosecutor failed to get anything of interest from her.

Build Tower Seventy Feet Higher than Singer.

A revision of the plans for the uncompleted tower of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company's building on Madison square shows that the steel supports can bear more weight, and the architects have practically decided to add twenty-five feet to the tower, previously planned to reach 658 feet above the sidewalk. There will be a lookout about 675 feet above the curbing, according to the revised plans.

At 683 the Metropolitan tower will be about seventy feet higher than the Singer building tower. When completed there will be but one structure in the world of a greater height than the Metropolitan tower—the Eiffel tower, in Paris.

Former Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, was selected at a meeting today of the board of governors of the Automobile Club of America for the office of president on the ticket to be placed in nomination at the annual election of officers, April 14. Mr. Gary consented to take the presidency of the club, and will succeed Colgate Hoyt, who declined a renomination.

BRYAN HITS THEFT OF POWER.

Styles Action of Kentucky Democrats Who Elected Republican Senator a Betrayal of Trust.

Richmond, Va., March 25.—William Jennings Bryan in an address here tonight referred to what he termed the "embezzlement of power" by a public official. He said he believed the time would come when a man who turned public office to private advantage will be whipped from society along with the embezzler of money.

Referring to the election of a republican senator in Kentucky by the aid of four democratic votes, Mr. Bryan said:

"These four men were either elected after the decision at the primary or elected committed to the party. No one would have been elected to office if he had announced in advance that he would vote for a republican. Not one would have voted for a republican if his constituents had suspected it. As an individual they might have done so; as representatives they occupied a position of trust and had no right to substitute their judgment for the judgment of those who elected them. There was no excuse for such betrayal of a public trust. A representative has no right to substitute his judgment for that of the people, whose voice should be supreme."

STRIFE IN IOWA DEMOCRACY.

Nebraskan's Followers Will Try in Convention Today to Oust Chairman Miller.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., March 25.—[Special.]—Charges that Chairman Miller of the state central committee accepted money from railroads in the campaign of 1906 have been revived by Bryan followers, who will begin a fight in the convention tomorrow to get his scalp. Miller denies the charge.

The convention probably will adopt the Nebraska platform, Mr. Bryan having requested such action.

Claude Porter will be one of the delegates at large. Other names mentioned are Judge Wade of Iowa City, Jerry Sullivan of Des Moines, Gen. Weaver, Judge A. Van Wagenen of Sioux City, Judge Carr of Manchester, E. M. Sharon of Davenport, Sam Wadsworth of Council Bluffs, and Congressman Dan Hamilton of Oskaloosa.

Baby Abandoned on Doorstep.

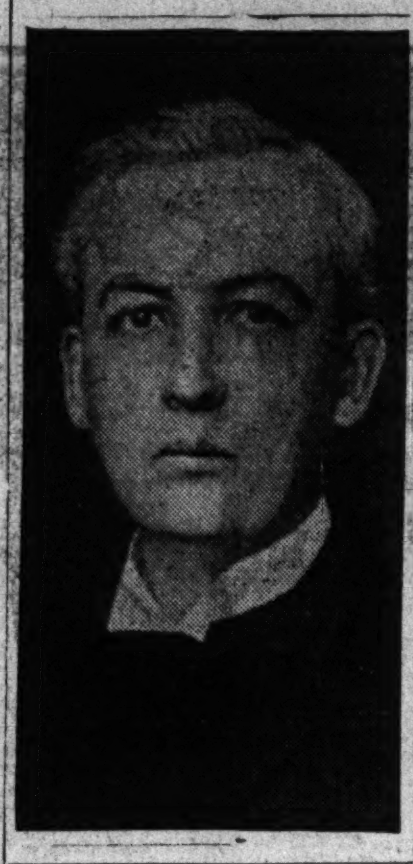
Minister Cited for Contempt of Court.



PULPIT VS. BENCH; BOUT NO. 2 TODAY.

tion of the court by lawyers in the case. Attorney Levy Mayer presented an order for citation for contempt, and had some things to say. He spoke to the court of the utterances of the pastor as a "most serious and infamous charge" against the integrity of the court, as "an inexcusable violation of not only the ordinary rules of propriety and common decency" but more inexcusable as coming from a man who "assumes to himself the garb of an instructor, of a leader in the community, whose endeavor and whose duty it should be to inculcate in the minds of the people respect for law and order."

"An example," said Mr. Mayer, "should be made of one who can so far forget himself as to traduce, dishonor, and despoil the reputation, character, and integrity of the American judiciary, because the attack he has made is not upon your honor as an individual, but upon the bench of this country, and if what he has done can go unpunished, then the last stone upon which the purity and the preservation of American institutions depend will have been swept away as if the ocean had ingulfed this country."

Fisher Denounces Shute.

Then Walter L. Fisher, who represented the election commission in the lawsuit, had a few remarks to make. While Mr. Fisher was perhaps not so personal as had been Mr. Mayer, he was not any more complimentary to the pastor of Wesley church, among other things saying:

"While I presume that under our forms of law a citizen in any community has a right to comment upon the decision of a court after it has been rendered, no one could state any more emphatically than I do an indignant condemnation of any attack upon the personal character or motives of the particular judge who rendered the decision in this case, or any judge in any case against whom that particular citizen was not willing to make charges that would really present in a form that could be substantiated the attack he intended to make on the personal character of the judge.

"Nor can any one speak more emphatically than I would speak upon the necessity of maintaining the integrity of the bench and the esteem in which it is held in this community.

No Excuse for It.

"In this case there can be no excuse for the language which was used with regard to the personal character or conduct of the judge, and the particular thing in this interview which I would condemn is the language: 'That the man, the mayor, or the judge who will authorize the placing upon an election ballot the proposition, Shall the Law Be Upheld, is a far worse lawbreaker than are those men tried in our police courts each day for larceny and burglary.'

"The inevitable effect of a statement of that kind under the circumstances that exist in this case would be, in my judgment, to bring into disrespect the court that had rendered the particular decision here, and I think that no justification can be made for that.

"What action should be taken in the matter is entirely in the hands of your honor, as it should be.

Citation Served on Minister.

Harry Rubens followed Mr. Fisher with the statement that while such an attack on a court might be overlooked or at least condoned in a private suit where there were only two persons interested and the public absolutely indifferent, it could not be overlooked in a case like the present one, in which practically the entire community is concerned and men's passions stirred.

When served with the contempt citation Mr. Shute acknowledged he had been quoted correctly. He seemingly could not understand how he was to be held accountable for what he had said. It is said, however, that the law in contempt cases is plain. When a case is finally decided and out of the jurisdiction of the judge then anybody who criticises the judge or the court is liable only to the penalties for slander or libel. But when he makes his attack while the case is still pending then he can be punished for contempt of court on the ground that he is trying to influence it. This case is still pending. Argument will be had on it at 2 o'clock this afternoon after the contempt case is decided.

TAGGART SUPREME IN HOOSIER STATE

Boss Whips Convention Into Line and Runs Things All His Way.

ANTIS CURSE AND FIGHT.

Delegates to Denver Are for Bryan; Ralston in Lead for Governor.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 25.—[Special.]—Thomas Taggart has won his fight for control of the democratic state convention now in session. He will be reelected national committeeman from Indiana.

He captured the district delegates to the national convention and got men of his own picking on the credentials committee. This was important, as the convention contained over 200 contested delegates.

Most of these were unfriendly to the national chairman, and most of them were unseated.

Delegates this afternoon by districts selected twenty-six delegates to Denver, and the committee on rules four at large. The thirty will vote for William J. Bryan for president.

At midnight the committee on resolutions was still wrestling with the platform. An all night session was predicted.

The platform probably will contain planks declaring for limited local option, home rule for cities, tariff revision, antitrust legislation, and insurance reform.

Looks Like Ralston for Governor.

It looks now as if Samuel M. Ralston of Lebanon will be nominated for governor on an early ballot, perhaps the first, and, if not on the first, on the second or third. Ralston is Taggart's choice.

The district meetings did not accept Taggart's domination graciously. Fights occurred in two of them. It took twenty policemen to prevent a free for all in the meeting of the Seventh district, which comprises Indianapolis.

Blows were exchanged, curses hurled back and forth, clothes torn, and clubs used by bluecoats.

Taggart was present. His pleas and demands for peace and order fell on deaf ears and the air was rent with anathemas involving his name.

Antis Hold Rump Meeting.

Enraged over the action of the Taggart men, who had charge of the meeting, in attempting to name a credentials committee, the antis jumped to their feet with oaths and organized a meeting of their own within the meeting. Charles B. Clark, one of the leaders of the anti-Taggart forces, was made chairman of the rump meeting and got on a chair to preside, but was pulled down by a dozen regulars.

This was the signal for a general row. The police were ordered by the Taggart men to break up the rump meeting, but the antis were persistent despite jeers, catcalls, curses, and blows.

They finished their convention, naming district delegates to the national convention and a full set of officers for the state convention. Their work completed, they left the meeting.

Delegates named by the antis for the Denver convention were Edward B. Raub and Wallace Mains, two ardent opponents of Taggart.

After the antis had quit the hall the regulars proceeded with their convention.

Delegates to National Convention.

The national delegates at large selected by the committee on rules and the district delegates are:

Named Fourth Time for Congress.

Washington, Ind., March 25.—[Special.]—Congressman John C. Shaney of Sullivan was this afternoon renominated for congress from the second Indiana district. His fourth nomination was made by acclamation. Resolutions were adopted, indorsing Charles W. Fairbanks for the presidency and favoring James A. Hemenway for United States senator.

OHIO DEMOCRATS IN A ROW.

Attempt to Indorse Bryan in a "Harmony" Conference Causes a Discord.

Columbus, O., March 25.—[Special.]—The state democratic "harmony" conference tonight broke up in a row owing to a desire of W. J. Bryan's friends to indorse him. A resolution providing that the state convention indorse a candidate for United States senator was knocked out because it was believed to be a move in behalf of former Gov. Campbell. Next a Bryan indorsement resolution was declared out of order.

H. H. McFadden of Steubenville was repeatedly declared out of order during a speech in Bryan's behalf and finally he called upon all in the crowd who were for Bryan to stand up. Nearly two-thirds of those present arose amid great enthusiasm.

Mayor Tom L. Johnson, whose quarrel with State Chairman Garber resulted in the call for the meeting, was present. Garber, who is in poor health, sent a letter, practically withdrawing himself from politics.

The most important development in connection with tonight's meeting was the inauguration of a boom for Judson Harmon for governor. It was said by friends after the meeting that he would accept the nomination if tendered to him.

Women to Be Mr. Daly's Guests.

The women of the Model Lodging house will be the guests of Arnold Daly in his performance of "The Regeneration" tomorrow evening. The invitation was given at the request of the Illinois Women's Press association.

ALL MISERY FROM INDIGESTION VANISHES FIVE MINUTES AFTER

Take your sour stomach—or maybe you call it Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Gastritis or Catarrh of Stomach; it doesn't matter—take your stomach trouble right with you to your Pharmacist and ask him to open a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and let you eat one 22-grain Triangule and see if within five minutes there is left any trace of your former misery.

The correct name for your trouble is Food Fermentation—food souring; the Digestive organs become weak, there is lack of gastric juice; your food is only half digested, and you become affected with loss of appetite, pressure and fullness after eating, vomiting, nausea, heartburn, griping in bowels, tenderness in the pit of stomach, bad taste in mouth, constipation, pain in limbs, sleeplessness, belching of gas, biliousness, sick headache, nervousness, dizziness and many other similar symptoms.

If your appetite is fickle and nothing tempts you, or you belch gas or if you feel bloated after eating, or your food lies like a lump of lead on your stomach, you can make up your mind that at the bottom of all this there is but one cause.

Call your stomach trouble by any name you will, but prove to yourself that the real and only cause is Food Fermentation—Sour Stomach.

A case of Pape's Diapepsin costs only 50 cents and tells plainly on the label the name of each ingredient, to show that these Triangules are as harmless and pleasant as candy—though each Triangule will promptly digest 3,000 grains of food.

Prove to yourself, after your next meal, that your stomach is as good as any; that there is nothing really wrong. Stop this fermentation and begin eating what you want without fear of discomfort or misery.

Your relief is waiting for you. It is merely a matter of how soon you take the first Triangule.

RIOT IN STATE CONVENTION

Tennessee Republicans Battle with Fists and Chairs.

MOUNTAIN MEN IN CONTROL.

Aid Brownlow Faction to Whip H. Clay Evans' Followers.

Nashville, Tenn., March 25.—[Special.]—The feud between the Evans and Brownlow factions of the republican party in Tennessee resulted in a riot in the state convention today. Five hundred mountaineers from the eastern part of the state held the hall against the Evans men in a battle with fists, feet, and chairs.

In the course of the riot R. T. Cameron of Chattanooga, a Brownlow man, is said to have broken four folding chairs on the head of a negro delegate who had given him some "back talk."

One man brandished a hatchet and another drew a pistol, but neither weapon was used.

W. J. Oliver brought the mountaineers to Nashville on a special train. Mr. Oliver is a supporter of Congressman Walter P. Brownlow and an enemy of H. Clay Evans, former consul general at London, and once commissioner of pensions. The Evans faction controls the state executive committee. Four members of the committee were placed on guard in the hall of the house of representatives last night with instructions to prevent the Brownlow men from taking possession.

Mountaineers Take the Hall.

Shortly after 6 o'clock the mountaineers marched to the capitol and threw the Evans men out. At 10 o'clock, the time for the convention to begin, the Evans men, headed by Newell Sanders, state chairman, invaded the hall. Then the fight began.

Sanders tried to mount the platform to call the convention to order. A pair of bony hands, backed up by the strength of a giant mountaineer, clutched his throat. Sanders was choked almost to unconsciousness as his followers fought to rescue him.

Sanders, United States Marshal Duggan, Deputy Marshal McLain, and other Evans men fought like demons. Collars and ties were torn off; men were smashed in the face, beat on the head, and kicked. Some were picked up bodily and thrown off the top of the speaker's stand out into the surging mass below.

Police Stop the Riot.

One tall mountaineer of the Oliver gang shouted, "We will hold the hall against Evans, Hale, and all hell." The arrival of a squad of police stopped the fight.

After order had been in a measure restored the Oliver people organized and elected as delegates from the state at large to the republican national convention; Daniel Cooper Swan of Claiborne county, Jesse L. Rogers of Knox county, H. C. Anderson of Shelby county, and Jesse M. Littleton of Franklin county.

Ernest Coldwell of Shelbyville was nominated for supreme judge, and W. B. Miller of Chattanooga and B. F. Robinson of Sparta were nominated for judges of the Court of Civil Appeals. W. J. Oliver was indorsed for national committeeman from Tennessee.

The convention commended Taft, Hughes, Fairbanks, Cannon, and Foraker, making no specific indorsement for president.

The policies of President Roosevelt were indorsed, and the "pernicious activity of federal officeholders" was condemned.

Instructions for Taft.

Dickinson, Tenn., March 25.—The Seventh district republican congressional convention here today indorsed the Roosevelt administration, instructed for Taft for president, and declared for George N. Tillman for governor. R. A. Haggard was the choice for delegate at large to the Chicago convention. F. Rivers and E. L. Gregory were chosen district delegates.

ERIN WINS IN LITTLE ITALY.

Hustling Irishman Gets Aldermanic Nomination in Stronghold of His Opponent in Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 25.—[Special.]—Cornelius Corcoran is winner of the aldermanic contest, which is the feature of this year's primaries. His defeated opponent for the democratic nomination for alderman from the Third ward, Milwaukee's little Italy, is an Italian saloonkeeper, Joseph Rittleat.

Corcoran, an aggressive young politician who has served several terms in the council, defeated the Italian on his own stamping ground, campaigning personally and with handbills calling upon the Third ward voters to support him.

Rittleat also made a good fight, hiring boys to parade the streets and cheer for him.

T. J. Pringle has been nominated by the republicans for mayor, and David S. Rose by the democrats.

SPLIT IN EIGHTH MISSISSIPPI.

Taft and Foraker Factions Each Name Two Delegates to the Chicago Convention.

Jackson, Miss., March 25.—[Special.]—The Eighth district republican convention met here today, split in two, and named two sets of delegates to the Chicago convention. The regulars, who are for Taft, named, Wesley Crayton, colored, and M. J. Mulvihill, white, both of Vicksburg, delegates. The bolters, the Foraker crowd, named Percy Howard and the Rev. J. I. Garrett of Rankin county.

ABOUT ADVERTISING—NO. 10.

You Must Irrigate Your Neighborhood.

By Herbert Kaufman.

Half a century ago there were ten million acres of land within a thousand miles of Chicago upon which not even a blade of grass would grow. Today upon these very deserts are wonderful orchards and tremendous wheatfields. The soil itself was full of possibilities. What the land needed was water. In time there came farmers who knew that they could not expect the streams to come to them, and so they dug ditches and led the water to their properties from the surrounding rivers and lakes; they tilled the earth with their brains as well as their plows—they became rich by understanding how to irrigate.

Advertising has made thousands of men rich just because they recognized the possibilities of utilizing the newspapers to bring streams of buyers into neighborhoods that could be made busy locations by irrigation—by drawing people from other sections.

The successful retailer is the man who keeps the stream of purchasers coming his way. It isn't the spot itself that makes the store pay—it's the man who makes the spot pay; who knows how to draw the crowds. Centers of trade are not selected by the public—they are created by the force which controls the public—the newspapers.

New neighborhoods for business are being constantly built up by men who have located themselves in streets which they have changed from deserted by-ways into teeming, jostling thoroughfares through advertising irrigation.

The storekeeper who whines that his neighborhood holds him back is squinting at the truth—he is hurting the neighborhood.

If it lacks streams of buyers he can easily enough secure them by reaching out through the columns of the daily and inducing people from other sections to come to him. Every time he influences a customer of a competitor he is not only irrigating his own field but is drying out the streams upon which a non-advertising merchant depends for existence. Men and women who live next door to a shop that does not plead for their custom will eventually be drawn to an establishment miles away because they have been made to believe in some advantage to be gained thereby.

The circulation of every daily is nothing less than a reservoir of buyers from which shoppers stream in the direction that promises the most value for the least money.

The magic development of the desert lands has its parallel in merchandising of men who consider the newspaper an irrigating power which can make two customers grow where one grew before.

COMMISSION HITS ASYLUM DOCTOR.

Board Scores Dr. Young of Bloomington as 'Grafter' and 'Incompetent.'

PADDED HIS HOTEL BILLS

Dr. Harriet Hook of Lincoln Resigns as the Result of Her "Sleuth" Work.

Springfield, Ill., March 25.—[Special.]—In an excoriating document the state civil service commission today issued a statement condemning Dr. W. M. Young of Bloomington as a "petty grafter" and "incompetent" physician.

The attack was the result of Dr. Young's recent testimony before the state asylum investigating committee at Bloomington to the effect that civil service is a fraud and a failure.

The board cites letters from Dr. Young after his discharge in which he admits padding Chicago hotel bills and using the extra money to buy theater tickets, but justifies himself on the plea that such had been the custom for a long time in the asylum.

Doctor Admits Incompetence.

Dr. Young, accompanied by two women employés and his wife, stopped at a hotel in Chicago in $2 rooms and charged the state $5. He paid the bills for the party.

He also is charged with incompetence, which he admits in his letters. He performed an autopsy by cutting a child's skull from temple to temple.

He admits it was wrong, but says he was tired and nervous.

Dr. Hook Quits Under Fire.

As the result of her detective visit to the home of Ben Giroux in Chicago Dr. Harriett A. Hook, physician at the institution for the feeble minded at Lincoln, today resigned under pressure from the civil service commission.

The members of the commission have been embarrassed because of the woman's imprudent action, and were at pains to explain to Gov. Deneen that they had nothing to do with her visit to the Giroux home.

PROBE FOR PRISON COMMISSION.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Bloomington, Ill., March 25.—[Special.]—The first gun of what probably will be a long campaign of investigation directed against the prison industries commission was fired by the legislative investigating committee today. Experts were examined at the soldiers' orphans' home who cited figures purporting to show that the state institutions are compelled to pay from 10 to 50 per cent more for goods purchased at wholesale through this commission than they would pay at retail on the open market.

The peculiar feature of this state of affairs is that the state alone, as far as has been shown, is the gainer by the supposed exorbitant prices. As the prison industries commission only sells goods to state institutions which are made in other institutions, the transaction looked at first glance like a simple process of removing money from one pocket and placing it in another.

Although the members of the committee would not discuss such information as to the operations of the board as is not yet in evidence, they hinted that the mystery surrounding the final disposition of the difference between the "regular" prices and "prison" prices soon would be dispelled.

Comparison of Prices.

L. B. Merwin, an overall manufacturer of Bloomington, testified to wide discrepancies between the prices paid by the institution here for all overalls worn by boys and those prevailing on the open market. Mr. Merwin and other witnesses made the following comparison between the prices as they now prevail:

Article.	Institution pay.	Market price.
Overalls—large, per dozen	$7.50	$4.75
Overalls, small	4.50	2.00
Shoes, boys'	1.95	1.50
Shoes, girls'	2.00	1.75
Shirts, per dozen	3.50	2.25
Mattresses	2.50	2.00
Iron beds	4.50	2.50

George M. Harris, member of the board of managers of the Soldiers' Orphans' home also complained of the quality of the goods sent to this institution and of the arbitrary manner in which the board is declared to transact its business.

"Many of the overalls are what are known as seconds, which are almost as thin as mosquito bars," said Mr. Harris. "They shrink up on the slightest provocation until there is more of the wearer on the outside than within."

According to his deductions the state institutions get "left overalls" from Pontiac which are below the grade desired. The Sterling company, it was declared, gets the best overalls at about 50 per cent of the price paid by the state institutions.

Shoes which are the product of the Joliet factories are closely related to paper in their general makeup, according to Mr. Harris. Some of them, he declared, did not last over two weeks.

Another complaint was against the law which compels the institutions to buy even "short orders" from the prison industries board. Mr. Harris declared that when a half dozen brooms were needed they might be compelled to wait two months before the order would be filled. Meanwhile unless the superintendent wished to pay for the missing articles out of his own salary, the houses were cleaned without brooms.

Scope of Inquiry Questioned.

Before the investigating committee left Pontiac C. A. Purdunn, member of the board of managers and president of the prisons industries commission, declared that the resolution under which the legislative committee is working did not admit of investigation of the prison board or of the Chester asylum for criminal insane. The resolution, he said, only was intended to include the institutions which were under the head of "charitable institutions."

Representative Hope pointed out, however, that the resolution should have named "all charitable and other institutions." "That of course includes this commission, and it certainly shall be brought within the scope of our probe," said Mr. Hope.

This afternoon's session at the Orphans' home concluded the operations of the committee until the close of the political season at Springfield. With the exception of Representative Manny the committee members have gone to attend the state convention there. Mr. Manny will go to Chicago tomorrow morning to continue the investigation of the Hamlin case.

It is expected that at least one session of the committee will be held in Chicago, at which Bishop Samuel Fallows, president of the board of managers of the Pontiac reformatory, will be a witness.

ASK MORE TIME TO INSURE $800,000 HARPER LIBRARY.

With Only One Week Left, Chicago University Lacks $43,000 of Sum Necessary to Secure Gift.

With only one week left in which to secure $43,000 of the $200,000 needed to insure John D. Rockefeller's gift of $600,000 for the William Rainey Harper Memorial library, the University of Chicago has asked the founder of the institution for an extension of time. The head of the Standard Oil company gave the university until April 1 to fulfill its part of the bargain.

Mr. Rockefeller last fall offered to donate $3 for every dollar subscribed to the library fund by others. To date $157,000 has been subscribed.

Dr. T. W. Goodspeed, registrar of the university, expects Mr. Rockefeller to extend the time a month.

sessions for the discussion of school business formed the topic of a debate which ran through the entire session. It was this which, for once, obliterated party lines and, for a time, came perilously, sometimes amusingly near to establishing a new division of the school board forces.

Trustee Dawes began the attack on the executive sessions, thus placing himself squarely against President Schneider, who has favored the discussion of school matters behind closed doors.

Attacks "Star Chamber."

"Our inquiry into the charges against the principal of the school for crippled children," said Mr. Dawes, "is the last executive session I am going to attend. I don't believe in pretending to discuss affairs in secret when our proceedings appear almost verbatim the next morning in the public prints."

Trustees Post, Guerin, De Bey, and Sonsteby agreed with Mr. Dawes, Trustee Post presenting an amendment to the present rule providing that at the adjournment of an executive session all obligation to secrecy shall be removed. The amendment was lost in a parliamentary mixup, and it did not occur to any one to take action on it.

Trustees White and O'Ryan advocated the star chamber plan, and, despite the apparent disposition of the majority of the trustees to discuss things on the floor of the board, the two succeeded in having the Sabin appointment sent back to committee, where, presumably, another demand for a secret session will be made.

Leave Only the Principal.

The Spaulding school investigation, which precipitated the star chamber discussion, was disposed of as predicted in THE TRIBUNE yesterday. The entire teaching force was ordered transferred to other schools, and Principal Krauskopf was left to reorganize his staff.

Mr. Mills opposed the measure in a heated speech which revealed clearly the intended direction of the attack on the school principal.

"A condition has developed over there this year," he said, "which is abominable—perhaps intolerable. The teachers are not to blame for this; the principal is not to blame. The blame for that condition rests on the administration in this building!"

Mr. Mills didn't arouse any particular sympathy by his spectacular outburst, and the measure was carried by a vote of 13 to 3. Dr. White, who led the opposition to Principal Krauskopf at the "investigation," asked to be excused from voting.

Exciting Debate Over Salaries.

The most excited discussion of the evening, however, was brought on by an effort of Mr. Sonsteby and Mr. Harding to secure an advance in pay for eleven civil service firemen from $75 to [illegible] a month. The matter had been discussed at length by the buildings and grounds and finance committees and reported on unfavorably, and Mr. Sonsteby tried to have the measure acted on favorably over the committees' reports.

At one point in the debate Trustees Harding, Robins, O'Ryan, and Mills were on their feet at once charging President Schneider with "gag rule." Mr. Harding was white with anger.

"Have you the right to determine whether or not I shall speak on this motion?" he shouted to the president.

"Yes," returned President Schneider calmly, "but say whatever you like!"

Later Mr. Spiegel, Mr. Mills, and Mr. Robins had a little mixup, in which the lie was passed as courteously as the circumstances would allow.

"We're not running the schools for our employés," said Mr. Spiegel.

"No; we're supposed to be running them for the teachers, and I'll have something to say about that at a later meeting," retorted Mr. Mills.

The original report was sent back to the finance committee finally by a vote of 9 to 8.

Vote for Salary Increases.

Increases in salary were given to ninety-two office employés and department officials, the changes being in accordance with the schedule in effect since 1906. The raises range from $50 to $1,000 a year, and date chiefly from Jan. 1, 1908. The most important are:

	Salary, 1907.	Salary, 1908.
Lewis F. Larson, secretary of the board	$4,000	$5,000
Fred Vogt, assistant auditor	2,500	3,000
Henry Suder, supervisor of physical culture	3,000	3,500
William M. Roberts, assistant superintendent	3,000	3,500
Charles P. Megan, assistant superintendent	3,000	3,500

Transfers and promotions to nine principalships were made, as announced by THE TRIBUNE last Sunday, the one exception in the list being that of Principal Sabin.

STANFORD OUSTS 41 PUPILS

Action May Result in 100 Quitting the University.

CAUSED BY PROHIBITION.

General Walk Out Threatened Because of Faculty's Decision.

Stanford University, Cal., March 25.—[Special.]—Forty-one of the most prominent students here received notice of dismissal today because of the part they took in the demonstration against the enforcement of prohibition on the campus.

Among these are four varsity captains. Aside from these 102 men receive penalties of from five to ten hours, which they will be forced to make up. The result will that fully 100 men will not return to the university and the arbitrary action of the student affairs committee has created a storm of hostile criticism.

It is doubtful if the faculty could have achieved more unpopularity had it suspended the entire 259 men who took part in the parade.

Nearly every man in the parade emphatically expressed today his resentment at what he considered the illogical and unjust findings of the committee.

President Murphy of the associated students has called a meeting for tomorrow. He advises a general walkout as an expression of the student opinion and feeling is so strong tonight that this may take place.

What especially angers the students is that President Jordan should have appointed a fanatical prohibitionist as the head of the student affairs committee. They assert no justice or fair play could be expected from this man who is now in supreme control.

Ann Arbor Student Is Held.

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 25.—[Special.]—Justice Doty this afternoon bound over to the Circuit court Orville Glenn Emerick, freshman, of Galveston, Ind., charged with participating in the student riot in the Star theater here on March 16. Bail was fixed at $1,000, which Emerick furnished. The court then took up the case against Charles Rook of Bowen, Ill. The case against Emerick is looked on as the strongest the prosecution has against any of the students. The state is holding back some evidence against Emerick, it is believed, because only eight witnesses have been examined.

ROSES OF THE EAST MAY WIN

Judges Mark Western Flowers a Shade Lower at Art Institute.

JUNE SPIRIT ABOUT SHOW.

Exhibition Warmly Praised by Large Number in Attendance.

BY JOHN THORPE.

It's pretty near an even fight—this battle of the roses which opened last night at the Art institute under the direction of the American Rose society. At this moment, probably, the east has a shade the better of it, but the west may more than even up this morning. That's what the westerners say.

The people who love roses—and that's everybody—should take advantage of this opportunity and go to see the show of the finest roses ever exhibited in America. I don't know how to express myself for what the rose society has shown us today. Never were so many roses gotten together under one roof; never were there so many perfect flowers; and never was there so much appreciation.

The June rose spirit pervades the exhibition. The promises of exhibiters have more than materialized. Some extra displays which are delightful are the cut flowers of the genuine Cherokee roses from Louisana, shown by Manda of New York. He also shows a rose with double green flowers—a genuine St. Patrick day expression.

New Jersey Sends New Rose.

From New Jersey comes a gem of a rose named Newport Fairy, a most charming flower. The flowers are single, about an inch in diameter, of a bright rose yellow color in the center, in bunches of from sixty to 100 flowers on each stem. This rose is hardy and will grow ten or more feet in a season.

Then there are pigmy roses in one inch pots, with four or more flowers in each, and there are roses on trees twelve feet high, smothered with red and white and yellow flowers. All the new roses were mentioned in THE TRIBUNE of yesterday.

Judges Make Principal Awards.

The judges at last got through the principal awards. The west wins with American beauties and Richmonds, but the east is on top with Killarney. Wyndmoor, a superb rose from Philadelphia, was awarded a silver medal. It probably will displace bridesmaid. The Mrs. Potter Palmer and Mrs. Marshall Field roses are close competitors in what is known as "the best there are."

President Simpson of the American Rose society is astonished at what the Chicago exhibition has shown.

Estelle Taylor on Trial Today.

Miss Estelle Taylor, a former student of Minnesota university, will be placed on trial in the Criminal court before Judge Brentano this morning. The four Evanston tradesmen upon whom she passed bogus checks while she was on a visit in Chicago from Galesburg have been subpœnaed to appear against her. Former Judge Charles G. Neely has been retained by Galesburg friends of Miss Taylor as her counsel.

AIMS AT CONTROL BY PRIMARY VOTE

Law and Order League Has Comprehensive Plan to Elect Its Friends.

WILL LIST THE VOTERS.

Then Urges Followers to Work Through Their Respective Parties.

A step looking toward the control of Chicago's elective offices by domination of the primaries has been made by the Chicago Law and Order league. It embraces the bringing together of all men in the various political parties who stand, as the league puts it, "for good government."

The scheme is a large one. A committee of the organization, which is arranging the preliminary work, proposes to list the name of every voter in Chicago who is believed to be in sympathy with the objects of the movement. These names are being classified according to wards and precincts.

Each voter that signed the petition against the placing of the Sunday question on the little ballot will be considered for membership in the new organization. Pastors of churches, directors of all religious and semireligious organizations, and many others are being asked to send in names of those who should be members of the association.

Voters to Stay in Own Parties.

It is not expected that these voters will leave the political parties with which they are now affiliated. When the time is ready the members will be notified of a general meeting in each ward. The object of the organization will then be outlined. Afterward they will separate into the political group to which the member belongs.

It will then be the duty of the group to see at the primary that men who stand for good government are nominated as candidates. Each group may agree upon a different man—that is, the republican group may agree upon a republican, the democratic group upon a democrat, and prohibitionists upon a prohibitionist.

"In this way we shall have all good candidates," said T. J. Owen, the originator of the plan and a member of the Law and Order league, last night.

"It is not proposed to do the work of the Municipal Voters' league. The Municipal Voters' league now investigates the records of the candidates and makes recommendations accordingly. By our plan we propose that the voters themselves shall do their own investigating and, more than that, they shall take an interest in the primary elections that they have never taken under the old system and shall see that the right sort of men are nominated.

"Our plan involves a heavy expense. It means that with a tabulated card system a large force of help will be required. But if any real good is ever going to come to Chicago these men who stand for the best must be ready for a sacrifice, and it is upon them that the burden lies."

Next Election Too Soon.

The new movement will not attempt to affect the April elections. The preliminary work has only begun. Then the primary law does not go into effect until July 1 and it is under the new law that the organization sees hope for its work.

E. J. Davis is the chairman of the committee of the Law and Order league that is pushing the new movement. Mr. Owen, Dr. A. O. Shepard, and the Rev. A. Lincoln Shute, who has just been cited before Judge Walker to answer charges of contempt of court, are other members of the committee.

RANK RESTORED TO SEVEN POLICEMEN; FOUR ARE FINED.

Sergeants Reduced by Kipley Reinstated on Court Order—One Patrolman Is Discharged.

The civil service commission yesterday complied with Judge Gibbons' order to reinstate seven patrolmen who were reduced from the rank of sergeant in 1897 by former Chief Joseph Kipley. Two patrolmen who were dropped at the same time also were reinstated.

The men restored to the rank of sergeant are William McKenzie, John J. Henning, Gustave Thoma, John Waage, John Reich, William H. Van Pelt, and Patrolman Zachary. Patrick C. Loftus and Charles L. Griebenow were reinstated as patrolmen.

Failure of Patrolman Thomas Feeney to tell the truth cost him a fine of twenty days' pay. Three other policemen were fined by the trial board on charges of intoxication, and one was discharged.

The others fined were Desk Sergeant Gallagher and Patrolmen Henry V. Murry and James J. Coyle. William H. Hornish, a probationary patrolman, was dismissed from the service.

Trial board charges against three policemen were filed with Chief Shippy. Policeman Herbert J. Allen of Hudson avenue station and Thomas Clark, a patrol driver, are accused of brawling.

DISAVOW BAD SCHOOL DEAL

Trustees Placing Blame for Paying $25,000 for $9,000 Site.

BOUGHT OF PALMER ESTATE.

Committee Says It Hopes Seller Will Refund Part of Money.

School trustees of three administrations joined yesterday in a hunt for $15,000 that was said to have been paid out "without value received" in the purchase of a piece of west side property more than two years ago. A special committee appointed from the committee on buildings and grounds began an investigation which proved that $25,000 was paid at that time for property that now is pronounced worth less than $9,000.

The committee rooms were the scene of an excited gathering. Sixteen persons were determined that the responsibility for the excessive valuation should be placed where it belonged. Some of them were fully as determined that it should not rest upon their shoulders.

The hope of the present committee is that when the facts of the case are established the seller of the property, the Potter Palmer estate, will make restitution to the board.

Purchase from Palmer Estate.

The purchase under fire was that of 250 feet of frontage on the west side of Robey street, south of Polk steet. This site was chosen upon the recommendation of the committee on buildings and grounds after an approving report had been signed by a subcommittee composed of Trustees Chvatal, Weil, and Kuflewski.

Later representatives of the Destitute Crippled Children's home, Paulina street and Park avenue, asked that the school be erected nearer to their building. This plea was granted and a new site was purchased for $34,000, where the Jesse Spalding school now stands.

President Schneider, on a tour of inspection of possible school sites, recently visited the Robey street property and subsequently requested an estimate of its worth from the real estate board. The reply that its value was $8,750 startled him and the investigation was begun.

All Factions at Meeting.

Trustee Guerin, chairman of the investigating committee, sent out requests for all trustees, former and present, who might supply information to be present, and the result was a mixture of factions. Trustee White and former Trustees Weil and Chvatal represented the Harrison appointees. Of the Dunne selections who regained their places by a Supreme court ruling, Trustees Robins, Post, De Bey, Sonsteby, and Harding were present. Former President Emil C. Ritter and Trustee Spiegel also were with this gathering. Of the Busse appointees there were President Schneider and Trustee Greifenhagen.

"When I signed it," said Dr. Chvatal, "I thought the board had seen the property and that an appraisal had been made. I don't know anything about property."

"Wasn't it discussed in committee meeting?" asked Louis Post.

"Somebody said Duddleston knew all about it and I judged it was the action of the whole committee," replied Chvatal.

"There was a committee on sites, composed of Tilden, Thompson, and somebody else," broke in Dr. Weil, "but there was some sort of a disagreement and our committee of physicians was appointed to look over the architect's plans. That was all."

Business Manager Guilford of the board was questioned as to the examination of the property and said that as far as he knew Mr. Duddleston was the only one who ever looked at the site.

The committee that closed the deal had as members, besides Kuflewski, Weil, and Chvatal, Trustees Fetzer, Hayes, Duddleston, and Harding.

BOYS INCORPORATE THEIR FRAT.

Three Pupils of Wendell Phillips High School Seek to Give Standing to Tabooed Thing.

The first opposition to the ruling of the board of education against school fraternities was revealed yesterday in a dispatch from Springfield announcing the incorporation of the Gamma Phi fraternity. Jake Loewenstein, 4910 Indiana avenue, 16 years old, Edward Lebensberger, 17 years old, 4518 Grand boulevard, and Harold Shon, 16 years old, 4319 Vincennes avenue, all pupils at the Wendell Phillips High school, are given as the incorporators. Loewenstein and Lebensberger, when questioned last night, refused to discuss it.

ROOSEVELT URGES NEW LAW PLAN.

Message to Congress Demands Revision of Anti-Trust and Labor Measures.

OUTLINE TARIFF CHANGE.

President Wants Action at Present Session Looking to Revision of Schedules.

Washington, D. C., March 25.—[Special.]—Amendment of the anti-trust law to legalize "good" combinations, enactment of a new employers' liability law to include the federal government among the employers, inhibition of boycotts and blacklists, correction of abuse of the injunction, action looking to the revision of the tariff, and provision for the improvement of the nation's waterways were among the things demanded of congress by President Roosevelt in a special message from the executive read in both houses today.

In discussing legislation in behalf of labor and labor unions, the president said that strikes were legal weapons, and the right of wage earners to combine peaceably to secure their rights as against unreasonable employers should not be assailed. At the same time he urged the importance of repressing violence and crime, part of the program of men on strike.

Another matter of vast import to organized labor was the demand for revision of the laws governing injunctions. Under the plan urged by the president no restraining order could be issued without due notice; a temporary injunction would not be allowed to drag indefinitely and contempt sentences could not be imposed by the enjoining magistrate except in flagrant cases.

Text of the Message.

The following is the text of the message:

To the Senate and House of Representatives: I call your attention to certain measures as to which I think there should be action by the congress before the close of the present session. There is ample time for their consideration.

As regards most if not all of the matters, bills have been introduced into one or the other of the two houses, and it is not too much to hope that action will be taken one way or the other on these bills at the present session.

In my message at the opening of the present session, and, indeed, in various messages to previous congresses, I have repeatedly suggested action on most of these measures.

Wants Child Labor Law.

Child labor should be prohibited throughout the nation. At least a model child labor bill should be passed for the District of Columbia.

It is unfortunate that in the one place solely dependent upon congress for its legislation there should be no law whatever to protect children by forbidding or regulating their labor.

I renew my recommendation for the immediate reënactment of an employers' liability law, drawn to conform to the recent decision of the Supreme court.

Within the limits indicated by the court, the law should be made thorough and comprehensive, and the protection it affords should embrace every class of employé to which the power of the congress can extend.

In addition to a liability law protecting the employés of common carriers, the government should show its good faith by enacting a further law giving compensation to its own employés for injury or death incurred in its service.

It is a reproach to us as a nation that in both federal and state legislation we have afforded less protection to public and private employés than any other industrial country of the world.

Denounces Injunction Abuse.

I also urge that action be taken along the line of the recommendations I have already made concerning injunctions in labor disputes.

No temporary restraining order should be issued by any court without notice, and the petition for a permanent injunction upon which such temporary restraining order has been issued should be heard by the court issuing the same within a reasonable time—say, not to exceed a week or thereabouts from the date when the order was issued.

It is worth considering whether it would not give greater popular confidence in the impartiality of sentences for contempt if it was required that the issue should be decided by another judge than the one issuing the injunction, except where the contempt is committed in the presence of the court, or in other case of urgency.

Anti-Trust Law Change Urged.

I again call attention to the urgent need of amending the interstate commerce law and especially the anti-trust law along the lines indicated in my last message.

The interstate commerce law should be amended so as to give railroads the right to make traffic agreements, subject to these agreements being approved by the interstate commerce commission and published in all of their details.

The commission should also be given the power to make public and to pass upon the issuance of all securities hereafter issued by railroads doing an interstate commerce business.

A law should be passed providing in effect that when a federal court determines to place a common carrier or other public utility concern under the control of a receivership the attorney general should have the right to nominate at least one of the receivers; or else in some other way the interests of the stockholders should be consulted, so that the management may not be wholly redelivered to the man or men the failure of whose policy may have necessitated the creation of the receivership.

Receiverships should be used not to operate roads, but as speedily as possible to pay their debts and return them to the proper owners.

Labor Hurt by Present Laws.

In addition to the reasons I have already urged on your attention, it has now become important that there should be an amendment of the anti-trust law because of the uncertainty as to how this law affects combinations among labor men and farmers, if the combination has any tendency to restrict interstate commerce.

In the modern industrial world combinations are absolutely necessary; they are necessary among business men, they are necessary among laboring men, they are becoming more and more necessary among farmers.

Some real good has resulted from this law. But the time has come when it is imperative to modify it. Such modification is urgently needed for the sake of the business men of the country, for the sake of the wage workers, and for the sake of the farmers.

The congress cannot afford to leave it on the statute books in its present shape.

Nation's Welfare at Stake.

It has now become uncertain how far this law may involve all labor organizations and farmers' organizations, as well as all business organizations, in conflict with the law; or, if we secure literal compliance with the law, how far it may result in the destruction of the organizations necessary for the transaction of modern business, as well as of all labor organizations and farmers' organizations, completely check the wise movement for securing business coöperation among farmers, and put back half a century the progess of the movement for the betterment of labor.

A bill has been presented in the congress to remedy this situation. Some such measure as this bill is needed in the interest of all engaged in the industries which are essential to the country's well being.

I do not pretend to say the exact shape that the bill should take, and the suggestions I have to offer are tentative; and my views would apply equally to any other measure which would achieve the desired end.

Outline of Reform Wanted.

Bearing this in mind, I would suggest, merely tentatively, the following changes in the law:

The substantive part of the anti-trust law should remain as at present—that is, every contract in restraint of trade or commerce among the several states or with foreign nations should continue to be declared illegal; provided, however, that some proper governmental authority (such as the commissioner of corporations, acting under the secretary of commerce and labor) be allowed to pass on any such contracts.

Labor organizations, farmers' organizations, and other organizations not organized for purposes of profit should be allowed to register under the law by giving the location of the head office, the charter and bylaws, and the names and addresses of their principal officers.

In the interest of all these organizations—business, labor, and farmers' organizations alike—the present provision permitting the recovery of threefold damages should be abolished, and as a substitute therefor the right of recovery allowed for should be only the damages sustained by the plaintiff and the cost of the suit, including a reasonable attorney's fee.

Fairness Should Be Test.

The law should not affect pending suits; a short statute of limitations should be provided, so far as the past is concerned, not to exceed a year.

Moreover, and even more in the interest of labor than of business combinations, all such suits brought for causes of action heretofore occurred should be brought only if the contract complained of was unfair or unreasonable.

It may be well to remember that all of the suits hitherto brought by the government under the anti-trust law have been in cases where the combination or contract was in fact unfair, unreasonable, and against the public interest.

Strike a Legal Weapon.

It is important that we should encourage trade agreements between employer and employé where they are just and fair. A strike is a clumsy weapon for righting wrongs done to labor, and we should extend, so far as possible, the process of conciliation and arbitration as a substitute for strikes.

Moreover, violence, disorder, and coercion, when committed in connection with strikes, should be as promptly and as sternly repressed as when committed in any other connection.

But strikes themselves are and should be recognized to be entirely legal. Combinations of workingmen have a peculiar reason for their existence.

The wealthy individual employer, and still more the wealthy corporation, stand at an enormous advantage when compared to the individual workingman; and, while there are many cases where it may not be necessary for laborers to form a union, in many other cases it is indispensable, for otherwise the thousands of small units, the thousands of individual workingmen, will be left helpless in their dealings with the one big unit, the big individual or corporate employer.

Hits Boycott and Blacklist.

The right of employers to combine and contract with one another and with their employés should be explicitly recognized; and so should the right of the employés to combine and to contract with one another and with the employers, and to seek peaceably to persuade others to accept their views, and to strike for the purpose of peaceably obtaining from employers satisfactory terms for their labor.

Nothing should be done to legalize either a blacklist or a boycott that would be illegal at common law; this being the type of boycott defined and condemned by the anthracite strike commission.

Postal Banks Needed.

The question of financial legislation is now receiving such attention in both houses that we have a right to expect action before the close of the session.

Moreover, action should be taken to establish postal savings banks. These postal savings banks are imperatively needed for the benefit of the wage workers and men of small means, and will be a valuable adjunct to our whole financial system.

Tariff Revision Urged.

The time has come when we should prepare for a revision of the tariff. This should be, and indeed must be, preceded by careful investigation.

It is peculiarly the province of the congress and not of the president, and indeed peculiarly the province of the house of representatives, to originate a tariff bill and to determine upon its terms; and this I fully realize.

Yet it seems to me that before the close of this session provision should be made for collecting full material which will enable the congress elected next fall to act immediately after it comes into existence.

I am of the opinion, however, that one change in the tariff could with advantage be made forthwith. Our forests need every protection, and one method of protecting them would be to put upon the free list wood pulp, with a corresponding reduction upon paper made from wood pulp, when they come from any country that does not put an export duty upon them.

Waterway Needs Recalled.

Ample provision should be made for a permanent waterways commission, with whatever power is required to make it effective.

The congress should recognize in fullest fashion the fact that the subject of the conservation of our natural resources, with which this commission deals, is literally vital for the future of the nation.

Numerous bills granting water power rights on navigable streams have been introduced. None of them gives the government the right to make a reasonable charge for the valuable privileges so granted, in spite of the fact that these water power privileges are equivalent to many thousands of acres of the best coal lands for their production of power. Nor is any definite time limit set, as should always be done in such cases.

I shall be obliged hereafter, in accordance with the policy stated in a recent message, to veto any water power bill which does not provide for a time limit and for the right of the president or of the secretary concerned to fix and collect such a charge as he may find to be just and reasonable in each case.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

MESSAGE PRONOUNCED "WEAK"

Chicago Federation of Labor President Passes Criticism on Roosevelt's Letter to Congress.

Commenting on the "labor features" of President Roosevelt's message to congress, President John Fitzpatrick of the Chicago Federation of Labor pronounced it "weak."

"It is nothing more than we expected from Roosevelt," said he. "His viewpoint and ours are different. The president advocates registering labor and farmers' organizations under the Sherman anti-trust law. I can see where to some extent that plan might control trusts and combinations of capital, but labor organizations are conducted openly and above board. Registering them won't do any good.

"As to the boycott, no matter how many laws are passed against it, nobody can compel union men to patronize unfair concerns.

"Labor is not interested in the president's proposal of an employers' liability law. We cannot expect to get a liability law that is worthy the name from trust lawyers, railroad attorneys, and representatives in congress who are looking after the interests of employers."

ALDRICH BILL PUSHED ALONG.

Senate Makes Good Progress in Disposing of Amendments Offered by Members—Finance Committee to Rule.

Washington, D. C., March 25.—A good deal of progress was made by the senate today in disposing of proposed amendments to the Aldrich currency bill.

It was evident throughout the session that the bill will be perfected in the form approved by the finance committee, as no proposition that failed to receive the sanction of the committee received any substantial support.

The amendments reported by the committee were all adopted without opposition, and then one senator after another offered additional amendments, which, except in the cases of one proposed by Senator Du Pont and one by Senator Lodge, were voted down.

Senator Du Pont's amendment provided that during the first six months the emergency currency is out interest shall be paid at the rate of one-half of 1 per cent per month and after six months at the rate of three-fourths of 1 per cent per month.

Mr. Aldrich said this amendment would be accepted by the committee, and it was agreed to. The amendment by Mr. Lodge admitted bonds of the insular government of Porto Rico as a basis for the emergency currency.

WILFLEY GETS HOT ROAST, BUT DODGES IMPEACHMENT.

House Committee Flays Shanghai Judge for Despotism in Office—Jurist to Push Case Further.

Washington, D. C., March 25.—The subcommittee of the house judiciary committee appointed to investigate the charges against Judge L. R. Wilfley of the United States court for China at Shanghai, on charges of misconduct in office, today submitted its report.

The report does not recommend impeachment, but censures Judge Wilfley for harshness on the bench and ignorance of the law.

A lively debate followed the presentation of the report in the full committee, some members declaring that Wilfley should be impeached. Mr. Clayton of Alabama entered a motion for impeachment and said if the committee failed to accept it he would move it on the floor of the house.

The charges were brought by Lorin Andrews and other American lawyers living in Shanghai.

The report is in the nature of a verdict holding Judge Wilfley guiltless of the bad motives necessary to a legal cause for impeachment, but finding him guilty—though more by inference than direct accusation—of high handedness and harshness and some serious mistakes in the conduct of his court.

Representative Denby of Michigan, who has acted as counsel for Judge Wilfley, says the judge insists on either impeachment proceedings or exoneration, and is not disposed to accept as conclusive the action of the subcommittee. It is understood Representative Denby has asked permission to speak against the adoption of the report.

"BIM, THE BUTTON MAN," DEAD.

Made $1,000,000 Out of Campaign Emblems and Six New York Theaters.

New York, March 25.—Meyer R. Bimberg, known widely as "Bim, the Button Man," was found dead in bed tonight. A week ago he contracted a cold which developed into tonsilitis. He was born in this city forty-six years ago and is survived by a widow and daughter of 14 years. He was a millionaire.

In recent years Mr. Bimberg built six theaters and for three years managed the Yorkville theater, but it was as the manufacturer of campaign buttons that he was known outside New York. Upon the return of the troops from Cuba at the close of the Spanish-American war, Mr. Bimberg is credited with having met President Roosevelt at Montauk Point and told him that he would be the next governor of New York. Before the Saratoga convention "Bim" manufactured 100,000 Roosevelt buttons. Subsequently he predicted the nomination of McKinley and Roosevelt by the republican national convention and reaped a big reward when his judgment was again vindicated.

cerns the wording of the proposed law and the exact scope of the Supreme court decision.

The passage of a law regarding general laborers is almost certain.

Solons Fear "Claim Bureau."

It may not contain the provision suggested by the president for the payment of damages to government employés injured in the public service.

They are comparatively few in number and congress is afraid of creating a bureau of claims on behalf of protected government employés who would be, it is feared, trumping up all sorts of claims for damages for injuries supposed to have been suffered in the line of their public work.

There is a disposition to protect the railway mail clerks and others who suffer from sudden accidents for which the government itself is not responsible, but congress is more likely to fasten this responsibility upon the railroads than upon the government itself.

For some particular reason the railroads do not seem to be as anxious to secure the privilege of pooling as one might suppose. There is no apparent demand on their part that congress should take immediate action along the lines suggested by the president.

Rail Planks Personal View.

The belief is therefore growing that his recommendation for a law permitting pooling has been repeated so persistently because he wants to emphasize his spirit toward the railroads.

In the same way he proposes to relieve the railroad company of responsibility for the existence of traffic arrangements under the anti-trust law. The fact is that no ordinary traffic agreement has ever been successfully prosecuted and the president called attention to that fact, as he says it is well to remember that all of the suits hitherto brought by the government under the anti-trust law have been in cases where the combination or contract was in fact unfair, unreasonable, and against the public interest.

Congress may pass a pooling law at the present session. There is no special sentiment against it and if the railroads exert themselves they can secure this legislation at the present time without much difficulty.

Anti-Trust Plans Puzzling.

There was a good deal of quiet discussion today of the renewed recommendations made by President Roosevelt regarding the amendment of the anti-trust law.

The Hepburn bill is now before the judiciary committee. It is almost impossible that it should be passed by both houses of congress at the present session.

Most of the members are in harmony with the suggestion of the president and the difficulties are administrative and constitutional. A great many members of the house think that there is no possible way in which the federal government can intervene, either to protect or prevent a combination which affects purely local interest.

It was this fact which caused the reference of the Hepburn bill to the judiciary committee.

The lawyers of the house—and most of the members are lawyers—are far from being prepared to admit that there is any question of interstate commerce involved in the mere existence of a corporate organization, whether it is in restraint of trade or not.

They are particularly dubious about the suggestion that the bureau of corporations or some similar government body should have the right to determine whether a given contract was in restraint of trade or not.

The lawyers say that such power is not at all ministerial, but that it is wholly judicial, and they believe that a law of this character would be declared unconstitutional by the Supreme court because it would grant distinct judicial power to an executive department of the government.

Receivership Clause Pleases.

There has been a great deal of favorable comment today in regard to the brief paragraph in which the president suggests that the government should have something to say in regard to the appointment of receivers for railroads or other interstate public utility corporations.

The bankruptcy of the Seaboard Air line recently has called attention to this great abuse, and it was that receivership more than anything else which caused pressure to be brought to bear upon the president to have him include that subject in his latest message.

It has come to be a public scandal, and the Seaboard Air line, which has been bankrupted several times, is a notable instance of the fact that designing persons can exploit a railroad up to the point of throwing it into a federal court.

Then the same men who were responsible for the bankruptcy, and who took all of the milk out of the railroad, can secure the appointment of one of their number as receiver. The losers in every case are the innocent stockholders.

The remedy suggested by the president is as simple as it is certain. He proposes merely that whenever an interstate railroad appeals to a federal court a joint receivership should be established in which the United States should be recognized to protect the interests of stockholders as well as to rehabilitate the road as a carrier of interstate commerce.

This suggestion has proven so popular in congress that a law drawn on these lines is likely to be passed at the present session.

Eczema Now Curable.

All Itching Skin Diseases Which are Not Hereditary Instantly Relieved by Oil of Wintergreen.

Can Eczema be cured?
Some physicians say "Yes."
Some say "No."

The real question is, "What is meant by Eczema?" If you mean those scaly eruptions, those diseases which make their first appearance, not at birth, but years afterward, and perhaps not until middle age—then there can no longer be any question that these forms of Eczema are curable.

Simple vegetable oil of wintergreen, mixed with other vegetable ingredients, will kill the germs that infest the skin. Apply this prescription to the skin, and instantly that awful itch is gone. The very moment the liquid is applied, that agonizing, tantalizing itch disappears and continued applications of this external remedy soon cure the disease.

All druggists carry in stock this oil of wintergreen properly compounded into D. D. D. Prescription. While we are not sure that it will cure all those cases of skin trouble which are inherited, we positively know that this D. D. D. Prescription, whenever rightly used, will cure every last case of genuine Eczema or other skin trouble, which did not exist at birth.

We know this. Anyway you, yourself, will know that D. D. D. Prescription instantly takes away the itch the moment it is applied to the skin. Stop that itch today — instantly. Just call at any drug store and try this refreshing and soothing liquid; also ask about D. D. D. Soap.

EVANS CRITICISES LOW ARMOR BELT

Letter from "Fighting Bob" Is Unearthed in Archives in Washington.

PROOF FROM THE FLEET.

Constructor Reports Result of Observation on Long Cruise of Vessels.

New York, March 25.—[Special.]—It became known today in Washington that Admiral Evans put on record last summer his opinion that the armor belt of our battleships was too low, thus upholding the contention made by Henry Reuterdahl in his recent magazine article.

Mr. Reuterdahl, who has just returned to New York from the battleship fleet, talked today about this new turn in the naval controversy.

The statement of Admiral Evans was made in his letter to commanding officers of ships after he had been ordered to detail the boards to determine what weights could be removed from battleships. This was his statement:

"It must be remembered that all our ships are now of greater displacement than that of their original design. In consequence they not only have increased in draft of water, but, in the case of the armored ships, their armor belt is practically awash at load draft, which leaves them, as far as protection is concerned, but little better than armored cruisers."

This statement is on file in the room of the senate committee on naval affairs, as is also a similar statement made in 1906 by the general board of the navy, which recommended the reduction of weight on battleships in order to raise the armor belt.

Reuterdahl Talks of Letter.

"According to public prints," said Mr. Reuterdahl today, "the letter of Admiral Evans and certain statements by the general board were not admitted as evidence by the senate committee which has been investigating certain constructive defects of our navy.

"Their publication undoubtedly will prevent any whitewashing and will help the country to ascertain the absolute truth.

"As this report is part of the public proceedings, it indicates the temper of the other side in preventing its being known. The existence of Admiral Evans' letter is well known in the service, and every one with the fleet is aware of the fact that the board appointed to investigate armor belt conditions had reported that the belts were so low as to be practically, if not absolutely, useless in battle.

"Instead of being received as honest efforts to improve the existing conditions they were tied up with red tape, and in most cases buried in a dusty pigeonhole.

"Had these suggestions been accepted by the proper authorities our people never would have known about our faults of construction —which already are well known to the foreigner. But they were not. Instead, all possible efforts were made to minimize the suggestions, and every one became busy to save his own face instead of improving our ships.

Admiral Evans' Opinion Cited.

"The instance of Admiral Evans' letter explains it fully. Here we have one of the greatest men of our navy, a man with twenty years of sea experience, stating over his own signature almost two years ago 'that our battleships were nothing but armored cruisers and that they were so constructed as to receive no benefit from their armor protection, which was designed to protect their vitals against heavy gunfire.'

"In a report signed by Admiral Capps and Admiral Converse 50,000 words are used to disprove this blunt, simple statement by a man whom the entire nation respects.

"I have seen the belts of our ships hidden beneath the water for a week after leaving port, and it is only when the coal supply has been diminished one-half that the armor belt begins to be of sufficient use in case of action.

"It is no exaggeration to say our ships are five years behind and that we have paid money for ships which should grace the Turkish navy list instead of our own."

DR. CHARLES CUTHBERT HALL DIES FOLLOWING OPERATION.

President of Union Theological Seminary Succumbs at Home in New York —Ailment Dated from Tropical Tour.

New York, March 25.—[Special.]—The Rev. Dr. Charles Cuthbert Hall, president of Union Theological seminary, died at his home, 46 East Seventieth street, early this morning. He had been operated upon for liver complaint Tuesday afternoon. He recovered consciousness after the operation, but no hope was held out for his life.

Dr. Hall had been in poor health for more than a year, or ever since his return from India, where he had made an extensive lecturing tour as Barrows professor of the University of Chicago. The complaint from which he died is characteristic of tropical countries.

Dr. Hall was born in New York City in 1852. He was graduated from Williams college in 1872 and later attended Union Theological seminary and the Presbyterian college in London. He became president of Union Theological seminary in January, 1897. Dr. Hall was a trustee of Williams college, of Atlanta university, a director of Union Theological seminary, and a member of the boards of other educational institutions.

OBITUARY.

JAMES HENRY HILDRETH, who represented the old Seventh ward in the city council from 1869 to 1889, will be buried tomorrow afternoon at Rosehill cemetery. He died at Hot Springs, Ark., last Sunday. Funeral services will be held at his late residence, 746 West Monroe street, at 12:30 o'clock, and an hour later at Medinah temple, Dearborn avenue and Walton place, under the auspices of the Masonic fraternity. The Rev. R. A. White will officiate at both services. Mr. Hildreth was born in Winchester, Mass., in 1840 and came to Chicago when a boy. He served during the civil war in the Board of Trade battery. He left a widow and two children, Mrs. Frank Lederer and Harry Hildreth, chief assistant city treasurer.

Among the honorary pallbearers, announced last night, will be: Mayor Fred A. Busse, Edward F. Dunne, Carter H. Harrison, George B. Swift, Ald. Frank Bennett, Milton J. Foreman, Nicholas R. Finn, John P. Stewart, and Edward F. Cullerton. The active pallbearers will be: George W. McFatrich, John Cheshire, Oscar F. Schmidt, William H. Pool, Joseph W. Taylor, and Milton E. Robinson.

JAMES HENRY LONG, a pioneer of Chicago and a veteran of the civil war, died on Tuesday evening at his home in Kenilworth. Mr. Long was born at 5 Dearborn place, now Garland place. At the outbreak of the civil war he enlisted in Battery A, First Illinois Light Infantry. He accompanied Sherman on his march to the sea. After the war he was married to Miss Isabel Johnson of Galena, Ill., and later entered the steel manufacturing business. He was a member of the Skokie, Union League, Chicago Literary and Engineers' clubs. He is survived by two daughters—Mrs. Horatio N. Wait and Mrs. Joseph Barker.

JOSEPH WELLER SEFTON, head of the J. W. Sefton Manufacturing company of Chicago and Anderson, Ind., is dead at San Diego, Cal. Failing health caused him to go to California to live several years ago. A cold contracted while visiting at his ranch in Jamacha valley was the immediate cause of his death. He leaves a son, J. W. Sefton Jr of San Diego, and a daughter, Mrs. Lena Wakefield of Oakland, Cal. The funeral services will be in charge of the Elks lodge of San Diego.

HOLD UP BANKER; GET $5,000

Three Bandits in Bold Daylight Robbery at Lincoln, Ill.

MONEY FOR MINE PAY ROLL.

Two Suspects Are Under Arrest; Bravery Foils Bank Raid.

Bloomington, Ill., March 25.—[Special.]—Frank Frorer Sr., one of the wealthiest residents of central Illinois and president of the First National bank of Lincoln, was slugged by two bandits on one of the busiest streets of that city at 3 o'clock this afternoon and robbed of $5,000 in gold, silver, and bills. He was carrying the money in small boxes in a wagon to the mine of the Lincoln Coal company. It was to be used in paying off the employés tomorrow.

The robbers jumped into a buggy, and, guarded by a pal who was in waiting, the three drove rapidly away. Several miles in the country they abandoned the rig and took to the woods.

Banker Unguarded on Trip.

Mr. Frorer has been in the habit of carrying money in this manner for many years. He always made the trip alone and was unguarded when the attack took place this afternoon. When he reached Third and Maple streets, within one block of the office of the coal company, he saw two men standing near the street intersection. He was not suspicious, and even when one of the men jumped upon the step at the side of the wagon as if to ride he had no thought of robbery. Suddenly the man drew a club from his pocket and struck the banker a blow upon the head. The other man ran to the vehicle and threw the wagon seat on the victim as he lay half senseless on the pavement, having fallen from the wagon after being struck. The men then picked up the money and ran with it to their buggy, two blocks distant. One man carried a shotgun or rifle. The money and gun were thrown into the buggy and the horse was lashed to its fastest gait.

Two Men Under Arrest.

Late tonight Sheriff Devine and posse captured two suspects five miles east of Lincoln. The man with the money was not with them, and the prisoners refused to tell who he was or where he went. The men captured were Blink Fifield of Springfield, Ill., a coal miner who has been employed at President Frorer's mine, and John Smith, evidently a fake name, who said he was from the state of Washington and did not reach Lincoln until yesterday.

The rig used by the robbers was hired at a local livery barn for the purpose, as stated, of driving to Griggs' station, ten miles north.

Butcher Foils Bank Robbers.

Danville, Ill., March 25.—[Special.]—The bravery of J. W. Daly, a butcher, occupying a room over the Bank of Chrisman, in that town, saved it from being looted early this morning. Daly was awakened by the robbers forcing the front door of the bank. After entering the bank they went upstairs, where one looked over the transom and saw Daly, who was lying on the floor feigning sleep, with a revolver ready. They then broke in the door and began firing at the butcher, who took refuge behind a folding bed and returned the fire until his cartridges were exhausted. The robbers' ammunition also was exhausted and they fled from the building, leaving a trail of blood, showing one had been hit.

The would be robbers went to the home of Mayor L. E. Bacon, where they stole a team and buggy. They drove eastward across the state line, abandoning the rig seven miles out. Daly, afraid the visitors lingered in the building, did not report the affair until daylight, when posses were organized, but no traces of the bandits were found.

It is believed the burglars were the same men who early this morning held up and robbed the agent of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois at Atherton, Ind., securing a small sum of money and a number of tickets.

Woman Freed of Murder Charge.

Mrs. Emma Morck, a midwife, was found not guilty yesterday in Judge Windes' court of causing the death by an illegal operation of Christina Gorss, 223 West Ohio street.

HAPPY OLD AGE

Most Likely to Follow Proper Eating.

Read Below.

As old age advances, we require less food to replace waste, and food that will not overtax the digestive organs, while supplying true nourishment.

Such an ideal food is found in Grape-Nuts, made of whole wheat and barley by long baking and action of diastase in the barley which changes the starch into sugar.

The phosphates also, placed up under the bran-coat of the wheat, are included in Grape-Nuts, but left out of white flour. They are necessary to the building of brain and nerve cells.

"I have used Grape-Nuts," writes an Iowa man, "for 8 years and feel as good and am stronger than I was ten years ago. I am over 74 years old and attend to my business every day.

"Among my customers I meet a man every day who is 92 years old and attributes his good health to Grape-Nuts and Postum which he has used for the last 5 years. He mixes Grape-Nuts with Postum and says they go fine together.

"For many years before I began to eat Grape-Nuts, I could not say that I enjoyed life or knew what it was to be able to say 'I am well.' I suffered greatly with constipation, now my habits are as regular as ever in my life.

"Whenever I make extra effort I depend on Grape-Nuts food and it just fills the bill. I can think and write a great deal easier."

DOG DAYS COME WITH SHOW

Seven Hundred Pedigreed Animals Seen on Dress Parade.

PICK MANY PRIZE WINNERS.

High Class of Canines Exhibited Makes Task of Judges Difficult.

These are dog days—not that any transposition of the seasons has occurred, but because pedigreed canines from all over the middle west have been gathered together for exhibition, and during the remainder of the week will be on parade for animal lovers.

The opening night of the annual bench show of the Chicago Kennel club found more than 700 blooded dogs, washed and brushed, clipped and curled, wearing their "company manners" in Brooke's casino. Experts declared the show one of the best ever given in the city.

Hairy dogs and hairless dogs, elongated dachshunds and abbreviated pugs, fighting brutes and household pets, provided a fund of interest for any dog loving spectator, no matter what his favorite breed. Hounds, bulls, terriers, spaniels, and poodles were there in abundance and each class had its following.

The main floor was given over to the larger breeds of dogs, while in the balcony were the "toys" and spaniels. The big fellows, many of them in fighting trim, attracted the men, but the "teeny, teeny" kind, sprinkled with cologne, their silken fur smoothed with a baby brush and tied with little bows of colored ribbon, nestling on embroidered pillows within glass cages, touched the fancies of the women.

In the absence of Mayor Busse Corporation Counsel Brundage attended the opening of the show as the official representative of the city administration.

The picking of winners of the $6,000 worth of prizes began early and the judges worked until late in the evening settling the disposition of the red, blue, and yellow ribbons. Competition was close in many of the classes.

"Girlie Mine," a fluffy Maltese terrier owned by Mrs. M. B. Dryburgh, added a gold and silver medal to an already long string of awards. "Baby Boy," in the same class, was given a silver medal. "Dodo Boy," a pet of Mrs. John Arbuckle, won the novice cup in the class.

Of the great Danes, silver medals were awarded to Mrs. J. A. Grundhoffer's "Walkure's Tannhauser" and S. A. DeLue's "Duchess." John Jamieson's entries among the collies won a silver medal and the judges' cup for the best American bred dog.

COMMITTEE BLOW TO PAPER RELIEF

Ways and Means Refuses to Give Hearing to Publishers' Association.

PLEADS FEAR OF CLAMOR.

Chairman Says Tariff Action Would Add to Presidential Year Disquiet.

New York, March 25.—[Special.]—The American Newspaper Publishers' association's effort to obtain legislation by congress to put print paper and wood pulp on the free list has received a setback through the refusal of the ways and means committee to give the association a hearing.

Herman Ridder, president of the publishers' organization, who recently wrote to Chairman Sereno E. Payne asking a hearing, today made public the latter's reply denying the request.

Payne's Letter of Refusal.

Chairman Payne's letter follows:

"The majority of the committee determined early in the session that it would not be wise to enter upon a revision of the tariff this year, because such action would add to the uncertainty and disquiet always caused by a presidential election.

"They also had in mind the disturbance caused by the recent panic. To avoid all agitation, they decided they would have no hearings upon any subject affecting the tariff rates.

"After receiving your letter I again talked with a majority of the members of the committee, and they adhered to their opinion. I therefore feel authorized to say to you there will be no hearings upon tariff rates until after the presidential election.

"SERENO E. PAYNE."

Williams Promises to Force Issue.

Mr. Ridder, speaking on the subject today, said:

"I have seen President Roosevelt on this subject repeatedly, and he gave me positive assurances he would send a special message to congress urging that print paper and wood pulp be put upon the free list. On the strength of his statement I have urged the newspaper publishers of the United States to support him in his efforts to do us justice.

"Congressman Williams, leader of the minority, yesterday announced on the floor of congress that he would refuse to allow any legislation to go forward until the majority would give assurances that it would pass three or four measures, among which was this one. We have assurances from a majority of congress that they will vote for this measure if it can be brought before the house.

Delay Disastrous to Public.

"Apparently the sole obstructionists are on the ways and means committee, and I hope the publishers of the country will take immediate measures to bring a majority of the committee to a realizing sense of their duty in the matter.

"Unless prompt and vigorous action is taken the measure is likely to fail. If it does, the paper combine will maintain high prices or may even advance prices. If we fail to put the manufactured article on the free list the Canadian government may impose a prohibitive export duty on the logs and then the situation would become most serious.

"It would not only prove disastrous to the public interests, but it would mean that there would be a still greater destruction of our forests with all the attendant evil consequences."

NORTH DAKOTA FOR BRYAN.

State Convention Indorses Him for the Democratic Presidential Nomination—Johnson Men to Fight.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 25.—[Special.]—After a three hour fight on the floor of the state convention today the delegates indorsed W. J. Bryan for the democratic presidential nomination.

Gov. John Burke, William Collins, E. E. Cole, and M. Wipperman were elected delegates at large to the national convention. District delegates to the convention were chosen as follows:

Dist.	Delegate.	Dist.	Delegate.
1	D. Gorham	5	G. W. Sweidee
2	E. B. Hage	6	F. Lish
3	M. A. Hildreth	7	J. W. McLean
4	P. H. Perry

Presidential electors chosen: E. E. Cole of Cass, John B. Fried of Stutsman, Joseph Kelly of Ramsey, Frank Mackey of McLean.

The Johnson men announced their intention to send a contesting delegation to Denver.

MEATS HIGH; SUPPLY IS LOW

Chicago Packers Declare That All Live Stock Is Marketed.

NO BENEFIT FOR FARMERS.

General Advance of Cattle and Hogs; Butter and Eggs Lower.

Farmers of Illinois, Iowa, and other states who raise live stock for the Chicago market will not benefit by the increased price of meats established by packers and retailers on Tuesday and boosted still higher yesterday.

The cost of all meat, excepting veal, has been increased during the last two days from 1 to 5 cents a pound. Farmers, owing to their shipping of all available stock during the recent financial panic, are said by the packers to have exhausted the supply and now will not reap the benefit for the increased price offered by packers.

Retailers' Prices Boom.

The prices of meats in a majority of the butcher shops in the residence districts of Chicago and the increase in cost during the last two weeks is as follows:

	Yesterday's price.	Increase.
Porterhouse steaks	26 @27c	5 c
Loin and ribs of beef	18 @19c	2½c
Pork chops	10½@12c	4 c
Mutton	12 @13c	3 c
Lamb	19c	2 c
Pork sausage	10c	1 c
Ham	11c	1 c
Premium hams	18c	....
Bacon	12 @18c	....
Veal	14 @15c	....

Only one consolation came to the thrifty housewife having a weekly allowance with which to provide food for her family. As meats went up butter and eggs dropped and poultry increased but from 11¼ to 12½ cents.

Wholesalers Point to Packers.

Wholesale dealers say they were compelled by packers to raise the price of all meats to the retailers. The prices yesterday were as follows:

PATCHED UP CUBS BEAT MERIDIAN.

Umpiring of Schmidt and Howard Cuts Large Figure in Score of 9 to 4.

EVEN BUZZARD BACKS UP.

Ed Reulbach's Wildness Makes Popular Idol of Center Fielder Kutina.

BY CHARLES DRYDEN.

Meridian, Miss., March 25.—[Special.]—What the flower and manhood of this the largest city in the state beheld in the shape of a ball game this afternoon will hold them quite a while. The champions of the world mangled the champions of the Cotton States by a score of 9 to 4, but these vital statistics contained no thrills.

It was the unexpected that set the fanatics buzzing and then laughing. In the first place there was no staff umpire and the efforts of two amateurs, Messrs. "Germany" Schmidt, eccentric comedian, and "Del" Howard, invalid athlete, put the pastime slightly on the blink at the getaway.

Schmidt is manager of the local team. He was chased to the tall foliage before the expiration of the opening round. Howard made one bad break and then finished the task in good style. Along about the middle of the game a turkey buzzard sailed over the ball field to examine those two early decisions. It is worthy of note that the buzzard put on a full head of steam and sailed away. They were too rank for him.

Sheckard Regains Lost Oratory.

To go back to the beginning, Mr. Schmidt called at the hotel prior to the game and handed out a package of heavy mud to the effect that all Germans should stick together. On reaching the scene of combat he found one Swede, a Dutchman, and an Irishman slated to pitch against his team. This jam balloyne Creole dish of talent buffaloed Mr. Schmidt. He started in to call a ball on everything Lundgren pitched, and that aroused the Swedish ire of Carl.

Two men had walked, but the Cubs remained calm until the runners pulled off a double steal. Zimmerman at third had Moran's throw waiting for Terre, but the German umpire declared the runner safe. At this thrilling epoch the spaghetti supper oratory that remained bottled up in Sheckard's neck broke loose and the flood of language pouring forth washed poor Schmidt off his feet. He melted from the landscape and Howard took the job in plain clothes and a bandaged finger after trading his derby hat for a baseball cap.

Howard Outdoes Schmidt.

Schmidt's decision at third gave the locals one run. Howard saw that tally and went it three better in the Cub half of the opening inning. With two out, Slagle on third, and Kling at second, Zimmerman hit to third base. Mr. Hanky Panky Po fielded the ball and made a stab at Kling, who ran out of line a couple of yards. Then Hanky Panky chucked to first base, a play he should have made in the first place. The ball went sailing into the carriage inclosure and cracked a sedate family horse on the left eyelid. Slagle, Kling, and "Zim," old boy, tallied while the Cotton States and the family horse were recovering from the shock.

The multitude roared over this faux pas, but good humor was restored and the combat ended happily for all concerned except Mr. Kutina. Reulbach dislodged that athlete's left kidney with a beaut of a slam in the fourth inning. From that time on Mr. Kutina held the kidney in place with one hand and caught seven fly balls in the other. That jolt in the slats woke him up and he became the popular idol. It is a cinch the center fielder will hold his job. Reulbach put the hall mark on him for keeps.

Some of the Details.

Lundgren's passes to Terre and Hanky, the double steal and a long fly by Bates counted one for the locals in the opener. Howard's refusal to penalize Kling for running out of line in the Cub half gave them three runs without a hit. South Paw Rutter was doing well until Hanky Panky lost his noodle. Lundgren regained control with Howard umpiring. He was hit once in three rounds.

Safeties by Kling, "Zim," and Hofman and a pass to Evers tallied three runs in the third. Reulbach put a charge of dynamite in each pitch and had the local champions guessing. In the fourth Edward gave a pass, made a wild pitch, and fractured one kidney on the first two men up. Then they went to hitting at the ball in self-defense and the side was retired in order. Not a swat was made off the German, and his speed swept everything away from the plate. Edward is improving in target practice.

Rutter was driven to the woods in the fourth by a volley of fine, sharp swats good for three runs. Billiard came on and stopped the champs with two singles in four innings. Donohue completed the string on the slab, and was making a fine impression until Slagle grew careless. The buckwheat king of Worthville muffed an easy fly after two were gone in the seventh that let two runs ooze in. Donohue had perfect control and mixed them up in a way that baffled the local champs. Polite Personal Mention.

War Hero Hugh Jones, who fought with Prof. Semmens in the Philippines, happened to be there when the Cubs fell off the train at noon. Comrade Jones being a bold and fearless soldier, jumped right in and helped the professor rub his patients down with the eight pound cannon ball. The presence of two Philippine veterans' buttons imparted some éclat to the champions.

In seeking to explain his lack of control Mr. Reulbach has hit upon the following theory: For two weeks he has been handling pork chops, fried in cotton seed oil, and he thinks his grip on the ball is more or less slippery. Hereafter Mr. Reulbach will petition the cook to dress the pork chops in white paper pajamas, à la lamb chops north of the line. Good idea.

Three invalids remained in their boudoirs when the main army left the hotel for an hour's practice ahead of the game. Steinfeldt has a severe cold and Tinker must take care of his poisoned hook. Howard lurked under cover to nurse a maimed finger and let Elston wear his uniform. The O. and P. lad's regalia went through to Montgomery in a trunk.

Maybe those champions do not travel in style. They left here soon after midnight and will speed between York and Selma, a distance of eighty miles, in a special train of three coaches. The fare, according to Mr. Williams, is $1.50 per mile per passenger. Athletes and war scribes attended by wives can see bankruptcy looming up before them.

An elderly gentleman entered the Cub train at Vicksburg and was informed by the polite Mr. Tinker that the car was private. "In that case," said the E. G., "I will not inflict my presence upon you." "Shake," exclaimed Mr. Tinker, gasping the mitt of the elderly gentleman. "You are much better bred than the cockroaches we have met."

The net profits from Mr. Kling's pool mine for the fiscal week ending last Saturday amounted to $269.10, and business was dull at that. Perhaps the secret of Hans Wagner's retirement lies in a hidden pool mine somewhere in the rugged fastnesses of Pennsylvania.

The Dutch stuck together all right until Sheckard chased "Germany" Schmidt. The late Jesse James was masquerading under the name of Howard at the time he was slaughtered. This is a friendly tip.

If the present program does not miscarry, Peerless Leader Chance and Jack Pfiester will join the team at Montgomery.

SOX HUNGER IS SATISFIED

Veterans Eat Up Three Birmingham Pitchers; Score, 6 to 2.

PUT IN FULL DAY'S PRACTICE

Comiskey's Men Show No Bad Effects from Swamp Life.

Birmingham, Ala., March 25.—[Special.]—Real baseball weather brought the White Sox back to life again today and the hungry tourists played the game as it should be played in their contest with the Birmingham Barons. The final score was Sox 6 to Barons 2, but up to the eighth inning the southerners were shut out.

The return of sunshine cheered the Chicago men to such an extent they put in a full day with real enthusiasm. Jones led the men out to morning practice as soon as breakfast was over and not one of them had an excuse for not going. The two days on the train coming from New Orleans here made them all anxious to get out in the open once again.

The grounds were in perfect condition and a crowd of 2,000 fans wandered out to the big lot to watch the game this afternoon. Manager Vaughan of the locals tried out a lot of his new men, for he had had no chance to see them perform. Three pitchers were sent in against the Sox—Ables, McNeal, and Turner—and the young fellows seemed to be troubled a little with stage fright. Ten of the visitors were allowed to walk to first.

One Hit Off Smith.

Frank Smith was on the slab for the first five innings for Chicago and held the locals to one lone hit in that time. Altrock succeeded him and he was not as good. Two hits and two runs were made off him.

The Sox packed up their belongings tonight and moved on to Nashville, where they are billed to appear for the next two days. Jones would have preferred to remain here, as he was satisfied with the spot and soft picking. The fans took kindly to the Sox and their joshing of the players did not create any hard feeling at all.

"We did not expect to beat the Sox," said Manager Vaughan, "but I wanted to give my youngsters a good tryout against the big leaguers. I am satisfied some of my new men will be of great help to me the coming season."

The Sox made four runs in the first inning, taking all the enthusiasm out of the crowd at once. Hahn was safe on a fumble by Downey. Jones and Dougherty hit safely, Hahn scoring. Jones was forced at the plate by Parent, then Davis laced out a double to left, bringing home Dougherty and Parent. Davis scored on a passed ball. Sullivan, Smith, and Hahn were passed in the fourth by McNeal and Jones scored the first two with a long hit to right.

Two Runs Off Altrock.

Altrock got out of one hole in the sixth when the bases were full, with no one out, but he did not fare as well in the eighth. Houtz doubled to start, went to third on an out, and scored on Meek's sacrifice fly. Reagan walked and came all the way from first on De Mont's clean hit to center. Score:

Hutchinson, Kas., March 25.—[Special.]—The White Sox No. 2 defeated the Salt Packers of the Western association here today by a score of 8 to 4. The game was played in the worst dust storm that has occurred here for a year, but a large crowd was on hand. Olmstead, who pitched the first five innings for the Sox, was rapped hard, but Freeman escaped much better. The Commercial club held a banquet tonight, celebrating the opening of a new hotel, and the Chicago players were guests of honor along with Lieut. Gov. Fitzgerald. The team will leave in the morning for Wichita. Score:

FIRST GAME BY THE MAROONS

Chicago Alumni Team Beats Varsity by Score of 6 to 1.

'SEMI-PROS' IN THE CONTEST.

Willie McGill Pitches for Ex-Collegians and Is in Great Form.

Gentle spring breezes thawed out some lively baseball in the first game of the season in Chicago at Marshall field yesterday. A team made up of two semi-pro players and Maroon alumni defeated the University of Chicago candidates in a contest that went the full route of nine innings by a score of 6 to 1.

Willie McGill of the River Forests was in the box for the ex-collegians, and Rundle, a former Northwestern university catcher, now with the Spaldings, caught. Willie was on edge and whiffed the undergraduate players in easy fashion, seldom using a curved ball during the game.

The college players got a poor start and never struck the pace which they have set in practice. The base running and timely batting of their opponents netted an early lead, which they increased in the closing stages. The Maroons were not out in full force and did not present their strongest lineup. Score:

PFIESTER WANTS MORE MONEY.

Cub Southpaw Returns Contract, but Denies Leaving Training Camp on That Account.

Cincinnati, O., March 25.—[Special.]—Jack Pfiester may be among the missing in the Cub ranks when the season opens in this city on April 14. Pfiester believes helping to win two National league pennants and one world's championship entitles him to more money than President Murphy offers.

"I have not signed a Chicago contract," Pfiester said today, "for the simple reason I believe I am worth more money to the Chicago club. I was sent a contract, but it did not suit me in the least and I returned it. I have had some correspondence with Manager Chance, and I believe we will come to an agreement.

"This is not the reason, however, that I am not training in the south. My wife is seriously ill and I am here only on her account. Otherwise I would have remained with the club, as I feel sure of a satisfactory arrangement."

"GRIFF" PICKS TRAINING CAMP.

Permanent Grounds Planned for New York Highlanders at Excelsior Springs, Former Sox Resort.

President Johnson of the American league returned yesterday from a trip to French Lick, where he disposed of a cold which had been threatening to become serious. After going through his mail he announced the New York Highlanders would depart from former methods of spring training along with the Detroit Tigers. Since the Detroit club secured permanent training grounds at Hot Springs, President Farrell of the Highlanders has been negotiating for a location at Excelsior Springs, Mo., and plans are practically arranged to make that resort a spring camp for Griffith's men hereafter. The Highland manager has had a liking for Excelsior Springs ever since the White Sox trained there while Griffith was their boss.

Dubuque, Ia., March 25.—[Special.]—Dubuque tonight is celebrating the election of Thomas Loftus to the position of president of the Three Eyes league. A parade with bands and fireworks was the big feature and automobiles, carriages, and marchers, representing all elements in the city, celebrated. The parade terminated at the armory, where for two hours speeches were delivered, Mayor Schunk making the chief address.

Champaign, Ill., March 25.—[Special.]—Former Capt. Arthur Hall will again coach the University of Illinois football team. Hall's intentions were in doubt until recently, when he offered to come back, though not with the title of head coach as he did not feel he could give the work the time required.

School Teams Arrive Today.

Out of town teams entered in the high school state basketball championships are due to arrive in Chicago this afternoon for the tourney which starts tomorrow afternoon at the Oak Park Y. M. C. A. NATIONAL HONORS TO MAROON TEAM.

Chicago Defeats Pennsylvania in Great Basketball Game by a Score of 16 to 15.

BIG CROWD SEES CONTEST

Battle Close All the Way; Fouls Repeatedly Made by Players on Both Sides.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 25.—[Special.]—Chicago defeated the University of Pennsylvania for the intercollegiate championship of America tonight in Weightman hall by a score of 16 to 15. It was expected Pennsylvania would make a better showing with McNichol in the regular lineup, but the Maroons proved to be the better team regardless of which men the red and blue played.

When the game started there was not a vacant seat in the gymnasium, and the cheers that greeted both teams as they appeared reminded one of the annual Thanksgiving football game. The game was but thirty seconds old when McCrudden fouled to Georgeon, which Falls converted into a point. That was a starter for the westerners, but Keinath evened up a minute later with a goal from foul.

Falls Breaks Tie on Foul.

The tie did not exist long before McNichol dropped a goal from the side of the floor, but Dr. Sharpe saw Kiefeber holding and Falls again tallied a point. With the score 3 to 2 in Penn's favor, McCrudden left his guard position and caged a beautiful basket.

Three fouls enabled Chicago to tie the score and from then to the end of the half both teams played desperately to break the knot. Capt. Sommer of Chicago threw a fine goal, making the score 7 to 5, and then Keinath came back with a basket with only a minute left to play in the first period. Thus the half ended 7 to 7.

Penn was off in goal shooting, while the fouls helped boost the westerners' score.

At the beginning of the second period the play became faster, and it was seven minutes before there was a score. During one of the scrimmages McCrudden fouled Page, and was disqualified for rough work. That weakened the Penn team considerably. Speer was sent in at guard. Chicago took advantage of the change, and Falls scored a field goal.

Penn Men Not in Good Condition.

The Penn players began to show they were not in the best condition possible. A long argument took place in which a goal made by Keinath while on his knees was not counted by Referee Sharpe. Upon resumption of play McNichol tied the score with a fine field goal, but Chicago came to the front again when Falls tallied a foul goal. Then Keinath hung up a single point for Penn and tied the score. The Maroons went in the lead again by Georgon scoring a field goal, but Keinath evened up the score by two successive fouls. Schommer tallied from the field and Keinath made two fouls count for as many points. The last foul was called on Keinath on an out of bound play and Falls threw the goal, making the score 16 to 15 in favor of the visitors. The last few minutes were taken up by Chicago "killing" the ball. Lineup:

Chicago [16].		Pennsylvania [15].
Georgon	Forward	Fitzpatrick
Schommer	Center	McNichol
Harris, Hoffman	Guard	Speer, McCrudden

Baskets—Falls, Schommer, [2]; Keinath, McNichol, [2]; McCrudden. Free throws—Keinath, [7]; Falls, [10]. Fouls—Pennsylvania, 17; Chicago, 14. Referee—Dr. Sharpe, Yale.

PLAY FOR 135 POUND TITLE.

Basketball Teams Battle for Central A. A. U. Championship at West Side Y. M. C. A.—Midgets Score Victory.

Play in the Central A. A. U. 135 pound basketball championship began last night at the West Side Y. M. C. A. The games were unusually fast, due to the fact that the floor was fenced in by a net and the ball was always in play, there being no out of bounds. The management, however, failed to number the players, as was the case in the 120 pounds and unlimited class games, and the spectators experienced some trouble in distinguishing one player from another.

The West Side Midgets swamped the Armour Square five in the opening game of the series, 33 to 15. Pardee and Thompson were the leading lights and registered repeatedly for West Side. Lineup:

West Side Midgets [33].		Armour Square, Int. [15].
Pardee	Right forward	Arends

The Mark White Square boys took the lead early in the first session and the first half ended with the score 18 to 11 in favor of Mark White. Lineup:

PLAY ON NEW BEVERLY COURSE.

Golfers Try Temporary Greens—More than 100 Applications for Membership Are Received.

Balmy weather has left the grounds of the new Beverly Country club in fine shape, and already a score of the members have played over a section of the course, on which temporary greens have been installed.

More than 100 applications for membership have been received, and within the next two months it is expected the double century mark will be reached. Plans for a temporary clubhouse have been approved, and work will start on this April 1, with the prospect that the building will be completed within six weeks. This building will be a complete clubhouse in itself and can be used as an adjunct to the $25,000 structure which it is proposed to erect next year.

The first nine holes of the course will be ready for play by June 1, and the full eighteen by Sept. 1. The first nine will be 3,115 yards in length, with a bogey of 40, and the second 3,030, with a bogey of 38.

Bible Class Meet Tonight.

One hundred and twenty athletes will take part in the annual Cook County Bible class track meet in the Bartlett gymnasium tonight, which will make it the largest ever held among the bible class boys.

Marshall Wins from Reti.

VIENNA, March 25.—In the third round of the international chess tournament today the American, Marshall, impressively defeated the Hungarian, Reti. The American, Johner, was beaten by the Berliner, Bardeleben. Schlechter now leads in the tournament.

BILLIARDIST WRIGHT IMPROVES; WILL PLAY CONKLIN TONIGHT.

Coast Expert Strong Enough to Compete in Playoff Game of the National Amateur Cue Championship.

H. A. Wright, the San Francisco billiard expert who is to meet Fred Conklin tonight in the second playoff game for the national amateur championship, was much improved yesterday, but still is under the care of a trained nurse. Wright's physician, however, states he will have him up bright and early this morning for a substantial breakfast, and that the player will be strong enough to knock the balls around in the afternoon.

Wright still has a chance to carry off the honors, but he will have to beat Conklin and Demarest. He caught Demarest away off stroke last Saturday night, but in his game with Conklin on Tuesday night Demarest showed he is in good form.

Regardless of the high runs or averages made in the playoff games, Demarest will take down the prizes for high run, single average, and grand average, as the runs and averages made in playing off the tie were not made in the tournament proper. Demarest won the high run prize with a break of 115 and the high single average prize with 27 3-11 in the 1907 tourney, but Poggenburg, in his playoff game for fourth prize with Dr. Mial, made a run of 117 and averaged 42 6-7, but he did not cut into Calvin's prizes.

Sutton Wins Two Games.

New York, March 25.—George Sutton defeated Fermin Cassignol, 300 to 143, in their 18-2 balkline exhibition billiard match this afternoon. Sutton added to his honors tonight by winning a victory over George Slosson of 500 to 211. Jacob Schaefer was sick and unable to play his scheduled match with Willie Hoppe. John A. Hendrick of New York took Schaefer's place and was defeated by a score of 400 to 146.

GAMES IN BOWLING LEAGUES.

Carl Muellers and Rovers Go Into a Tie for Second Place in the Sheridan Tourney.

By trampling on the Lelands to the extent of three games the Carl Muellers in the Sheridan league last night went into a tie for second place with the Rovers, who dropped two games to the Colonnas. The Muellers averaged 961 2-3, Bangart leading with 206.

High average for the night was scored by the Schliman & Mitchell team, which counted 968 and shut out the Winnebagos.

Voss of the Koch team in the Columbia league averaged 224 1-3, and Trapp counted 222 2-3 in the Belmont league. Scores:

First Bowlers' President Dies.

Henry Zachgo, one of the oldest writers of bowling in the country and first president of the American Bowling congress in the days when it was merely a small organization in New York, died yesterday of pneumonia. Zachgo was a resident of Chicago for several years before the fire, but moved to New York until 1900, when he returned west.

TO SEND PICKED CREW ABROAD.

Plans Forming in East to Select Eight Best College Oarsmen for the Olympic Regatta.

New Haven, Conn., March 25.—[Special.]—Yale, Harvard, Cornell, and other colleges are planning to send eight picked oarsmen to race the English universities at the Olympic games. The matter still is hazy, but an attempt is being made to raise funds for the trip. The question of the proper coach is being agitated, and the decision lies between John Kennedy of Yale and Charley Courtney of Cornell. Julian Curtiss of New York is directing the details of the scheme. The eight will represent the pick of the American universities as evidenced by the New London and Poughkeepsie regattas.

MARS ABE WINNER OVER GOOD FIELD.

Cella Two Year Old Clinches Claim to Be Rated as Leader at New Orleans.

RACE AT FIVE FURLONGS.

J. Lee Pilots Mount to Victory After Sensational Contest; Glorifier Beaten.

New Orleans, La., March 25.—[Special.]—Mars Abe, probably the smartest 2 year old of all the good ones from the stable of L. A. Cella, further clinched his claim to be rated at the top when he won the Juvenile stakes at City park today. In this event the local youngsters were asked to go five furlongs for the first time this season.

There was some question of the ability of Mars Abe to take up 123 pounds in fast company and travel the distance to advantage. Nevertheless, he always was favorite, and he justified the good opinion held of him by winning in sensational fashion.

Breaking with the leaders, he was bumped to his knees at the start, but was quickly pulled together by J. Lee, who rode, and in a few strides had gained the lead. He was taken wide to get the good going at the head of the stretch, but kept gamely on under stretch challenges from Brougham, Yankee Daughter, and Lady Chilton.

Defeat for Glorifier.

The secondary feature was a handicap at seven furlongs. This brought out another defeat for James McCormick's good eastern stake winner, Glorifier. Just on suspicion of superior class he was made an odds on favorite, in face of a report that he had all but a bowed tendon less than two weeks ago, while Pedro was a receding second choice. Al Muller set a sizzling pace for about six furlongs before he began to tire. Then Pedro, which had been rating along in third place, moved up, passed Glorifier in the stretch, and caught Al Muller. Pedro won quite cleverly in the closing drive and Al Muller lasted it out to beat Glorifier for the place.

BAD DAY FOR SMART PLAYERS.

Defeat of Oraculum and Others Jolts the Talent at Bennings—Poquessing Wins Third Race.

Washington, D. C., March 25.—[Special.]—Fine weather served to draw a large crowd to Bennings this afternoon. Form, however, was still a delusion, and the smart players suffered hard when George Odom's Oraculum was beaten in the third race.

McDaniel took Oraculum to the front when the gate went up and set such a fast pace the race looked to be all but over when the colt reached the far turn. The effort, however, was too much for him, as he began to falter and it was a drive to the wire. Poquessing won easily by a length. Oraculum had a big margin over Workmaid for the place.

On the way to the post for the first race at five and a half furlongs, Prowler, a solidly backed favorite, ran away for nearly a mile, which killed his chances. James McLaughlin's Nanno, a 15 to 1 shot, cut out a fast pace after leaving the barrier and won handily by a head from the rapidly closing Tea Leaf.

The smart players struck another snag in the second race for maiden 2 year olds at four and a half furlongs. They made Al Busch favorite, and also backed the Madden entry, Ragman and Footloose, for the place. But the winner turned up in Taboo, neglected at 7 to 1, which ran over her field and won in a gallop by four lengths. The turf sharps said after the race that Taboo was the best 2 year old yet shown. Summaries:

First race, 11-16 mile—Nanno, 87 [McCahey], 15 to 1, won; Tea Leaf, 94 [W. Walsh], 9 to 2, second; L'Amour, 108 [Bergen], 7 to 1, third. Time, 1:11. William H. Lyon, N'Importe, and Prowler ran.

Second race, 2 year old maidens, 9-16 mile—Taboo, 107 [McCarthy], 7 to 1, won; Bonnie Kelso, 107 [McDaniel], 9 to 2, second; Ragman, 107 [Brussel], 9 to 5, third. Time, :58. Al Busch, Brown Tony, Arrowshaft, and Footloose ran.

Third race, ¾ mile, selling—Poquessing, 110 [McCarthy], even, won; Oraculum, 116 [McDaniel], 9 to 10, second; Workmaid, 106 [Walsh], 20 to 1, third. Time, 1:31. Three starters.

Fourth race, ¾ mile—Dr. Lee, 115 [Burns], 7 to 2, won; Call Boy, 101 [Steele], 12 to 1, second; Ferrylanding, 98 [McCahey], 5 to 1, third. Time, 1:17 2-5. Jim Nutwood, Arlington, Richmond Duke, Hartford Boy, Sherring, Profusion, Putnam, Cartwheel, and Alloy ran.

Fifth race, maiden steeplechase, about 2 miles—Percentage, 137 [McInerney], 1 to 2, won; Penarris, 137 [Huppe], 1 to 2, second; Fin McCool, 137 [Kelleher], 8 to 1, third. Time, 4:18. Flying Machine, Aiken, Erie, and Wayside ran. Bessie Kiser fell.

Sixth race, 1 mile and 40 yards, selling—Animus, 111 [Shaw], 8 to 5, won; Reidmoore, 110 [Burns], 9 to 5, second; Lally, 103 [McCahey], 13 to 2, third. Time, 1:45 2-5. Al H. Woods, Delphie, and King's Essing ran.

GOTCH HAS NEW TRAINERS

'Farmer' Burns and Jack Carkeek Join American Champion.

HARD TUSSLES AT THE I. A. C.

Aids Are Confident of Victory Over the "Russian Lion."

Frank Gotch has engaged "Farmer" Burns and Jack Carkeek to fit him for his coming world's championship wrestling match with George Hackenschmidt, scheduled to take place at the Dexter park pavilion on April 3. As they are the best wrestlers and conditioners in America there is no question that Gotch will enter the arena fit to give the "Lion" the grappling battle of his career.

The American champion has been taking a long jaunt on the road, and in the morning between jogs and walks indulges in a 100 yard sprint for the benefit of his breathing apparatus. In the afternoon he tackles his trainers at the Illinois Athletic club in catch as catch can bouts, in which Burns and Carkeek give him an awful game. Gotch, however, handles them in a fierce manner.

Gotch yesterday said he erred in not taking at least a month's rest before he began training, as he had been steadily at work for over two years. He feels the effects of the hard training he has had in the last few days. He worked faster yesterday than he has in several days.

Carkeek is positive Gotch will down the "Russian Lion." He considers Frank a better catch as catch can wrestler and a gamer man. "This talk of Hackenschmidt never having been thrown and that he is the champion of the world is all bosh," he said. "There are several men in the old country that have beaten him, and Beck Olsen once made him jump out of the ring. That was at Copenhagen in 1903 and I have the account of the match in my scrap book. I must admit he is wonderfully strong and a class A Græco-Roman wrestler, but he is not wise to Gotch's game. Knowing both men, I am almost positive that if Hackenschmidt does not win any of the falls in the first fifteen minutes he will go home a loser. He will go along all right when he has the upper hand and is not being too roughly handled, but once he is stung he will turn tail."

Hackenschmidt is preparing for the bout at the C. A. A. with his imported trainer, Emil Stegemiller, and is devoting most of his training trying to learn a way to avoid Gotch's famous and dangerous toe hold. He has been informed that the hold means a sure fall and says he will try to make it his point to keep behind the American champion.

The advance sale of seats indicates the largest gate receipts in the history of American wrestling.

FIERCE FIGHT ENDS IN DRAW.

Matty Baldwin and Willie Moody Hammer Each Other for Twelve Rounds Before Boston Club.

Boston, Mass., March 25.—[Special.]—In one of the most spectacular battles seen in Boston in years Matty Baldwin and Willie Moody of Philadelphia went twelve rounds to a draw before the Armory A. A. tonight. From the beginning the men stood in the center of the ring and slugged right and left. Moody had all the better of it during the first six rounds, and had Baldwin looking like a joke. The Charlestown fighter was bleeding at the mouth and nose and was reeling. Six rounds, however, was Moody's limit. He outfought himself, and Baldwin gave him a fierce lacing in the last six rounds. Jack Sheehan was the referee.

Dorbert and Klein Draw.

Baltimore, Md., March 25.—[Special.]—"Kid" Dorbert of this city and Patsy Klein of Newark fought fifteen hard and fast rounds tonight before the Arena Athletic club. It was Dorbert's fight, although the referee called the contest a draw.

More Entries for Pool Tourney.

If Jerome Keogh declines to enter the open pool tourney which will follow his match for the championship with Champion Hueston at Brooke's casino next week it is probable Jesse Lean of St. Louis will be given a chance to play. Keogh writes that he cannot remain here for the two weeks required for the tournament. So many enthusiasts tried to watch Hueston at practice here yesterday that the St. Louis man was seriously hampered. The entries of Pelletier, the Canadian champion, and Allen of Kansas City were received yesterday.

At the Billiard Halls.

At Mussey's—Snyder [50] won from Alexander [46] at three cushions, 50 to 44.

At Foley's—Ball [120] defeated Jenkins [190], 120 to 164. Tonight, Ball and Lince.

DISCUSS WAR ON RATE LAW

Illinois Railway Men to Plan Attack at Meeting Today.

FIND COMFORT IN DECISIONS.

Supreme Court Rulings Encourage Leaders in the Movement.

Railroad men of Illinois will meet in Chicago today to discuss the question of a possible attack upon the Illinois 2 cent passenger rate law. Presidents, vice presidents, and general counsel of Illinois roads, who have been encouraged by the two decisions of the United States Supreme court on Monday in the Minnesota and North Carolina rate cases, will participate in the meeting.

The initial meeting today probably will be held in the rooms of the Western Passenger association in the Railway Exchange building on Michigan avenue. Railroad officials said yesterday that no definite plans for a legal fight have been decided upon, and that the meeting today will be to get expert opinions as to the propriety of legal procedure. The conferences probably will continue for several days.

Say Roads' Earnings Decrease.

Executive officers assert that statistics compiled by the roads for the last six months prove that both the 2 cent passenger rate of Illinois and the maximum freight rates which the roads have been compelled to put in force in Minnesota and Wisconsin are confiscatory.

The case of the Chicago and Alton is cited as typical of the Illinois roads. During November and December 542,945 passengers were carried, an increase of 42,676 over the same period of 1906. But with this increase of 8.4 per cent in number of passengers carried the passenger revenue was $551,984, as against $591,034 of the two closing months of 1906, a decrease of $39,050, or 6.6 per cent, it is said.

The revenue per passenger per mile decreased 10.8 per cent. Statistics for other months of the six months period are said to present the same general testimony.

Hears Shippers' Complaints.

The subcommittee of the official classification committee, appointed to meet in Chicago to receive complaints from western shippers and to report to the official committee in New York next week, began its work during the day in the rooms of the Central Freight association in the Rookery building. The docket contains over 300 cases, and any shipper may present evidence or complaints on any of the cases. The subcommittee is an innovation appointed at the urgent request of western shippers who are unable to attend the meeting of the official classification committee in New York. About thirty shippers appeared before the subcommittee at its first session. The meetings will extend over three days.

Paul Rainer, chief of the joint weighing and inspection bureau, is acting as the vice chairman of the subcommittee.

Deny Ripley Will Resign.

The report that President Ripley of the Santa Fe railroad will resign probably within the next three months and that Paul Morton, president of the Equitable Life Assurance society of New York, will succeed him was denied by both Mr. Ripley and Mr. Morton. Mr. Ripley wired to THE TRIBUNE from Santa Barbara as follows: "Rumor wholly without foundation. No intention of retiring." Mr. Morton wired from San Francisco: "No foundation for the story."

Vice President Jansen, in Chicago, said: "There is absolutely no truth in the report. President Ripley is satisfied with his position and he is satisfactory to the stockholders of the road. The report would seem to emanate from the fact that Mr. Morton is traveling with officials of the road, who are old personal friends. I do not think Mr. Morton wishes to return to the railroad business."

BANKERS CLASS LA FOLLETTE AS DEMAGOGUE AND WORSE.

Mr. Forgan and Mr. Dawes Reply Briefly to Senator's Charge That They Are the Tools of Industrial Dictators.

James B. Forgan, president of the First National bank, and Charles G. Dawes, president of the Central Trust Company of Illinois, who were classified by Senator La Follette in his speech against the Aldrich bill as "tools" of the country's "industrial dictators" and as taking order from "higher up," yesterday retorted in kind.

President Forgan said Senator La Follette is a demagogue, who is playing to the galleries, stirring up class feeling and class prejudice, and that he is a "rainbow chaser," drawing on his imagination instead of producing facts.

"It is singular that Mr. La Follette should classify me as a tool, taking my orders from 'higher up,' when it is well known that I have opposed the Aldrich bill all the time," said Mr. Forgan.

"That being true, and if I am a 'tool,' I suppose my job is in jeopardy. If the senator's statements are true, I must be a rebel against my bosses."

Continuing his comment, he said he opposed the Aldrich bill on reasonable and sane grounds, and that he wrote a letter on the subject which stirred up the western financial world.

President Dawes took the matter humorously. Anticipating that he would be asked what he thought of the "classification," Mr. Dawes had a four line typewritten statement prepared. It read:

"I do not care to comment on Senator La Follette's speech. The Spaniards have it right when they say that 'it is a waste of lather to shave an ass.'"

JAMES J. HILL PESSIMISTIC.

Does Not Agree with Commissioner Lane on the Prosperity of the Railroads.

Washington, D. C., March 25.—James J. Hill was in Washington today, but would not discuss the Minnesota railway decision.

"The courts have said all there is to say on that subject," he declared. Referring to the statement issued yesterday by Franklin K. Lane of the interstate commerce commission to the effect that the railroad companies are prospering despite reports to the contrary, Mr. Hill said: "Keep that article before you. Then follow the accounts of railway affairs for the next three months daily, and see how the facts and the optimistic views compare.

"The Pennsylvania railroad would not lay off any of its men if it could possibly afford to keep them," continued Mr. Hill, "but it can't afford it. It isn't earning enough to do so. It is the same situation everywhere. It's too heavy a draft on optimism to see this condition of affairs in a bright light."

Missing Official Back; Arrested.

New Orleans, La., March 25.—[Special.]—Ferdinand Dudenhefer, formerly tax collector of the Third District, alleged to be short $75,000 in his accounts, was arrested here today after having been missing for a year. Officers who exerted every effort to locate Dudenhefer after his disappearance were surprised when they learned he had been in his home since last Thursday.

HARRY A. WHEELER.

Harry A. Wheeler, president of the Clearing House association, was elected chairman of the committee on ways and means of the Chicago Association of Commerce yesterday afternoon. Mr. Wheeler's election was unanimous. The meeting, which was held at the Great Northern hotel, was the first session of the newly organized committee. More than 200 members were present.

In accepting the head of the "general assembly," as the committee is termed by the association, Mr. Wheeler said it would be the organization's purpose to further the greatness of the Chicago market by promoting the interests of smaller markets tributary to Chicago.

During the last three years Mr. Wheeler has been one of the most active officials of the association. In 1905 he served on the auditing committee. The next year he was elected general secretary, and was reëlected to this position Feb. 4, 1907.

Mr. Wheeler has served also as a member of the executive committee and on the board of directors in the years of 1906 and 1907.

In addition to this new office Mr. Wheeler is now a member of the board of directors and also of the executive committee of the association.

THURSDAY, MARCH 26, 1908.

DISARM.

With the passage of the three ordinances regulating and restricting the sale and possession of deadly weapons the council has done its duty in this important matter.

But laws are not self-acting. The best of them is worthless unless the executive department of government enforces it effectively. The deadly weapon ordinances are worthless unless the police department and the courts give them value.

So far as the police are concerned it seems probable that the ordinances will be rigidly applied for a time at least. They are in the interest of the policeman, and their effectual operation would do much to make his life easier and safer. Where so plain a self-interest exists the public may feel assured of enforcement.

The activities of the police in discovering offenders must be supplemented by a vigorous exacting of penalties prescribed. This is the duty of our police magistrates. In the past it has been a duty often insufficiently realized. Doubtless the improvement in the personnel of the magistracy since the Municipal court judges were seated will be shown in a keener recognition of responsibilities in this respect.

There is no reason why any one should carry deadly weapons in this city. At any rate, where an exception to this general rule exists it should be justified by definite reasons. Licenses to possess or carry weapons should not be granted save on the clearest grounds of necessity. And those who evade or break the new ordinances should be unhesitatingly and heavily punished.

The frontier period is past in Chicago. Its code and habits should be abolished.

A STATESMAN'S WOES.

The poor boy has no chance unless he can arouse the people by using his tongue. That is a sentiment accredited to William Jennings Bryan as an answer to a question recently asked him. Some newspapers have cruelly suggested that the advice comes from one who speaks from experience, having made himself rich by the use of that part of his body.

The tongue may be used too freely when one is a candidate for a high office or is willing to be called to serve the people. Gov. Johnson is beginning to find that out. Authoritatively announced as a candidate for the presidency on one day, the next morning he declares that his conversation with the correspondent was with no thought whatever of having his words given publicity through the press. Just why a statesman in the limelight should talk frankly with a newspaper correspondent on a special mission to interview him does not appear in the denial. Gov. Johnson apparently does not yet appreciate the joys of a position where one cannot say anything without having it repeated throughout the land.

The governor takes exception, too, to statements in an article in an April magazine which make out that he has no intention of becoming active against "intrenched privilege" and that he has no grievance against "wealthy malefactors." Such an interpretation of his attitude on the trusts and associated evils that afflict the country is declared to be an entirely mistaken one. He appeals to his many public utterances for proof that he has no sympathy whatever with predatory interests.

Gov. Johnson must not be thin skinned. Many democrats are looking to him as the new Moses to lead the wandering party out of the wilderness. The Moses of the olden time had one characteristic worthy of copying by his modern imitators. He was "slow of speech." Some men have sufficient hold upon the people to warrant them to speak plainly without caring who knows what is said. Others follow the safer course of using words in such a skillful manner as to say nothing in their rounded paragraphs. Between the two extremes there is no golden mean for the public man.

Gov. Johnson is well understood in Minnesota. He can say what he pleases about conditions in that commonwealth. When he enters the larger field of national politics he must expect to have his utterances published everywhere. He must be prepared to have his position on public questions wrongly stated. It will not do for him to resent these attacks. Likewise, if his present awakening is a genuine one he will be more cautious hereafter in his conversations with representatives of the press who consult him on candidates and public issues.

LEGISLATION ASKED FOR.

President Roosevelt's latest message is addressed exclusively to congress and not to the people. It deals only with questions of legislation and does not refer to the "malefactors of great wealth." Therefore it will not be read with so much pained interest as that of Jan. 31. It is a summary of measures which he thinks congress has ample time to dispose of during the present session. They are all subjects to which he has called its attention on previous occasions and with which it is familiar.

Some of the things on the president's legislative program are highly controversial. Probably he does not anticipate action on all his recommendations, and will be satisfied if only a part of them receive attention. Possibly there is an understanding with the congressional leaders as to what is to be accomplished.

The leaders are in a more accommodating mood than they were at the beginning of the session. Then they were opposed to any legislation outside the appropriation bills, except an emergency currency measure. They argued that a policy of legislative inaction would be much safer on the eve of a presidential election than a policy of legislative activity with the possibility of enacting some law that might cost the party votes. They are understood to have abandoned that position.

Congressmen are impatient to get away from Washington as soon as they can, but there is abundant time for them to dispose of several of the subjects on the president's slate. It ought to be possible to pass almost by common consent an employers' liability law and one giving compensation to employés injured or killed in the service of the government. Amending the anti-trust law, which nearly everybody admits should be amended in some respects, will not be so easy a task. Yet congress should be able to find time in which to do it, bearing in mind, however, the sole negative recommendation in the president's message. It is that "nothing should be done to legalize either a blacklist or a boycott that would be illegal at common law."

There are many men in congress who wish to be at home looking after their personal political interests. A higher duty demands their presence at the capital. The session should not close without well considered legislation on a number of the topics mentioned by the president.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE IN CHICAGO.

A judge of the Municipal court who is influenced by his emotions rather than the law says that too many men are "railroaded through" to the penitentiary and that it is time for the people of Chicago to "rise in their might" and put a stop to it. This is indeed a novel complaint. For years the people have been protesting against the law's delays. They have seen the jail full of men who have been kept there for months when they should have been given a speedy trial and sent to the penitentiary. The sense of justice of the community has been outraged again and again by the intolerably long interval between the trial and conviction of some criminal and his being put to work at Joliet. The court records do not confirm the assertion that men are being sent to Joliet with extraordinary and unjust dispatch.

If the people of Chicago were to "rise in their might" at this time it would be to demand a more rigid enforcement of the criminal law and greater celerity in the trial and conviction of criminals so that the population of the Joliet penitentiary might be materially increased and that of Chicago diminished. The people would also "rise in their might" if they had any idea that the legislature would enact a law leaving it to the discretion of a judge to parole a man guilty of a "first offense"—the "first offense" being entering a dwelling house by night or pointing a pistol at somebody in the street and ordering him to hand over his money.

Prison officials have been given authority to parole such fellows if, after watching their behavior for a year or more, they are satisfied that they can be let loose with safety. Every now and then the officials make grave mistakes. They do not make one mistake where a wildly sentimental judge with power to parole would make a hundred. The "first offense" a man is arraigned for is the first he was caught at but usually not the first he has committed. A judge who believed in the wonder working efficacy of the parole system would not take that fact into consideration but would turn him loose if he promised to be good and wept a little.

When there is evidence which goes to show that a man has committed a felony a grand jury should pass on the case first. If it finds a true bill a petit jury should hear the evidence and determine the man's fate. If there is to be any paroling let it be done by the prison authorities and not by some amiable and easily deceived judge.

The methods of administering criminal law in Chicago are often palpably unfair to the community. That they are unfair to men charged with crime has been asserted but not proved.

THE POLITICAL DRIFT IN ENGLAND.

The effect of the sharp reversal of party fortunes met by the liberals in the by-election in Peckham is mitigated by the fact that the district has been normally conservative. During the liberal landslide it went the way of many another conservative stronghold, but in the election preceding it gave a conservative majority of 1,300 odd.

Nevertheless such a swing of the pendulum as is now shown is not to be ignored, and, taken with the conservative victories and gains shown at other recent by-elections, indicates the inevitable reflux of popular favor away from the "ins" toward the "outs." It probably indicates something deeper and more dangerous to liberal power than that familiar political phenomenon of reaction. This the liberal press plainly shows by the increasing anxiety revealed in its comment.

The Peckham district is inhabited by the poorer strata of the middle class and by workmen. An analysis of the causes of conservative success is not yet possible, but the temperance question has obviously been a prominent issue, if not the paramount one. The government's licensing bill is one of the several measures which claim the ardent support of a considerable part of the liberal following, but, on the other hand, has the enmity of another part. Thus the normal liberal minority was undoubtedly badly divided, while the conservatives were fighting with the prejudices of a class in their favor as well as with the advantage of the rising tide of tariff reform. Free trade is not a phrase to conjure with before the London populace, so the liberals were playing with the odds heavily against them.

But, after generous deductions are made, the election must be deemed an emphatic testimony to the critical position in which the liberal party now finds itself. It is not always true that a house divided against itself cannot stand. British liberalism is today something of an amalgam, and under the strain of official responsibility the cohesive forces which hold its elements together are being weakened. The tendency at this stage is toward union among the conservatives and toward disunion among the liberals. In the latter party every group is shouting for the specific reform nearest its own heart and rousing antagonism in every other group.

The right wing, composed of the wealthy upper middle class, is thoroughly frightened by the party alliance with a labor party now, theoretically at least, pledged to socialism. It views with alarm the collectivist reforms which a party the breath of whose nostrils was individualism is now championing. In fact, this right wing would incontinently bolt the liberal party if it were not faced by an uncomfortable alternative. If it bolts it must bolt to the conservative party, but alas! that organization is now in the hands of the tariff reformers and moreover is as shamelessly tempting the proletariat with "socialistic" reforms as the liberals.

For this group another possibility exists. It might draw from the conservatives what remains of its stanchest free traders and make an independent party, which, combining with one side or the other, with one group or another, might really exert a more effective control upon legislation than if it were working as a constituent minority within one of the present organizations.

But this would be a hazardous departure. English politics is not yet ready for the bloc system. Besides, those liberals, however uncomfortable they may feel over the wishes of their radical allies, are likely to conclude that the pressing issue is free trade. And they will get what consolation they can from the hope that their chances of checking radical social measures are as good in the liberal ranks as in the conservative.

Yet the clash of contending interests is weakening or diverting the fighting ardor of the liberals, while hope renewed is strengthening their opponents. An appeal to the country is not likely to come within the year, but it probably will come with the end of the session.

UNCLE SAM'S forests have found a powerful friend.

ONE way of protecting them, he says, is to put wood pulp on the free list.

HE makes the startling assertion, also, that the time to put wood pulp on the free list is NOW.

ROGER SULLIVAN may not have climbed into the Bryan band wagon, but he has permitted himself to be lifted into it.

NEW JERSEY'S legislature is willing to suspend business now and then for the purpose of listening to recitations and interesting stories under the head of "good of the order."

A NEWSPAPER correspondent says South Carolina is raising as fine tea as can be produced in China or anywhere else. Doesn't he know that a magazine writer a month or more ago proved by logic and analogy the impossibility of this sort of thing in South Carolina?

IF Ald. Badenoch were in his oldtime form he would stalk through that Thirty-second ward, erect, gigantic, and terrible as an army with banners, and the recalcitrants would wilt and fade away at his approach.

SOME good friend of Gov. Johnson should warn him that he is disturbing the "happy family" cage in the democratic menagerie.

A KANSAS CITY health officer called the attention of a street railway conductor to the filthy condition of his car, and was rewarded by being promptly kicked off. This is what happens when abstract reform descends to the plane of the concrete and becomes meddlesome.

"IT is just what I expected," remarks Attorney Ickes, referring to the verdict of the coroner's jury in the Averbuch case. It is just what the public expected, too.

IT speaks well for the general health of Chicago that undertakers are trying to increase their business by giving trading stamps with coffins.

Out of the Dim Past.

Alexander the Great had just subdued Bucephalus.

"Anybody can bust a broncho," he said, "but it takes a man to put the snaffles on a big four legged devil like this one."

Being shrewd, politic fellows, the cowboys of that age allowed the impression to go out that they were afraid to try to ride the savage beast, and the subservient historians hastened to confirm that impression.

Charming Soubrette—"Why, certainly, Mr. Leesem. I shall put them in my safety deposit box, where all the others are."

Nan—"He proposed to you while the train was going around the elevated loop? How odd!"

Fan—"Yes, and the engagement lasted till we got clear around. You don't know how it relieved the tedium of the ride."

Floored.

"You say there's no such thing as matter? Then there is no such thing as a gas meter. Yet you are paying out your good money for 8,000 feet of gas registered by a machine that doesn't exist."

"Certainly; there is no such thing as money."

Rural Philosophy.

"A crow," said the farmer, reaching for his gun, "is a good deal like an Injun. Sometimes you can make him good by giving him a little trinket."

Thereupon he drew a bead on the bird and give it a present of small shot besides.

"Naggus," said Borus, "you've seen that story of mine that's running through one of the magazines. How would you advise me to wind it up? I want to give it a happy ending."

"Put all the characters in the story," answered Naggus, "aboard an excursion steamer for a moonlight ride. Send the boat out to the middle of the lake——"

"Yes?"

"And blow it up."

Unanswerable.

"Pardon me," the photographer said, "but I think your smile is unnecessarily broad. It will show all your teeth."

"Those teeth cost me $60," growled the sitter. "I want 'em to show."

MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

OLD LORD CHETWYND, who is 85 years of age, has just lost his only son, the Hon. Richard Chetwynd, under tragic circumstances which have served to recall to mind the many chapters which this family has furnished to the romance and drama of the British aristocracy during the last hundred years.

It is perhaps just as well for the British house of lords that the Hon. Richard Chetwynd should have predeceased his aged father, succumbing, it is said, to a self-administered dose of cyanide of potassium.

For, according to the admission of his relatives and to the records of the divorce court at the time when his marriage with the sister of the late Sir Herbert Naylor Leyland was dissolved, he had scarcely had a whole sober moment since his marriage, nearly twenty years ago.

This, together with the fact that he has frequently figured in the bankruptcy court, and, dependent upon his relatives for money, was perfectly incapable of turning an honest penny, would have rendered him an extremely undesirable hereditary legislator.

Indeed, his presence in the upper house of the imperial parliament would have furnished an additional argument to those who are clamoring for the reform or for the abolition of the house of lords.

The divorce court awarded the custody of his children to their mother. But Mrs. Dick Chetwynd was extremely extravagant, not only in monetary matters, but also in her conduct; so much so that her relatives caused her to be committed to a lunatic asylum, from which, however, she secured her release through appeal to higher courts.

During the few months that she spent in the lunatic asylum before obtaining her liberation her mother, old Mrs. Thomas Naylor Leyland, widow of the millionaire shipowner of the Leyland line of steamers, obtained an order from the courts intrusting her with the custody of her granddaughters.

But her daughter was no sooner out of the asylum than she instituted proceedings against her mother, bringing all sorts of evidence to show that the latter was not a fit person to be intrusted with the education of young girls, being half crazy and given up to spiritualistic fads and fancies.

So extraordinary was the evidence presented by the daughter against the mother and by the mother against the daughter that the courts finally decided that neither of the two women was a fit guardian of the young Chetwynd girls, and accordingly assigned them to the care of an elderly member of the Leyland family, Mr. Christopher John Leyland of Haggerston castle, Northumberland.

Before they had been there for more than a couple of years Mrs. Chetwynd made a desperate attempt to abduct her daughters, and, having chartered a yacht, awaited them at Beal, a point on the Northumberland coast, to which they were to be brought from the castle by those whom she employed to assist her in the affair.

It is only fair to mention that the young girls, who are devoted to their mother and were unhappy at gloomy old Haggerston castle, remote from everything and from everywhere, were only too anxious to be abducted and to get away to Paris with their mother, beyond the reach of the arm of the English law.

Through indiscretion and treachery, however, the plot for their abduction came to grief; and while Mrs. Chetwynd's confederates were arrested and sentenced to terms of penal servitude on the charge of abduction, she herself managed to escape on board her yacht and to reach the continent.

This happened some three or four years ago, and only last month Mrs. Chetwynd, who has ever since been living in Paris as an outlaw, with a warrant out for her arrest in the event of her setting foot on English soil, succeeded in securing a withdrawal of the warrant, and is now free once more to return to England without danger of imprisonment.

Of course, in her case the only charge for which she could have been held was that of contempt of court.

It was different, however, with those whom she had employed to assist her in the escape of her daughters from Haggerston castle.

For they had rendered themselves guilty of abduction, which is a felony, entailing penal servitude.

The elder of Mrs. Chetwynd's daughters is now 18 years of age, and the younger on the road to 17.

So that it will not be long before they will be able to emancipate themselves from the guardianship of the master of Haggerston castle and to join their mother.

That is to say, unless some fresh misfortune overtakes the latter. For something like a curse seems to pursue the Naylor Leyland family, to which she belongs by birth.

For her father, old Tom Leyland, the friend and most munificent patron of Whistler, died in a most tragic manner in 1886, being accidentally killed by his only son, Herbert, while out deerstalking in the highlands.

The tragedy blighted the whole subsequent life of the unfortunate son, who had thus, to his bitter grief, become a parricide.

But somehow or another it never seemed to appeal to frivolous worldly London society in a serious light.

In fact, people were actually inclined to make a joke of the affair, and endowed Sir Herbert with the cruel name of "Bagdad Leyland," which stuck to him to the end of his days.

Sir Herbert married Miss Jeanie Chamberlain of Cleveland, O., famous for her beauty, and died suddenly and prematurely in 1899, not long after having been created a baronet; and the year before last, it may be recalled, the newspapers on both sides of the Atlantic were filled with stories of the precautions which the American widowed Lady Naylor Leyland, and also the police authorities, had considered it necessary to adopt in order to insure the safety of her two boys, now at Eton, and who were understood to be threatened with injury or abduction from some mysterious source.

The elder of the boys is now in his 18th year, has inherited his father's baronetcy, and is a godson of the king. The younger boy, George, is a godson of the prince of Wales and of the late duke of Cambridge.

The Chetwynd family likewise seems to be pursued by some strange fate. It is famous not only for the antiquity of its lineage, which extends back in an unbroken line to Adam de Chetwynd, lord of Chetwynd, who figured in the history of the twelfth century, but also for the extraordinary number of occasions on which it has engaged the attention of the law courts, especially those of divorce.

Among the divorces to its credit are those of the marchioness of Anglesey, who was Miss Lillian Chetwynd until her marriage to the late Lord Anglesey of footlight and jewel fame, her divorce being pronounced by the late Lord St. Helier, who for many years presided over the divorce court, as having been the most extraordinary and unique that had ever come before him.

Then there was that Isabella Chetwynd who, after being divorced by Mr. Poole of Marbury hall, Salop, married the late Viscount Combermere, the co-respondent in the case.

Then there was Sir William Chetwynd, in whose divorce case Lord Llandaff was cited as co-respondent.

Dick Chetwynd's death recalls an odd suit which took place some time prior to his divorce and in which the plaintiff was a man of the name of Straus.

Engaged in the wine business, he first made the acquaintance of the Chetwynds by selling them a few dozens of wine. It was not long before the man, whose social ambitions were only equaled by his vulgarity, was dining with the Hon. Dick and Mrs. Chetwynd and a constant guest at their house, rendering himself useful both to husband and wife by doing little jobs for them in the city, such as buying and selling stocks, etc.

In course of time Mrs. Chetwynd got tired of Mr. Straus. Perhaps his vulgarity and presumption ended by palling upon her, or perhaps she found some less objectionable factotum to do her little jobs whenever she felt like a "flyer" on the stock exchange.

Be that as it may, Mr. Straus was no longer invited to dinner, and when he called at Mrs. Chetwynd's house he was invariably informed that she was "not at home."

Exceedingly disgusted and annoyed, he thereupon resorted to the form of revenge which most naturally suggested itself to him. He sent her a bill for all the wine that had been supplied to her husband and which had remained unpaid. Mrs. Chetwynd denied the liability, on the ground that the indebtedness was not hers, but that of her husband.

It is not possible to solve all the interesting mysteries uncovered in an Owen Davis melodrama at a single visit but a few things are made quite plain. We know, for instance, after seeing three acts of "Since Nellie Went Away" in the Academy yesterday, the accident that prompted Nellie's leaving.

Nellie lived in Long Point, Conn., down near the beach, and she left there because she lost her marriage license. She went to New York in search of the young man who had given it to her, and it was days and days before she returned. Her experiences were many and her disappointments bitter.

Nellie Dale was her name, and she was the daughter of Widow Dale, whose good man had been killed years before Nellie thought of marrying. The two Dales lived in a little cabin near a life saving station on the Connecticut coast, and reasonably happy was their lot until Nellie grew to young womanhood and bought a new pink spring gown with hat to match. Then it was that brave Gabriel Farley, who could save three men's lives while the other lifesavers were tusseling with one, wanted to marry her. And Nellie could not love Gabe. She told him so two or three times.

One bright and beautiful day (ah, how little did Nellie know what that day was to mean to her in after acts) there came to Long Point to watch the lifesavers playing in the surf a crowd of wild but fashionable college men from Yale. With them, yelling louder than the others and making himself picturesquely conspicuous, was Roy Thatcher. Roy was a Yale man and the son of one of New York's most careless bankers. He spoke to Nellie, she thrilled at his words, and even before the play opened they eloped to New Haven, thence to New York, were married, had dinner in the Astor house, and returned to Nellie's humble home. It was their intention to keep their marriage secret until all was well with Roy's father and honest Gabe could be made to understand, but fate and a black haired lady decreed otherwise.

Banker Thatcher had promised Eva Dean that she should marry his son. Eva was in Roy's set, but not in his class. She was really an adventuress, and she was fearfully angry when she learned of the elopement. Being a woman of determination she went to Long Point, saw Nellie caché her marriage certificate, abstracted that document from its hiding place in the scenery, put a blank sheet of paper in its place, and swore that as sure as she was alive she would, with the aid of heaven and Ashley James (her unprincipled accomplice) separate Nellie and her husband. Heaven Miss Dean did not purpose rewarding, but to Mr. James she promised $5,000 in cash or securities the day she became the second Mrs. Roy Thatcher.

This was the situation when rumor began to boast that Nellie should be wearing scarlet in place of pink, and it was because of this situation that Nellie was stricken deaf, dumb and blind when she bravely produced what she thought was her marriage certificate and discovered that it had faded. Then it was that she went away.

O, New York—cruel, heartless, hope blasting New York—paved with the broken hearts and sprinkled with the tears of countless heroines—how can you stand for it all?

Once in New York and Nellie had the time of her life to keep from being murdered. Hither and thither she was spirited, and practically all the time her stomach was empty. The villains met her at the train shed and would have abducted her then if the Hebrew comedian had not interfered. When she innocently took a subway local to get to Roy Thatcher's house they beat her there on the express, and by the time she arrived Eva Dean had induced Roy to write an offer to settle with her for $25,000 on a folded piece of paper, at the top of which he had already written and forgotten the words "My Darling Wife!"

Could any honest girl hope to win against such odds? Still she refused to believe Roy Thatcher guilty, and she sniffed with all the pride of her Long Point training at the money offer. Wonderful intuition. Nellie knew married men never have any money.

Soon she was wandering and starving at Five Points, N. Y. Here Gabe found her and asked her to go back home. No, not without her license or her honor. Then Gabe took her into a friendly pawnshop to get her something to eat and left her, and when she came out the villains captured her and carried her high up in a building, from which she escaped down the fire escape.

But what of Eva Dean? Ah, she was not idle. She conferred with Banker Thatcher, and when the banker was busy she stole $25,000 in bonds and put them in Roy Thatcher's coat. Hence our hero was next arrested as a thief. But did they hold him? No! Gabe's friend went on his bond. Then everybody returned to Long Point and Nellie foolishly went out to the old mill to meet Roy. Did she meet him? No! Whom did she meet? The opposition. And what happened? She was locked in the mill until Gabe arrived and rescued her by swinging on the arms, as Fred Stone does in musical comedy.

From there to the life saving station. In come the villains, and away goes Nellie. Goodness, now she is in an open boat, and not a man to save her! What, not one? Yes, one! And who may he be? Roy Thatcher, just out of prison and aching for excitement.

While the lights are lowered certain parties sneak in with the ocean. When we again see clearly Ashley James is sailing across the waterscape with Nellie and a catboat. But before he knows it alongside comes Roy Thatcher in a faster catboat. There is a blow, a muttered curse, a cry of joy, and Nellie is safe in the faster boat. And we suspect she stepped on the ocean.

This last rescue, daringly executed, seemed to discourage Eva Dean and Ashley James. Ashley had lost much of his spirit in the previous act, when he had been shot on the spot by the comedian, and was compelled to walk lame thereafter. But they made one desperate, final effort to be even with everybody. When they found that no matter how much Nellie went away she always came back they planned to rob and kill old man Thatcher. But did they succeed? No! For the third and last time, No!

Roy Thatcher and Nellie Dale, now made one by the happy recovery of the missing license, were there to save him. And Nellie did not go away again until the evening performance.

WOMAN'S CLUB CANDIDATES NOMINATED BY COMMITTEE.

Mrs. John O'Connor and Mrs. Edward L. Upton Put Up to Contest for the Presidency.

A vigorous contest for the presidency of the Chicago Woman's club was inaugurated officially yesterday when the club nominating committee presented its report at a business meeting held in the afternoon. The nominees for president on the "club ticket" are Mrs. John O'Connor, 5210 Woodlawn avenue, and Mrs. Edward L. Upton of Waukegan.

Mrs. O'Connor is a state federation officer, being vice president for the second district federation of clubs. Mrs. Upton, who received the largest number of votes on the nominating ballots, is vice president of the club.

Nominations for only two other offices were made, the remaining officers being "holdovers" from this year. For second vice president Mrs. A. W. Bryant was nominated, and for corresponding secretary the committee reported the names of Mrs. Everett Brown and Mrs. William G. Atkins.

"PAROLE COURT'S" COMPLETE RECORD BARED AT LENGTH BY JUDGE GEMMILL.

JUDGE McKENZIE CLELAND'S public defiance of Chief Justice Olson and the judges of the Municipal court in regard to his legal right to parole adult prisoners and his appeal to the churches to support him in his course, resulted yesterday in the explosion of a bomb which has been nestling under Judge Cleland's bench for some time.

Judge William N. Gemmill applied the match in the shape of a report baring the actions of Judge Cleland while presiding at the Maxwell street police branch.

Judge Gemmill has been working several days on the report. In it he charges that Judge Cleland time after time violated the express provisions of the criminal law. In the face of Judge Cleland's statement that he paroled no persons charged with felonies, Judge Gemmill says he has found these cases of arrests and subsequent paroles by Cleland:

Burglary; paroled	14
Grand larceny; paroled	9
Larceny as bailee; paroled	4
Assault with intent to commit murder; paroled	2
Assault with deadly weapon; paroled	12
Making threats to kill; paroled	1
Seduction; paroled	4
Embezzlement; paroled	4
Obtaining money under false pretenses; paroled	2
Robbery; paroled	1
Causing delinquency of child; paroled	2
Contempt of court; paroled	1
Vagrancy; paroled	1

Added to this is a list of prisoners held to the county jail without bail—a specific violation of law. Thirty cases are named.

The third list gives the numbers of cases where the parole was put into effect, as follows:

Wife and child abandonment	83
Assault and battery	87
Petit larceny	64

The fourth list gives felony cases in which Judge Cleland sat as an examining magistrate before the warrant was issued. It shows that 205 of these were discharged at the trial and 133 held to the grand jury.

In a letter attached to the report Judge Gemmill says that Judge Cleland's system not only was illegal but ought to remain so and that in reality Judge Cleland is not in favor of the parole law that is before the state legislature.

Chief Justice Olson in an interview said the Supreme court of Illinois left it beyond question that the adult parole system as practiced by Judge Cleland was illegal.

Judge Cleland took issue again with his fellow judges. He said that he knew he had a right to parole for misdemeanors and that that part of the report which dealt with felonies was incorrect.

In explaining his report Judge Gemmill addressed a letter to Judge Cleland. The letter stated that the judges of the Municipal court could not afford to remain silent and allow the court to be committed to an illegal practice. It stated also that there is a parole bill pending before the legislature to which every judge of the court had given his assent with the exception of Judge Cleland. Judge Gemmill declared that a law which gave a judge the power to parole any and all offenders was dangerous in the extreme. He continued:

"I have been led to believe from your frequent public utterances that you favored the paroling of men found guilty of having committed crimes if in your judgment there no longer existed any reason or necessity for their imprisonment. If I am in error in this regard I think your public speeches have been misleading. In one of your public speeches I heard you use language substantially as follows:

> A young fellow was brought before me. He was one of a gang of brigands who rented a flat and made nightly depredations on the neighbors. The police surrounded the place and captured the boys. I talked with him, and he promised that he would behave himself and take care of his mother. I allowed him to go on his own recognizance.

"You stated that the crowning achievement of your parole system was the fact that you had saved these men and women from crime and shame and had made them upright and honorable citizens, etc. When I observe that of these saved people 87 were charged with assault and battery, 64 with petty larceny, 84 with wife and child abandonment, etc., I am led to wonder what was the nature of the transformation that took place in them.

"We have an excellent parole law applicable to wife and child abandonment. All the judges of this county have for years been enforcing this parole law. I find, however, upon observing the record of your eighty-four cases paroled that instead of following the law you have discharged nearly all of the offenders after a period of from one to six, seven, or eight months.

"Well meaning men and women are often moved to exclaim: 'Give the poor unfortunate criminal who has been caught another chance,' but when this criminal happens to be a highway robber or a midnight burglar it is well to remember that such as these seldom reform, and the next chance is apt to mean the murder of a faithful policeman at his post of duty or of some slumbering citizen, all unconscious of his danger. Other well meaning citizens sometimes say both in public and in private that if your parole system is not legal it ought to be. I want, therefore, to be put on record as saying that your system is not only wholly illegal but that it ought to remain illegal."

Here is the most important result of Judge Gemmill's search through the records in Judge Cleland's court. The first is the name of a prisoner, then date of arrest, then disposition of case:

Judge Gemmill gives a list of the felony cases in which Judge Cleland sat as examining magistrate. It shows a total of 34 burglary cases, 51 grand larceny cases, 26 assault with intent to murder cases, 8 rape cases, 26 highway robbery cases, 4 receiving stolen property cases, 4 conspiracy cases, 4 cases of obtaining money under false pretenses, 3 manslaughter cases, and 2 mayhem cases. In all of these instances the prisoners were discharged. There is also given a list of those held to jail by Judge Cleland without bail.

Judge Cleland's answer to the charges is as follows:

"The record shows that upon the hearing in thirteen of these cases where the charge was burglary the evidence did not show the commission of a felony and upon motion of the state's attorney or complaining witness leave was given to file a new complaint charging a misdemeanor, and the defendant was then placed on probation. Two cases were transferred to the Juvenile court. One was never charged with felony. One was discharged on hearing. Four do not appear upon our records at all as having been paroled at any time, two you have since notified me were taken from your list, making a total of twenty-three, leaving one only charged with a felony as having been paroled. This was a boy 17 years of age, whose uncle was a police officer and who was allowed to go upon his own recognizance because his mother was dying. He left the city and the case was afterwards dismissed.

"You have charged me in this list with having placed on parole four persons charged with 'seduction' and one with 'threat to kill'; this is a manifest error, as no such crimes are known to the law.

"All of the other persons included in your list were charged with misdemeanors and quasi-criminal offenses, in all of which this court has final jurisdiction, and I think I have made myself plain many times during the last fifteen months to the effect that in my opinion I had the undoubted right under the laws of this state to place such persons upon probation.

"With reference to the persons charged by you to have been imprisoned without bail, I beg to assure you that you are entirely mistaken. While the record in some cases was made to show that the defendant was held without bail, which was done oftentimes at the defendant's own request and at the request of his wife, in order that he might have an opportunity to become sober without the necessity of going to the bridewell, yet in no case where bail was offered was it refused, and in no case did any person complain of the entry of such order.

"The inclusion in this list of a large number of cases heard by me in which the defendants were discharged seems to me a matter of doubtful propriety upon your part. You did not hear the evidence in those cases, and I am unable to comprehend how you can affirm that such defendants were not properly discharged."

PARIS WEARS CHICAGO CLOTHES.

[From the Apparel Gazette.]

E. Charvet, 25 Place Vendome, Paris, and 45 New Bond street, Londres, W., will import ready for service clothing. The best dressers of Europe will have brought to their attention the American styles when Charvet puts on display the fall suits and overcoats of a Chicago manufacturer. Charvet is said to furnish King Edward of England with many articles of haberdashery. Is it impossible that London may wake some morning and find the American fashions leading the world? Like carrying coals to Newcastle, it seems almost ridiculous to think of selling our clothing abroad. We are not only handicapped in our competition for this continental trade by the cheap foreign labor, but in addition France requires a duty on our clothing.

We have not, however, been traveling and touring Europe without being seen. Our economists have talked of the vast amount of money we spend each year in sight seeing, and thus account for a large sum which we would get in gold in payment for our crops if we would only stay at home. Have we, however, been wasting our money? Has it not advertised American styles? Unconsciously but steadily we have year after year impressed on Europe our ideas. Our styles are always connected with successful men of the world and money. Why should we not have made an impression? Has the time come to realize and cash in this big advertising bill, which each year has been growing larger, and which we have charged up to education or pleasure? Has it remained for Chicago, "the great central market" of the United States, to find this new asset on our international balance sheet? Will Chicago clothing lead the world?

DISCUSS ABRUZZI-ELKINS BOND.

Washington Social Leaders Hear That Duke Has Arranged All Details in Italy.

Washington, D. C., March 25.—[Special.]—Society people are discussing with renewed energy and enthusiasm the engagement of Miss Katherine Elkins, daughter of Senator and Mrs. Stephen B. Elkins, and the duke of the Abruzzi, for word privately has reached the capital from Italy that all arrangements for the marriage of the duke and Miss Elkins have been settled on that side of the water, and that matters now rest in the hands of Miss Elkins.

While there is still belief that the duke is too ardent a lover to wait for his bride for several months, there is a current story, and one to which much attention is paid, to the effect that the wedding will take place next September, and in Italy. To counteract this story is one that the duke will return to Washington in April, shortly after Easter, and that the wedding will take place at the home of Senator Elkins.

Mrs. Elkins is still reticent upon the subject of her daughter's engagement, but formal announcement is looked for within a few days.

GIRLS DIG SOD FOR NEW CHURCH

Young Women of McCabe Memorial Methodist Episcopal Congregation to Take Part in Ceremony.

By the light of lanterns and specially constructed electric arc lights members of the McCabe Memorial Methodist Episcopal church, Washington avenue and Fifty-fourth street, will cut the first sod tomorrow night for a new church edifice on the lots adjoining the present school building.

Young women members of the church will handle the spade in turn with the men, and will later act as hostesses at a winter picnic in the school building. The first sod will be cut by O. L. Munger, chairman of the church trustees.

The new church was designed as a memorial for the late Bishop McCabe.

IN THE SEWING ROOM

Suggestions for Amateur.

A collar lining of taffeta should be cut so that the straight of the material comes on the front part and the curved part of the collar will then come on the bias.

If a blouse needs altering, it is a mistake to move the shoulder to the front. It is a wiser plan to let it drop to the back. A better fitting shirt waist will be the result if this is done.

It is difficult to sew a bias edge to a straight edge without stretching the bias edge.

To avoid this the bias piece should be placed underneath and it will be sewn evenly.

If you wish to stiffen the bottom of a skirt by sewing thin crinoline into the hem, be sure to cut the crinoline on the bias. It may be slightly stretched on edge to shape it to follow the curve of the hem.

It is often difficult to prevent the pile of the velvet from becoming crushed in stitching it and it is a wise plan to place a piece of the same material face downward on it. The fingers resting on this will not flatten the pile.

Stitch shirt buttonholes around with cotton after they are finished to strengthen them. They will last much longer and will not tear as easily if treated in this manner.

After stitching down a seam press with a hot iron. If no steam board is handy, wrap a clean cloth around the rolling pin and press the seam on this.

IN THE SHOPS

Fashionable Footwear.

Footwear in two colors is a popular fad. The most conservative style is the black patent leather vamp, with colored uppers. White, gray, or tan ooze calf or cloth is used for the upper part. The fashion of covering the seams only with strips of the patent leather gives a zebra-like effect to the feet, the entire uppers being strapped with the black. An extreme model shown in one of the shops is a pair of black shoes strapped with gold, and narrow gold strips define the scallops which inclose the buttonholes.

Leather Oxford Bags.

Oxford bags come in brown and russet leather and are made of genuine cowhide, leather lined, and sewed by hand. They cost $5.

Bargains Now.

The counters are, and will be for some time, full of the most wonderful collection of remnants in white goods and silks. Quantities of silk are sold for much less than the original price asked. These make up well in waists, and if enough cannot be found in one remnant there are often several of different lengths of the same shade.

TESTED RECIPES

Polish Mutton.

Take three onions, three medium sized carrots, three celery roots. Chop them all fine, then fry them in lard, moistening with three glassfuls of vinegar and the same amount of water. Let it come to a boil, then add two bay leaves, two small garlic buttons, some thyme, small piece parsley, a few cloves, and let them boil half hour. Remove from fire and let cool, then pour over raw leg of mutton and pack down solid. Let stand twenty-four hours. When ready to roast wipe dry and put in a slow oven with a good sized piece of butter. After it begins to cook baste it with the remaining sauce, to which is added a pint of sour cream. When done strain gravy and thicken.

Lebkuchen.

Bring two pounds honey or good sirup, one-quarter pound butter, one pound sugar, to the boiling point. Add two teaspoonfuls of baking powder dissolved in water. Allow to cool, add six eggs, one-quarter pound citron, a few ground cloves, some ground cinnamen, one-quarter pound fine cut almonds; at last one pound flour. Work thoroughly, roll out about one-quarter inch thick, put on baking tins, and bake slowly, and when warm cut in slices. A frosting can be added if desired.

DANGER OF CATARRH

Unless Properly Treated With Hyomei, the Disease Becomes Serious.

Catarrhal troubles are far more dangerous than they seem at first thought.

If you have catarrh, there is an irritated state of the mucous membrane and weakened tissues which afford an ideal lodgment and culture medium for disease germs, especially those of consumption.

You should get cured as quickly as possible before any dangerous germs that you may breathe lodge on the diseased tissue and work destruction in the throat and lungs.

The easiest, simplest, quickest, surest and cheapest way to cure catarrh is by the direct method, breathing Hyomei. This wonderful medicated air treatment does not drug and derange the stomach, but is breathed in, directly following and destroying all disease germs that may have been inhaled, and healing and vitalizing the tissues of the throat, nose and lungs so as to render catarrh and all other germ infections no longer possible.

We positively guarantee Hyomei, for should you buy a complete outfit, price $1.00, and be dissatisfied with results your money will be refunded. Hyomei is sold by druggists everywhere. Write for literature, Booth's Hyomei Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Known Quality, Known Excellence and Known Component Parts and has won the valuable patronage of millions of the Well Informed of the world, who know of their own personal knowledge and from actual use that it is the first and best of family laxatives, for which no extravagant or unreasonable claims are made.

This valuable remedy has been long and favorably known under the name of—Syrup of Figs—and has attained to world-wide acceptance as the most excellent family laxative. As its pure laxative principles, obtained from Senna, are well known to physicians and the Well Informed of the world to be the best we have adopted the more elaborate name of—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as more fully descriptive of the remedy, but doubtless it will always be called for by the shorter name of—Syrup of Figs—and to get its beneficial effects, always note, when purchasing the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package, whether you call for—Syrup of Figs—or by the full name—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna.

CROP SCARE FAILS TO WORK

Sharp Break in Wheat Northwest Offsets Damage Reports.

MILLING DEMAND IS SLOW.

Coarse Grains Strong Early but Recede Sharply Later.

Efforts to start a "dry weather" scare in wheat yesterday were squelched by a severe break in prices at Minneapolis late in the session, brought about by unusual dullness in the flour trade and a lifeless milling demand. Bulls in the local pit were unprepared for the sudden development of weakness in the northwest, and the majority of them were frightened into selling out lines which they had taken on in the hope of being able to carry a crop scare to a successful conclusion. The market had little absorbing capacity, and prices readily succumbed to the pressure of offerings. There was a break of over 1c from top quotations, and the close showed net losses of ⅝@¾c as compared with last prices of the previous session.

Flour Trade Is Disappointing.

Northwestern millers, it was reported, are booking little new business in flour, and shipping directions on old sales are coming forward slowly. The same discouraging state of affairs exists throughout the country, judging from what cash dealers had to say about the demand for wheat. Some of the local cash men declared it was impossible to get any sort of bid out of millers, to say nothing of being able to carry on negotiations that would permit of any business being accomplished. As for the export demand, none whatever existed except for durum. The absurdity of trying to put up prices for a commodity that was so little wanted became manifest to the longs, who sold freely. In view of the lethal state of the cash market, primary receipts had the appearance of more than sufficient liberality. The spring wheat movement did not make such a large showing as on the corresponding day last year, but free offerings of winter wheat were reported at Minneapolis.

Crop News Is Plentiful.

The trade was treated to a generous quantity of crop news. Nearly all the messages from Kansas agreed that rains would prove most beneficial. The more reliable advices stated that the crop is not really suffering from a lack of moisture, but a thorough wetting down would do much good, improving the appearance of the top growth. A few dispatches that were sent in with the evident intention of alarming the trade as much as possible drew a less hopeful picture of the outlook. The ground had become so dry, some of the alarmists said, that high winds had actually blown the soil away from the roots, leaving the plant to wither and fade away. Blinding dust clouds, they said, were traversing the state of Kansas. These reports, as a rule, were so ridiculous as to defeat their purpose. The "entomologists" had less to say in regard to insect damage, though one member of the fraternity, who has been seeing "green bugs" everywhere in his travels, wired that millions of those destroyers are herding along the route he had taken to Ponca City, Okla.

The "no rain in Kansas" talk, which no doubt had been exaggerated for their special benefit, served to frighten the shorts in the Liverpool market, and closing cables recorded an advance of ⅝@⅞d abroad. The large offerings of Argentine wheat, however, reacted as a restraining influence, and the bullish feeling in futures did not extend to the spot market. The demand for cargoes continued slow.

Corn Weakens Near Close.

Corn was firm until well along in the session when it turned weak in sympathy with wheat. The close was ⅝c to ½c lower. The early rally brought out quite liberal offerings from holders with profits and the bull leaders exhibited less willingness to support the market. The bears sold short with more show of courage in the latter part of the session. Country offerings were a little larger than of late, but not enough to suggest any material increase in the movement. Farmers are too busily engaged in field work to take the time to haul their corn to market despite the high price inducements held out to them. The offerings on the sample were only about 165 cars. The supply was so light that receivers obtained slightly better prices for the bulk of their consignments, though the shipping demand was exceedingly slow with sales about 75,000 bu.

Oats Trade Is Lifeless.

Oats remained in the same state of lifelessness as on preceding sessions, no business worthy of mention being transacted and prices keeping within a narrow range. Except for a fractional loss in the old July contracts, the close was unchanged. It was said that leading longs had resting orders in the pit to sell, but the quantity so disposed of was necessarily small. Some desire to sell the September was manifested because of the excellent weather for carrying forward seeding operations. The shipping demand was dull, high prices preventing buyers from taking hold. Sales of 100,000 bu were reported. On the sample market offerings were about 178 cars.

Rye Prices Have Break.

Rye prices suffered a sharp decline, the close showing losses of 1@2c. Offerings were light. Receipts were 5 cars. No. 2 was quoted 76@78c; No. 3, 70@75c; No. 4, 65@70c.

Barley offerings were moderate. Prices ruled about steady. Feed was quoted 68@72c; malting, 72@86c; screenings, 50@71c. Receipts were 18 cars.

Flaxseed was ½c higher after a weak turn early. No. 1 northwestern was quoted $1.20½; No. 1 from the northwest, $1.19; No. 1 southwestern, $1.10½; rejected northwestern, $1.08½@1.15½. Receipts were two cars.

Timothy seed was quoted dull, with contract offered at $4.75 and country lots $3.50@4.40.

Clover seed was 50c higher, contract selling at $21.75 and cash lots at $13.00@20.50.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON CHANGE.

Crop news from the southwest was diverse enough to suit the most fastidious trader. More experts are now in the field and if there is any damage it ought not to take the "old guard" long to discover it now. George Le Count, who is out for Barrell, continues to find nothing but excellent conditions, wiring from Enid, Okla., that there were some bugs in all fields, but no damage, with plenty of moisture, weather favorable, and wheat looking fine. C. E. Lewis of Minneapolis has arrived at the point which was the favorite trysting place of the experts—real and otherwise—last year, Newton, Kas. This is the home of Capt. Phillips, who is well known on the board here. Lewis wired from there that the crop in Texas and Oklahoma was good, but the acreage smaller than last year. In the vicinity of Newton, he said, there were a good many chinch bugs and the crop not as far advanced as last year. Updike's man reported from Kansas that the fields were full of bugs, and unless there is a change within a week there will be something doing. L. S. Hoyt wired from Blackwell, Okla., that he drove from Ponca City to that place and found millions of bugs in every field, and they were increasing rapidly, with no parasites. Heeman and Anderson had reports of hot winds and dry weather from the western part of Kansas. The traders here were inclined to view the situation philosophically and refused to be stampeded by the many reports pro and con. General credence seemed to be given a message to John Fennelly of Hall-Baker Grain company, Kansas City, who was here yesterday. This message said: "Our stations all over Kansas show wheat condition fine. Do not think rain necessary for ten days."

Clement-Curtis had the following from their traveling representative, dated Sterling, Kas.: "Have learned of nothing particularly new except the damage to the wheat in the western counties. These counties have been adding largly to the Kansas acreage and yield, and in a few years will probably be the great wheat belt of the state. they only need additional railroad facilities. There has been a feeling among growers in the big wheat belt that the western country is too arid to make wheat. The season is later on account of altitude. Last October seeding was done except for a good snow early in the winter there has been no moisture. I am told by several grain men, who have stations in the region, that half the seeding has not come up and that which did sprout is close to a dying condition. It is a big region and may be a factor later on. Just now wheat in the rest of the state is in too good a condition to permit of damage talk by drought in part of the state. Every one here is waiting the outcome of the Hessian fly brood in May."

"It is true that wheat shipments are dwindling, but they are still more than ample for all possible requirements, especially when it is borne in mind that the European weekly consumption during February was only 750,000 qrs, while the shipments averaged 1,300,000 qrs," said F. Lenders & Co. of London. "It may be argued, of course, that this means that the native produce of western Europe has been consumed on a larger scale than usual, and if this should prove to be correct, it means, of course, that the consumption of foreign wheat during the next three or four months will be on an exceptionally large scale. But what holders of wheat would like to see more than anything else would be a considerable reduction in the quantities put afloat each week both by North and South America, because for the time being the proportion received from other exporting countries is insufficient to have any material effect on the market."

Some of the shrewdest traders in provisions are of the opinion that holders are more than willing to sell out their property at the present range of prices, but are finding it a difficult thing to do, inasmuch as the market refuses to take any heavy offerings without yielding materially in price. Notwithstanding this fact it is claimed that about 12,000 tcs of lard have been sold in the pit in the last three days in a gingerly manner so as to not influence prices. There has also been considerable pork liquidated. Specialists in hog products say that the rise in hog values has been more than discounted by the present prices of product.

Cash trade in wheat was exceedingly light, with no feature except the slow demand. Prices were relatively on about the same basis as recently, but no interest whatever was taken in the market. Kansas City reported a moderately better demand, with sales of 40,000 bu No. 2 hard to millers there, at 5⅛c over May. St. Louis had a fair inquiry, but did not report any sales of round lots. In the northwest mills were fair buyers at recent prices. Stocks there increased 175,000 bu for four days. Duluth reported sales of 175,000 bu durum. New York wired there was not a flutter in the export trade yesterday. Country acceptances of corn were light and there were moderate offerings here with the result that prices in the cash crowd were firm. Prices here were ½c higher. Oats were steady with a moderate demand. Local sales were 10,000 bu wheat, 75,000 bu corn, and 100,000 bu oats.

The Northwestern Miller's weekly flour trade summary as received by Logan-Bryan read: "The Minneapolis flour output last week increased 16,895 brls. The quantity turned out was 320,395 brls, against 269,760 in 1907. It was the best week's run the mills have made since October. Two large mills have been closed, and the output this week should fall off. There is little if any change in milling conditions. Buyers take only enough flour to fill immediate requirements. Most mills report entire indifference on the part of customers to offers. Sales for the week were probably much less than the output. Shipping directions on old orders are hard to get. Export business seems a little nearer. One mill worked a small lot of patent to the united kingdom early in the week at a profit, but that market is again 9d to 1s 6d out of line."

Wheat selling was not on a particularly large scale yesterday, but holders, who were mostly local professionals, all wanted to get rid of their property at the same time, with the result that the late break found the market without supporting orders. Logan, Love, Knight-McDougal, and the local crowd were the leading sellers of the July. Gardner-Paddleford were buyers of July early, which was supposed to be for St. Louis interests. In corn there was buying by commission houses, with the selling headed by Pringle, Bartlett-Frazier, and Knight-McDougal. Hooper, Armour, and cash houses were the leading buyers of oats early. Northern Grain and Buckley were the leading sellers. John Cudahy was a fair seller of May pork. Buying was scattered.

Kansas City wired: "The government observer here has a special article in a morning paper concerning the weather. Precipitation so far for March has been less than half an inch, compared with a normal average of three inches. He fears damage to the crops. It is clear and cool in the wheat belt. He says a promise of rain is remote. The forecast says we might have a shower tomorrow."

The estate of Thomas W. Hallam has posted its membership for transfer and E. Charles Day has applied to withdraw from membership under the rules. It is understood that the board's funds for the purchase of memberships has been about exhausted and that not much more money will be available until the next special assessment, which will be Oct. 1.

Flour dealers were complaining bitterly of their inability to get shipping directions on flour already sold. Not only is there little new business coming in but buyers are apparently loath to forward directions for shipping and are advising sellers to hold.

A special Russian cable said: "In the south the weather is now clear and fine, and the general crop prospects are unchanged. Reports state that sowing has commenced. Arrivals at the port of shipment are small, and stocks are likewise small."

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

CHICAGO, March 25.—High prices were made in all lines of live stock, with urgent inquiries and disappointing receipts the incentives. Cattle values advanced so rapidly that it was difficult to follow them. Illinois Angus steers brought the fancy figure of $7.35, but they showed exceptional quality, and that price could not well be used in comparing with values of the previous days. There were several loads at $7.00@7.15, which showed gains of 10@15c, while butcher stock sold at prices that were fully 15c to 25c better than on Tuesday. Packers bought hogs as freely as the shippers, and early gains of 10c were increased, and at the close prices were 15c to 20c better than on the previous day. Hogs of any quality at all sold over the $5.00 mark, and the bulk of the offerings brought $5.15@5.25. Sheep were in limited supply and sold strong, while lambs were unchanged to 10c higher, many new tops for the season being made. All supplies were absorbed early, and traders said it was the best set of markets they have had this year, closing prices in all lines being the best of the day.

CATTLE.

With shippers having urgent orders, exporters wanting cattle and packers short in their orders it was apparent that arrivals of 17,000 would not be sufficient to supply all requirements and that sellers again had a strong advantage. Business was on in full swing early and did not take long to clean up the supply, as buyers understood the situation and paid sellers what they asked without much parleying. Exporters paid $6.70 for desirable steers, which is the highest they have been forced to pay this year. Shippers put up $6.50@7.00 for cattle of suitable weight and killers paid $5.75@6.50 for the bulk of the killers. Butcher stock prices went soaring. Choice cows and heifers were in limited supply and met strong competition, heifers making $6.20, while fat cows topped at $5.50, the bulk of the former going at $5.50@5.75, and of good cows at $4.40@4.90. Medium cows and heifers moved more slowly at 10c better prices, with sales at $3.25@4.00. Bulls participated in the advance and gained 10c. Calves also moved more freely, with a top of $6.75 taking the best offerings. Canners were the only item on the list to drag, while cutters sold strong to 10c higher. Country buyers were keen after good stockers and feeders, which were hard to obtain, killers taking the best lots and paying more money for them than the feeders cared to part with. Quotations:

Good to prime fat steers	$6.50@7.35
Fair to good steers	6.00@6.50
Common to fair steers	5.25@6.00
Canners and cutters	2.00@3.00

Cattle at six western markets, 34,000, against 29,300 a week ago, 19,100 a year ago, and 39,400 two years ago. Total for 1908 to date, 1,825,000, against 2,051,000 the same period 1907.

HOGS.

Highest prices since Dec. 12 and gains of 17½c to 20c over Tuesday's close were established Wednesday. Armour & Co. started the buying at an advance of 10c, paying $5.25 for hogs for which he had offered $4.95 Tuesday, and other packers were not slow in following this lead. Hammond's drove cost $5.19, against $4.98 the previous day, and Boyd-Lunham paid $5.20, against $5.00 Tuesday. Shippers paid $5.20@5.30 and took 12,000 which was a pretty good percentage of the receipts, estimated at 25,000. There was no limit to prices, as packers and shippers wanted hogs and were willing to stand the consequences. Everything desirable was cleaned up and the late market saw the best prices of the day. Light pigs met with a vigorous demand at sharply higher prices, 100 pounders making $4.40; 128 lb chunks, $4.85 to $5.05; and 140 pounders, $5.10. The quality of the hogs was the best so far this week and helped to stimulate the demand. The top price of $5.30, is just $1.00 under the best figure a year ago. Quotations:

Eleven markets received 75,500 hogs, against 102,000 a week ago, 70,800 one year ago, and 70,400 two years ago. Total for 1908 to date, 8,682,000, against 6,310,000 the same period 1907.

SHEEP.

Supplies again were inadequate, receipts being estimated at 14,000 and firm prices prevailed, while advances of 10c were made in some instances. Exporters paid $7.00 for wooled wethers, which is the highest price of the season. Other new high records established were $7.10 for shorn yearlings, $7.70 for shorn lambs, and $8.20 for Colorado wool offerings. Eastern shippers were in the market with fair orders, taking both lambs and sheep. Shorn sheep were wanted by packers, and wethers sold up to $6.50, while yearlings made $6.75@7.10. Wooled sheep ranged from $6.75@7.00 for wethers, $5.00@6.50 for ewes, and $7.00@7.50 for yearlings. Wool lambs made a top of $8.20, several loads landed at $8.10@8.15, while heavies sold at $8.00@8.10, and good killers went over the scales at $7.90@8.00. Offerings were cleaned up early and many orders went unfilled owing to the light supply. Lambs showed exceptionally good quality for the bulk of the arrivals. A few shorn offerings were shy on fat, but they sold at strong prices after the prime lots were gone. Quotations:

Good to prime wethers	$6.50@7.25
Common to good wethers	5.85@6.50

An advance of 2c per lb brought fresh pork loins up to 10@10½c, the highest of the year and, compared with 7c, the lowest point of the season.

There were persistent rumors of hogs selling at $5.35 Wednesday, but $5.30 was the highest price that could be confirmed.

Hammond & Co. received 1,500 hogs from Milwaukee.

The top and the average price of hogs Wednesday were exactly $1 lower than for the same day a year ago. A month ago the best hogs on the market sold at $4.52½.

Traders were grieved to hear of the death of Milton T. Zimmerman, who was well known among local and outside cattlemen. Mr. Zimmerman died of paresis on Tuesday at Lake Geneva, where he had been sent two weeks ago to recover from a mental and physical breakdown.

Light supplies of sheep kept many buyers away, as they felt that they could not fill their orders, and their presence in the market would only serve in forcing higher values.

Receipts of live stock so far this week, compared with the same period a week ago, show an increase of 1,800 cattle, a decrease of 22,100 hogs, and an increase of 12,300 sheep.

Receipts for the year to date show gains of 4,090 cattle, 588,630 hogs, and losses of 165,149 sheep as compared with the same period a year ago.

Many traders expressed the opinion that there was going to be a famine of desirable cattle before the end of the summer, and some of them said that it would not surprise them to see prime steers selling at $9.00 before that time.

ON THE BOARD OF TRADE.

In spite of the higher range for hogs at the yards, provisions closed barely steady, with a heavy tone at the windup. The start was firmer, influenced by the lighter run here than expected—26,000—and the upward tendency at the yards, but the crowd was not willing to take the offerings of the packers on the swell and prices sank back to about the previous level. Pork closed unchanged to 2½c lower and lard and ribs were unchanged. The late weakness in grains was a weakening factor, but the prime factor in the situation is the fear of local traders that in buying they will be helping the packers to market product in the pit. Stocks are enormous and it is argued by the bearishly inclined in provisions that the present range of values for product more than discounts the advance in the hog market. This feeling tends to make an exceedingly narrow market, about the only buying coming from the shorts. It is claimed that quite a heavy line of lard has been liquidated in the pit the last few days quietly. The trade in cured meats is remarkably dull. Cash demand is slow. Receipts at western points were 69,000, against 59,300 a year ago. Lard was advanced 3d at Liverpool and prices were generally firm in foreign markets. Shipments were fairly heavy—150 cars. Estimated receipts of hogs here for today, 28,000.

STOCKYARDS GOSSIP.

Eastern shippers were the keenest bidders for choice beef cattle. Doud & Keefer bought two loads of steers at $7.35 for R. Webber, New York butchers. The steers were fed by Emanuel Hinds of Paris, Ill., and were the best cattle on the market since the international show last December. There were 38 steers in the two lots and the average weight was 1,415 lbs.

Low prices of the year were in effect in the cattle market just four weeks ago, when $5 and under took the bulk of the beef cattle.

The Farmers and Drovers' Journal's British cablegram said that American beeves on the Liverpool market were unchanged to ¼c higher, sales being at 12¼@12⅝c per lb, against 12@12⅜c Monday.

Chicago Horse Market.

Receipts are running in excess of any time this year and show increases over the same time last year. The demand is broad, but the heavy offerings are keeping prices at a comparatively low level. Spring orders are being filled by shippers and country men, and the American Ice company had its representative in the market buying several lots of desirable weight horses at around $175@225. Receipts are running largely to farm mares and light drivers and the liberal offerings of these classes had a weakening effect on values. Sales were at $150@225 for the bulk of the drafters, with extra weight offerings at $250@300; farm mares and chunks, $75@125 for fair to good, and $150 for the best. Light drivers sold largely at $100@200. Carriage pairs, $225@675, and western, branded, $25.00@100. Receipts so far this week, 3,208, and Wednesday, 400.

IN THE PRODUCE MARKETS.

EGGS.

CHICAGO, March 25.—The market was again weak with prices ½@1c lower for all grades. Receipts were 29,080 cases, and these immense supplies on top of the heavy run of the previous day fairly swamped the market. The outside demand is falling off to some extent and the local inquiry is not sufficient to absorb all the offerings. Speculators are waiting for lower prices before laying in their storage stock. Prices:

Eggs, prime firsts	15c	Do dirties	11@12c
Do firsts	14c	Do extras, 80 per cent fresh	16c
Do ordinary firsts	12¼@13½c

NEW YORK, March 25.—EGGS—Steady, unchanged; receipts, 25,553. Eggs in Philadelphia, steady, fair demand; Pennsylvania and other nearby firsts, free cases, 17c at mark; do current receipts in returnable cases, 16c at mark; western, free cases, 16c at mark.

BUTTER.

CHICAGO, March 25.—Packing was easier, buyers holding off, but other grades were steady at recent prices. Supplies are not large and there are no signs of accumulation. Receipts were 3,440 tubs. While the market holds about steady the current arrivals are ample as buyers are taking just enough for current needs. Quotations:

Butter, dairies, extras	26c	Do firsts	25@27c
Creameries, extras	28½c	Do seconds	22@24c
Do storage, extras	27¼@28½c	Packing stock	19c

NEW YORK, March 25.—BUTTER—Steady, unchanged; receipts, 4,888. Butter in Philadelphia: Fair demand; extra western creamery, 30c; do nearby prints, 31c.

CHEESE.

CHICAGO, March 25.—No changes were made in cheese, the demand about counterbalancing the supply, making for a steady market. High prices have to some extent made up for the lighter stocks. Prices:

Daisies	13¼@14c	Limburger	15@15½c
Twins	12¼@13½c	Brick	12@12½c
Y. America	13½@13¾c	Swiss	9@13c

POULTRY.

CHICAGO, March 25.—Arrivals of live poultry were light and prices for chickens were boosted a little. There was not much doing in dressed stock. Quotations:

VEGETABLES.

CHICAGO, March 25.—Potatoes were weak and were quoted about 2c lower. Receipts were a little larger—45 cars—and buyers were not taking hold freely. Pea beans were a shade firmer. Southern green stuff generally ruled a little lower. Quotations:

CHICAGO, March 25.—Strawberry receipts were large, 1,400 cases coming in from Louisiana and nine freezers from Florida. Trade in apples is still unsatisfactory. Oranges were steady with a good demand. Quotations:

Groceries.

CHICAGO, March 25.—New prunes for fall delivery were offered on the market on a basis of 3c per lb, f. o. b. coast, for October delivery. This price is 1@1½c under the opening figure a year ago. Canned peas and California fruits are in moderate supply, packers being about out of stock and offerings coming chiefly from speculators who loaded up in the fall. Good canned tomatoes are scarce, but there is an excessive supply of slack filled or rusty canned tomatoes, which have to be disposed of at reduced values. Offerings of canned corn are excessive, due to unloading of heavy speculative holdings. Low prices last fall led scalpers to make extensive purchases, as they thought values would make good advances, but unfavorable financial conditions and the fact that heavy stocks were being held back served to hold values at a low level and the approaching canning season is forcing holders to take their losses.

Coffee and Sugar.

SUGAR.

CHICAGO, March 25.—Firmness prevails and higher prices are anticipated. Refiners bought 200,000 bags of raw sugars at prices that were 11c higher than their previous purchases, and jobbers look for refined goods to take a jump of at least like proportion. Following are the ruling prices in wholesale circles, quotations being on 100 lb lots: Cut loaf, H. & E., $6.30; standard powdered, $5.70; granulated, $5.17@5.37; extra C, $5.00; canary, $4.68; chemically pure milk sugar, 17c per lb in brl lots.

NEW YORK, March 25.—SUGAR—Raw firm; fair refining, 3.86c; centrifugal, 96 test, 4.36c; molasses sugar, 3.61c. Refined firm; No. 6, 5c; No. 7, 4.95c; No. 8, 4.90c; No. 9, 4.85c; No. 10, 4.75c; No. 11, 4.70c; No. 12, 4.65c; No. 13, 4.60c; No. 14, 4.55c; confectioners' "A," 5.20c; mould "A," 5.75c; cut loaf, 6.20c; crushed, 6.10c; powdered, 5.50c; granulated, 5.40c; cubes, 5.65c.

COFFEE.

CHICAGO, March 25.—Heavy arrivals and restricted purchases made a weak and dull market for coffee, with buyers having the advantage. Indications are that there are substantial speculative holdings held in reserve and buyers are looking for concessions.

NEW YORK, March 25.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 5 points under European selling, closing steady, net 5 points lower to 5 points higher, most months being unchanged. Sales were reported of 49,500 bags. Spot coffee quiet; No. 7 Rio, 6c; No. 4 Santos, 7¼@8¼c; mild coffiee quiet; Cordova, 10¼@13¼c. Quotations on futures:

Dry Goods.

CHICAGO, March 25.—Cooler weather dampened buyers' ardor and summer goods did not move as freely as at the first of last week. Merchants, however, were optimistic and said they could not expect anything better and that the volume of business they have been doing is much larger than they had been led to anticipate earlier in the year. Laces, embroideries, and notions continue in good request and silk prices show a tendency to advance, due to more active inquiries for both the raw and finished goods.

NEW YORK, March 25.—The dry goods market was quiet today. The retail trade was a little more active. Jobbers are doing only a small filling-in business. Some improvement was noted in the primary markets, but it promised little in the way of active trade. Jobbers are asking for samples of underwear and hosiery for salesmen on the road, and it is a new movement that has gained unusual headway because of the willingness of mills to get business any way they can. The cotton yarn market continues weak and inactive. Silk piece goods are quiet in the primary markets.

REVIEW OF METAL TRADES.

Iron Age Reports Halt in Volume of New Business Placed—Lighter Lines Hold Up Well.

NEW YORK, March 25.—[Special.]—In its review of the iron and metal trades for the week ended today the Iron Age tomorrow will say:

"There has been a halt in the volume of new business placed during the last ten days, and the improvement, which has been gradual and steady since the beginning of the year, has not been maintained.

"The crux of the situation lies in the restricted demands from the railroads, which in ordinary times consume about 60 per cent of the production, and that buying in turn depends upon the ability of the railroads to finance their requirements.

"While the immediate propects of those who depend upon the railroads are not encouraging, the lighter lines, which sell largely to the farming interests, directly and indirectly, have been holding up much better.

"The pig iron markets are quiet, and copper has advanced squarely to 13¼c for both lake and electrolytic."

Heavy Tonnage Figured On.

CLEVELAND, O., March 25.—[Special.]—The Iron Trade Review tomorrow will say:

"Projected building operations in the east reflect improved financial conditions, and if only a portion of the plate and structural tonnage that is being figured on develops into orders, the active capacity in these lines will be considerably increased.

"At the conference of iron and steel manufacturers held in New York last week a general feeling of optimism prevailed, and the ruling quotations on all commodities were reaffirmed.

"The eastern pig iron association has again decided to make no change in quotations, and additional stacks will be blown out if necessary."

EXCITED SESSION IN STOCKS

Trading Is Irregular, with Final Prices Showing Marked Gains.

EARLY SELLING IS HEAVY.

Tone of President's Message Regarded by Street as Favorable.

[FROM THE NEW YORK TIMES FINANCIAL LEADER.]

NEW YORK, March 25.—[Special.]—Today's highly irregular and at times excited stock market indicated clearly a shifting of position by some of the speculators most active up to this time in the advance, while it also denoted a serious attempt to distribute stock bought in the course of this movement.

The selling was particularly heavy in the early part of the day, and at that time brought about sharp price recessions in a number of directions. Before these had attained the dimensions of a general retreat stocks were taken in hand and the appearance of strength imparted to the market as a whole by concentrated buying and sharp upbidding in a half score of the usually inactive shares.

Final Prices Show Gains.

In the meantime the standard stocks received little more than nominal support, and the effects of this system of market protection were to be found in the final quotations of the day, which disclosed such gains as 10¾ points in Westinghouse Manufacturing, 7⅛ points in Consolidated Gas, 4 points in Omaha, 2½ points in Cast Iron Pipe, and advances of only half a point or thereabouts in such conspicuous stocks as Reading, Union Pacific, St. Paul, and United States Steel.

Outside of the publication of the text of the president's message to congress, there were no developments of direct importance to the financial markets. The January earnings statement of the New York Central had been foreshadowed by the reports of other roads. The most interesting feature of the return was the ability displayed by the management in meeting falling gross receipts, the loss of $2,300,000 in this item being reduced to less than $800,000 in net earnings.

Money Rates Unaffected.

Money rates were again unaffected by the loss of funds involved in the government deposit withdrawals. Local banks, owing to further payments on this account on Tuesday, fell still further behind, but heavy disbursements by the government on pension and other accounts, provided an offset, so that on transactions since Friday last the loss amounts only to $3,675,000, against a gain of $1,638,000 at this time a week ago.

Money on call easy; 1¾@2 per cent; ruling rate, 2; closing bid, 1¾; offered at 2.

Time loans weak; sixty days, 3@3¼ per cent; ninety days, 3¼@3½ per cent; six months, 4@4½ per cent. Close: Prime mercantile paper, 5½@6 per cent. Sterling exchange steady, with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.86@4.8605 for demand and at 4.8345@4.8350 for sixty day bills. Commercial bills, 4.83¼. Bar silver, 55¼. Mexican dollars, 47. Government bonds firm; railroad bonds heavy.

IN THE FOREIGN STOCK MARKET.

LONDON, March 25.—Money was in strong demand today, but the supply was small. Discounts were firm. On the stock exchange the settlement took most of the attention of the members, but the tone was good, especially in gilt edged securities. The poor reception afforded the new issues leads to the belief that there will be increased business in standard securities in the near future.

American securities again opened higher, the decision of the Supreme court of the United States favoring the railroads in the Minnesota and South Carolina rate cases and other favorable Wall street news causing a steady opening sentiment, which was helped later by the smallness of the open account, which was easily arranged at 3 per cent. The market hesitated on the receipt of the irregular New York opening and then declined under selling pressure and closed dull and easy. Foreigners were firm. Copper shares were firm early, but yielded later on selling pressure.

TALKING OF HIGHER PRICES

Big Interests in New York Still Reported Strongly Bullish.

GENERAL ELECTRIC GAINING.

Business on Local Exchange Broad with Good Buying of Bonds.

Information from New York yesterday was to the effect that big interests continued bullish. The market seemed to indicate the correctness of this information, as it has during the last ten days.

The Supreme court decisions relating to railroad rate legislation have had a far reaching influence on financial sentiment in New York. It is felt there that unreasonable legislation will not be upheld in the future and that the Supreme court's decisions will act as a deterrent.

Inasmuch as railroad finance, and banking finance, so to speak, are closely allied in New York, the situation so far as market conditions are concerned has been wonderfully improved. Then, too, the president's message yesterday was one of comfort so far as moneyed interests are concerned.

The buying of stocks is engineered by the largest interests in Wall street. How far it may be desired to carry prices is a matter of conjecture. But it is certain the big people are behind the market now and are talking much higher quotations, whether or not they may be realized.

Knickerbocker Trust Opens Today.

The Knickerbocker Trust company of New York will resume business at noon today. The prospective reopening of the doors of this institution has been one of the reassuring factors in Wall street. The fact that the Trust company's affairs could be straightened out and the concern again do business was regarded as evidence of a change in the situation. The following statement shows the condition of the Knickerbocker March 21, as compared with Oct. 31 last year:

General Electric Business Gains.

It is announced in Boston that the volume of new business being booked by the General Electric is at the rate of $40,000,000 a year, against a low point in December not exceeding $30,000,000. February was a poor month, and did not show the comparative improvement over January which January showed over December results.

It is declared there is no question whatever about the intention of the directors to pay the regular 8 per cent dividend throughout 1908.

Favorable to United States Steel.

The bureau of commerce and labor began an investigation of the United States Steel corporation two years ago. The investigation has been along the lines of that of the Standard Oil company and other corporations. The report is now nearing completion, and it is announced will be in the hands of the public within a few weeks.

It is reported the statement will be gratifying to the shareholders of the United States Steel corporation. The investigation has been thorough, and those conducting it have been granted all the information asked for.

Malt Outlook Better.

The report of the American Malt corporation for the six months to Feb. 29 shows profits of $368,622. The report says:

"It can be confidently said that the operations of the American Malting company will result in satisfactory net earnings—sufficient, it is hoped, to enable that company in August, 1908, to resume dividends on its preferred stock, thus enabling you to inaugurate the payment of dividends on your preferred stock."

New York Sentiment and Business.

George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental National bank, has just returned from New York. Speaking of matters there, he said:

"I found sentiment much improved compared with what it was six weeks ago. There is a great deal of room for improvement yet, however, even in the matter of sentiment. As to business, it may be slightly better. The cheap money rates quoted apply almost wholly to stock exchange loans. I found at several of the banks that they were not buying commercial paper, but confining their loans almost wholly to their own customers and charging 6 per cent interest."

Dividends Declared.

Directors of the Woodlawn Trust and Savings bank have declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 per share, payable April 1 to stockholders of record March 31.

The board of directors of the First National bank of Englewood declared a quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent, payable to stockholders of record March 31. Books closed from March 19 to March 31.

The American Locomotive company declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on its preferred stock and 1¼ per cent on its common stock. The common dividend is payable May 27. Books close May 11 and reopen May 28. The preferred dividend is payable April 21. Books close April 4 and reopen April 22.

The American Chicle company declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent on its preferred stock, payable April 1. Books close March 27 and reopen April 2. The company also has declared the customary monthly dividend of 1 per cent on its common stock, payable April 20. Books close April 14 and reopen April 21.

Dividends Reduced.

The Electric Storage Battery company declared quarterly dividends of 1 per cent each on its preferred and common stocks, payable April 1 to stock of record March 28. Transfer books do not close. This is a reduction of ¼ of 1 per cent each on both classes of stocks as compared with the previous disbursements.

Railroad Earnings.

The report of the New York Central for the year ended Dec. 31 was issued yesterday. Speaking of general conditions, W. H. Newman, president of the road, says, among other things, in the report:

"The tendency to regulate railroads and details of their business has been shown in many federal and state laws, either proposed or enacted. The interstate commerce commission and the public service commissions which have been established in a number of states have been given indefinite and almost arbitrary power. Hours of labor have been shortened by law, rates of fare have been reduced, liability for accidents has increased, and in ways too numerous to mention burdens have been placed on railroad companies to which other corporations are not subjected, and the ability of the roads to bear them has been lessened."

The report of the year's business follows:

Russia Must Soon Borrow.

Russia, it appears, is shortly to come into the money market for a loan. The minister of finance, in addressing the budget committee of the duma, mentioned the double tracking of the Siberian railway, the building of the Amur line, and the requirements for national defense and famine relief as alone involving an extraordinary expenditure of $75,000,000 annually for several years to come.

Financial Notes.

Since last Friday the New York subtreasury has gained $3,005,000 from the banks.

It was announced that a new reorganization plan for the Westinghouse company is under preparation, and will be more favorable to stockholders.

Chicago Stocks.

Business on the local stock exchange was fairly broad. American Can preferred showed strength and some activity. There were no special announcements to influence the price. Chicago Telephone shares were steady. In the bond department there was good general buying at steady prices.

The following were the sales on the Chicago stock exchange yesterday:

FAIR FINANCE 3

My advertisement which will fill double this space in the press of the world to-morrow, Friday, March 27th, will set forth in detail the features of "Fair Finance, Gold at 50 cents on the Dollar," which, boiled down, is—

First, the public will be given the opportunity to purchase in the open markets, through the members of the leading stock exchanges of the world, at whatever price the buying of the public puts upon it (not less than par, $5, which it must net the corporation owning it), 700,000 shares of a gold stock the value of which has been demonstrated and the name of which is known throughout the world.

Second, this stock, with the remaining capital of the company, 2,800,000 shares which are not for sale to any one at any price, is owned by a holding corporation whose capital stock of $20,000,000, par $100, has been selling recently in the open market at over $300 per share of over $60,000,000.

Third, this stock, and consequently the gold, is owned and controlled by the most successful group of mining capitalists in the world, the corporations owned and controlled by them aggregating at the open market price a short time ago approximately $300,000,000.

Fourth, this stock has never been offered to the public, nor have the public ever had an opportunity to acquire it.

The above means:

First, that to-morrow there will be placed before the public the complete story of a most remarkable investment.

Second, that this story will be unique inasmuch as it will be the first time in the history of stocks where a story relating to a security of great worth will read like the yarns usually spun in glaring advertisements by irresponsible wildcat stock promoting swindlers. Yet in this case

The unquestioned authority of the experts' reports which will be embodied in my statement and the predominating position occupied in the banking, railroad and corporation world by the men who will vouch for my story will be proof positive and unassailable of the facts upon which my story is based.

This in turn means that there will be demand for this stock not only far beyond the supply, but greater than that for any other investment stock ever offered to the public.

Which further means

That all who secure any of this gold during the first days it is traded in upon the open market will be assured of not only an exceptionally safe and high return permanent investment, but an investment which will immediately show large profits, for, as the demand for the stock increases in volume, as it is bound to from the first days trading, the price must mount.

Now to real business—to summarize what I have heretofore said in Fair Finance 1, 2 and 3, which, it is only fair to state, has been said for the purpose of securing the attention of my audience, the public, and next educating them to a condition where they will quickly and clearly comprehend the desirability of doing what I am now about to advise them to do.

I unqualifiedly advise

Every investor and speculator—the public and small investors—American and European capitalists—every trader in the New York and other American exchanges and the London, Berlin and Paris, to have their buying orders ready for execution at the beginning of trading in the New York market Saturday morning.

What this means is

First, that by this new method all will know the merits of this stock before it is placed upon the market—all will have an opportunity to get in at bottom prices.

Second, that there will be turned over to the public from the very beginning of an assured successful enterprise all the large profits which are to accrue to those who own its stock, instead of passing these profits over first to the corporation creators and next to the middle men brokers, who, under present methods, purchase to resell to the public at inflated prices.

In detail what I unqualifiedly advise is this:

First, that every small investor as soon as he finishes reading this "Fair Finance 3" place in the hands of any of the members of the leading stock exchanges or of their local bank or bankers, all or a substantial portion of his savings, at the same time an order to buy, at say not over $7.50 per share, whatever number of shares the money will pay for—but in every case to attach to these buying orders positive instructions not to execute the order until after further directions.

Next, carefully read to-morrow's statement and investigate the correctness of all the assertions and proofs submitted, and, if the verdict is as it will be, that this is an investment such as heretofore have only been given to "insiders"—captains of finance—then affirm the order. But I bear down on this—if the slightest doubt about this investment being a nugget, cancel the order and no loss will accrue and no harm will have been done.

Right here, I will say after thirty-eight years' activity in stocks and finance without having ever met with a stock bargain which would justify me in advising, say a woman investor of moderate means, to invest her all and this after having marketed hundreds of millions of securities, in one group alone having turned over to the public more than $100,000,000 of profit, I fully appreciate the great responsibility which attaches to the advice I give, but in this case my knowledge of this investment, which knowledge I will submit to the public to-morrow, allows me for the first time to give such advice without any fear of being in error.

Second, that every American capitalist should instruct his banker to purchase this stock on Saturday morning, provided the facts, which I will submit to-morrow, affirm my every assertion and absolutely prove that this is a most extraordinary opportunity for money-making.

Third, that every English, French or German capitalist or speculator instruct his American arbitrageur to purchase for him a block of this stock, after weighing what I will publish to-morrow.

My advertising has interested vast numbers of people everywhere in what is to be described to-morrow, when all will be able to judge for themselves of the desirability of investing, but not until Saturday, that is, not until everyone has had twenty-four hours' opportunity to satisfy themselves of this stock's worth, can any one secure a share at any price, for every share is owned by the corporation I refer to; I do not own a share.

On Saturday the reputable brokers of New York, Boston and Philadelphia will stand ready in the open market to supply the stock to all comers and my work will have been completed.

They will continue from day to day to supply the stock until the 700,000 shares will have been sold for the benefit of the corporation. Then I will proceed to "bring out" the next one—a $60,000,000 one. This means that my greatest interest is in completing Gold as quickly and successfully as possible, and then to have the price at which the public have secured their investment mount rapidly to its real worth, two or three times its first price.

He who runs should be able to comprehend as he goes that a brilliant success with this first or test case means a brilliant success with the second, and so on to the place where the old methods of "floating" stocks with benefit to the few and disaster to the many will have become a memory.

A FINAL WORD TO INVESTORS.

It is generally supposed that just now money for investment is scarce in America. This belief is erroneous. I have recently had three complete canvasses made of the United States and Canada with the result that I believe—strongly believe—the people at large have never had so much money ready to invest as now, never had so strong a desire to invest, but—never had so little confidence in the old investments.

This means that they will tumble over themselves to reach an investment they are sure is good and in which they are to be given a square deal.

A square deal is what I will present to-morrow.

THOMAS W. LAWSON.

The Spring Opening Continues Today, Friday and Saturday

The features contributing to the display not only serve as correct interpretations of the season's modes but also present practical suggestions in the more moderately priced examples in Costumes, Millinery, Fabrics and Dress Accessories.

The opening thus assumes an importance which (judging entirely from the gratifying response of today) presents distinct advantages over any Spring Opening of the past.

The New Sappho Corsets

The pleasing results that have followed the selection of our new French models for Spring are well shown in our "Sappho" corset, whose high standard has never been questioned by those familiar with its merits. This season's productions attain even a higher degree of perfection, and the beautiful fabrics used are found exclusively in these true French models. The tendency towards the very high bust and extremely long hip is more pronounced than heretofore, and the result is seen in the diminished hip lines and the trim appearance of the fitted figure. The illustrations accurately depict three of our newest "Sappho" models.

"Sappho" corsets range in price from $6.50 up to $27.50

Sappho 19 X In the Center

As illustrated. "Sappho 19 X" is designed for the very slight figure, to which the long hip corset is unsuited. It has a very high bust, softly boned throughout, made of fine silk batiste, in striped design—elaborately trimmed garters attached. A pair, $15.00.

As illustrated. "Sappho C 4 X" is a corset which is especially designed for the long waisted, well developed figure. It is splendidly made of broche in colors and white, with elaborate medallion lace trimming, and an exceedingly beautiful corset. A pair, $18.50.

A Special Purchase and Sale

A purchase of high grade corsets, some in broche, others in embroidered batiste, are offered at a greatly reduced price to further add to the interest of our third floor corset section during the Spring Opening. In the lot there are all sizes from 18 to 30, pair, $2.00

Third floor, north room.

ARTISTIC WALL PAPERS

Art in Wall Papers need not necessarily involve expense. Designs of refined and artistic simplicity may be attained in papers at a very nominal cost. We show in our spring lines a widely variant collection of beautiful designs and colors in moderately priced papers.

Among the higher quality papers is the Zuber collection. This line together with our splendid assortment of French, German and English papers makes our selection the most comprehensive we have ever offered. Many novelties are exclusive to us. Their prices range from 15c a roll upward.

We are prepared to make estimates on papering, painting, and decorating at very low prices.

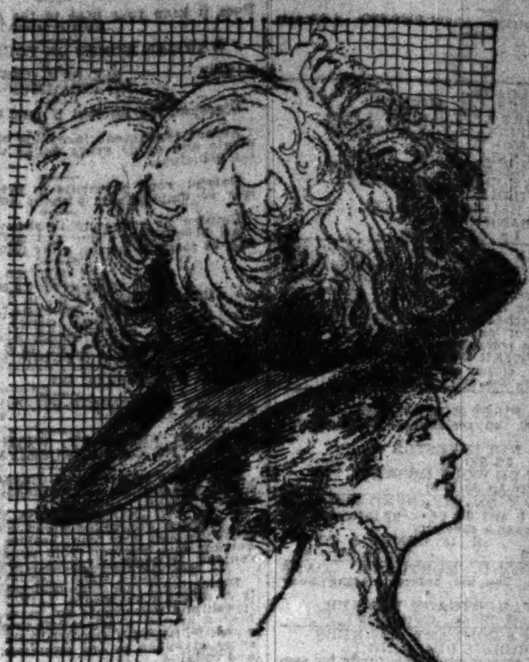
TRIBUNE ADS BRING RESULTS.



Notable features of new French millinery types

In our opening display one notes the largeness of the new shapes, the vast expanse and graceful sweep of the rolling brims, and the trimmings that rise to billowy heights. It is the old story of reversion to former types—a revival of bygone ideals.

There was a time when the hats worn reached dimensions even larger than now—when the crowns were higher, materials heavier and the trimmings of uncomfortable weight; but a progressive note runs through the revived-old styles of centuries ago. The large hats for 1908 are light in structure, the trimmings airy.

The Gainsborough and the Charlotte Corday hats that you have admired in the old paintings influence present modes to a large degree.

You see them all in this exhibit—the extremes and the means—daring departures from recent standards, masterpieces of some of the cleverest milliners the world has ever known.

Flowers are used in profusion on the new hats this season. Ribbons find wide scope. Ostrich plumes are fluffier than ever, and their brilliant colorings scintillate with opalescent hues.

The decision you will reach is that French hats have never been more beautiful nor more practical—never more pleasing in shape, color blending and pose.
